College To Grant Master Of Arts Degree In Education

Faculty Action Adds Courses to Curriculum to Advanced Education Study.

By recent action of the Faculty, the Degree of Master of Arts in Education will be granted by the College. This action was taken with the two-fold purpose of giving students a more adequate course of preparation for secondary school teaching and giving teachers in service an opportunity for completing the requirements for the Master's degree.

Many of the best minds in the teaching profession are convinced of the impracticability of preparing secondary school teachers adequately by means of the conventional college course. Four years of college education devoted largely to the study of the institutions of society and the mental resources of the race, and a fifth year of specialization in professional work for teachers would give much more satisfactory results.

Consistent with this idea, the college has adopted a plan for a five year course which will offer cultural education, necessary training for teaching several subjects and integrated sequential professional preparation.

The plan as outlined contemplates taking a major in the field of Psychology and Education, and a minor in some subject matter field. The Bachelor of Arts degree will be awarded on successful completion of four years of college work, and the degree of Master of Arts in Education will be received on the satisfactory completion of the fifth year.

Candidacy for the degree of Master of Arts in Education will also be open to teachers in service who have the Bachelor's degree, with or without permanent certification.

Information as to the requirements of this course will be supplied on inquiry of the Registrar or the Chairman of the Division of Education.

Two Allegheny Debaters Attend State Conclave

Two members of the Allegheny Debate Team attended the Pennsylvania Debate Convention held at Penn State College last week. The purpose of the meeting was to discuss "Proposed Federal Legislation".

Jack Hoeveler and John Bletzinger, Allegheny's representatives, were on the committee to consider the question, "Should married women holding positions in industry be replaced by individuals with no other means of support?" When the question was brought before the general assembly it was decided women should not be replaced except on the basis of qualifications.

The second proposal was "Is the veto power wielded by our Supreme Court an impediment to progress? If so, what action should be taken toward removing this condition?" The assembly agreed that a change is needed but all proposals as to the type of change were rejected. A radical proposal calling for the nullification of the power of the Supreme Court was rejected by a vote of 21-5.

The last question under discussion was "What conditions or policies are most likely to involve the United States in war? How may these conditions or policies best be controlled?" In answer to this it was agreed to endorse the Neutrality Law of 1936 in general but with several reservations.

Delegates arrived at State College at noon Friday for a luncheon together, following which the various committees met for discussion. Saturday was spent in general assembly, acting on the reports of committees.

Summer School Plans Announced By Session Group

Directing Committee Reveals Plans for 1936 College Summer Courses.

Plans for the Allegheny College Summer Session have been completed by the committee made up of Professor Frederick G. Henke, Professor Clarence F. Ross and Professor Chester A. Darling. The first term consists of the six weeks from June 9, 1936 to July 17, the second term, the five weeks from July 20 to August 22.

The summer school is for the purpose of giving instruction to those working for a Bachelor of Arts or a Master of Arts degree in education; teachers who desire better training for class room work, or wish to meet requirements for various teachers' certificates; college students who wish to obtain advanced college credit or to remove conditions; high school students who desire to remove entrance conditions for admission to college, or plan to begin work on the college course in order to receive a degree in less than four years; advanced students who desire to pursue work in certain fields; and persons who wish to enter the school for the purpose of self-improvement. For High School students the Martin J. Reuter Summer School has been established.

Entrance requirements are the same as for entrance to freshman class, except that sub-freshmen may complete entrance requirements by work in summer session. A student is given credit toward a degree for each course completed with satisfactory examinations. The maximum credit permitted is twelve semester hours.

Registration for either the first term or for the entire session is on June 9; registration for the second term is on July 20.

Courses are designed primarily for sub-freshmen, freshmen, and for teachers. There will be a Demonstration School for Practice Teaching.

Living quarters will be provided for the women at Beebe House and for the men at Caflisch Annex. Students may, of course, live at home or with relatives. Meals may be taken at restaurants and lunch rooms.

Entertainments and lectures are being arranged for the benefit of the summer students.

Further details may be obtained from Dr. Henke, Director of the Summer Session.

Education Groups Observe Founders' Day With Banquet

Kappa Phi Kappa and Kappa Delta Epsilon, professional education fraternities, held their annual Founders' Day banquet Friday evening at the Kepler Hotel. Dr. Herbert Spencer, president of Pennsylvania College for Women, was the principal speaker.

"Schools of Tomorrow" was the subject of Dr. Spencer's talk. He discussed various school programs, speaking in particular on the Chicago plan.

