November 20, 1937

Dear Harry Scherman:

By ill chance the card which came on my recent birthday with an exquisite corsage was mislaid. I thought your name was on it but I felt I should have the document in the case before I thanked you. This A M thank God I found it.

I wore your flowers with joy and as for the greeting on the card I shall treasure it, though in my heart I know it ain't so.

Always faithfully

Mr. Harry Scherman

Congratulations — to the most gracious
lady I know!