Dr. Bruce S. Wright stressed several reasons why education should be followed. Other speakers were William Osborne and Mariana Rall. Mr. Osborne's subject was "The Importance of New Teachers in Our Public Schools", while Miss Rall spoke on "A Student's Conception of Secondary Education at its Best."

Chairman of the affair was Richard Darling; Miss Mina French was toastmaster.

Student Heads Meet To Discuss Honorary Groups

Sixteen Student Leaders Convene at Session Set by Relations Committee.

Sixteen student leaders convened at a meeting Thursday afternoon in Bentley Hall, to discuss the honorary fraternity situation at Allegheny. The meeting was sponsored by the Students Relations Committee.

Heads of all organizations on the campus were called for a group session by the committee as a result of the recent ban placed on honorary activities fraternities by a faculty ruling. The group consisted of the presidents of organizations and the heads of the various publications.

After much discussion had been aroused, immediately after the ruling was announced, the faculty placed the proposition in the hands of the Relations Committee for student observation.

The representative members were called together to give their views of the situation, and to answer questions concerning the organizations they represented. Each one was questioned as to whether or not he thought that continuance of particular groups was justifiable.

Robert Dennis, representative of the Men's Senate, headed the investigation, and selected committees to further probe into the situation.

Those attending the session and the groups they represented were: Richard Horn, Omicron Delta Kappa; Richard Darling, Kappa Phi Kappa; Frank Bailey, Phi Beta Kappa; Jean Morrow, Kappa Delta Epsilon; Orin Hawkins, "The Campus"; Dale Beatty, "The Literary Magazine"; Barbara Burns, "The Kaldron"; Valerie Fullerton, Cwens; Leon Gregg, Photography Club; Luther Taylor, Intramural Sports; Archie Tate, Singers; Mary Virginia Jones, Phi Sigma Iota; Robert Smith, German Club; William Hyde, Political Science Club; Robert Lowstuter, Outing Club; and Arthur Vangeli, Philo-Franklin Union.

The members will meet again tomorrow afternoon and report on their committee investigations. A compilation of the data will be presented to the faculty by the Students Relations Committee.

Alpha Gam And Delt Groups Lead Scholarship List

Highest Group Average Ever Recorded at College is Established.

The highest average that has ever been made on Allegheny's campus by any group was the record of Alpha Gamma Delta when the fraternity and sorority ratings for the first semester 1935-36 were released this week. Their average of 81.59 was .48 of a point over their followers, Kappa Kappa Gamma who took second place with 81.11.

Delta Tau Delta moved up into first place among the fraternities with an average of 78.44 while Phi Gamma Delta were second with 77.65. Last year first places were taken by Kappa Kappa Gamma and Phi Delta Theta with Alpha Chi Rho second.

Total averages of the fraternities was 76.00, non-fraternity, 73.09 making the total men's average 75.20. The sorority average was 79.40 and the non-sorority, 77.89 with the total women's average being 78.87. This average was higher than the school average of 75 percent, and also higher than the average of the men's fraternity which holds first place.

An average of 77.35 was attained by the all-organized groups, while the unorganized group averaged 75.60, the total college average coming to 76.04.

Student Government Plan Will Be Voted On Friday

O. D. K. Proposes Plan for Representative Rule.

Government for the students by the students was proposed in a plan presented by Arthur Vangeli in a special assembly Monday. Vangeli discussed the constitution which will be voted on by the students at regular assembly Friday noon.

The plan for the Allegheny Undergraduate Council was drawn up by the student government committee of Omicron Delta Kappa, honorary activities fraternity. In addition to Vangeli, who was the chairman, other members of the committee were Robert Dennis and Philip Jacobus.

In presenting the proposal Vangeli assured the students that the existing women's and men's student governments would not be affected by the new plan as it accepts the present setup. "The A. U. C. is to be an all student government. It will serve as a central governing organization for men and women," the speaker explained.

Vangeli then proceeded to outline the Constitution. In explaining the representation on the Council the speaker stated that there would be thirteen members, representing the various activities of the college. There would be two members of the senior class, the president and vice-president. The juniors would have the same representation. Other members of the Council would be the president of the Associated Women Students, the president of the Block A Club, representing the men's athletic interests; the president of the Women's Athtletic Board for women's athletics; the editor of The Campus would represent the publications; a representative of the Allegheny Players for Drama; a member of the Allegheny Singers for Music; a representative of the Philo-Franklin Union for Debate; the president of the men's student government; and the president of the Pan-Hellenic Association.

The president of the Council would be elected from the senior members of the A. U. C. by a majority of popular vote.

Vangeli outlined the general functions of the Council, dividing them into five sections: general activities, supervision of the social program, class regulation, finance and service as a Board of Appeals. He explained the various activities which would be carried out by the Council under each section.

In an interview Monday Vangeli pointed out that the plan was a new system. In answer to the criticism that the lower classes, the freshmen in particular, would not be represented, he said, "Representation is to be based on activities and not on classes, as are most student government systems. The election of representatives is to talk peace in the spring. immediately following Easter vacation. By that time the freshmen will be definitely placed in some activity and thus will have a chance to vote for representatives from the activity in which they are interested. Freshmen will be in the Singers, Play Shop, Philo-Franklin Union and other organizations by election day and can express their wishes as well as the upperclassmen."

Vangeli emphasized the fact that in reality the three lower classes would be the classes actually electing the Council for the following year as the elections are to be held in the spring of the year.

In reply to the question of a person representing more than one organization, it was brought out that it was the belief of the committee that such a situation should not exist and if such a situation should arise, another representative should be appointed.

A copy of the proposed Constitution will be found on page two of The Campus.

Tal Henry Band Here For Dance Saturdav Night

Annual Women's Dance to be Given at Balizet's Ballroom.

With the personal appearance of Tal Henry and His North Carolinians at the Pan-Hellenic Ball, on Saturday, March 21, Alleghenians will hear typically southern renditions of harmonies and melody as offered by truly southerners. The dance will be held at Balizet's Ballroom.

The annual Pan-Hellenic dance, held this week-end, is sponsored by the Pan-Hellenic group of women, with dating privileges reserved for the women students of the college.

Henry and his youthful aggregation all hail from North Carolina, having organized the band there in 1923. Henry, the youthful and personable young baton waver, is typical of the true southern type. His quiet modesty, his congenial smile, and his slow southern drawl, with his "Howdy folks", drawled out in his own inimitable manner is significant of his southern origin.

Tal Henry and his North Carolinians, as they are called, come to Allegheny fresh from their successes in a recently completed tour of the states. They are associated with the National Broadcasting Company, and have etherized many times from the Hotel New Yorker. They have recorded for Victor records, and have appeared numerous times in Vitaphone film subjects.

The high quality of the music of this organization has caused critics to claim that this group of youngsters are to be reckoned with the Lopezes, Reismans, and Bernies, with all due credit to the aforementioned maestros.

Coming here from an engagement in Buffalo on March 20th, Henry will proceed immediately to Cleveland to open an engagement there.

Faculty chaperones will be Dr. and Mrs. Wm. P. Tolley, Dr. Evelyn Miller, and Dr. and Mrs. J. R. Schultz. Dancing will be from 8 to 12.

Shawn Dancers Please Audience On Course Series

A unique and outstanding performance of interpretative dancing was presented by Ted Shawn and his dancing men on March 12, at the Meadville High School. The presentation was the concluding feature of the current Concert-Lecture Course Series.

The program began with "Music Visualization" which aptly served as an introduction for the American epic, "John Brown Sees the Glory", as danced by Shawn and his group. The third number was entitled "Primitive and Folk Themes." This group included "The Japanese Rickshaw Coolies," "Osage-Pawness Dance of Greeting," "African Tribal Dance," and "The Spear Dance".

The members of the group then continued with "The Camel Boys," "The French Sailor," "Workers Song," and "Cutting the Sugar Cane." All of these numbers were characterized by their expressiveness. A group of Religious Dances were identified by their change in music as well as the expression of the mood.

All of the dances presented on the program were created and taught by Ted Shawn. The entire program was well presented and clearly reflected keen appreciation of dancing.

Pledging.

Kappa Alpha Theta announces the pledging of Martha Port on Thursday, March 12.

THE THUNDERING HERD

At the close of virtually every chapel program, as the Chapel Choir concludes its hymnal benediction, a discordant note can be detected among the student body. First it is an overtone of shuffling feet and rustling papers, a surge of confusion as students poise for a twenty yard dash. Finally, it reaches a crescendo as certain elements in the audience lunge for the exits, even before the solemn strains of "Nunc Dimitus" have ended.

Need we remind you, the civilized college-man, that such conduct is grossly discourteous to the Chapel Choir and our guest, the chapel speaker? It is, moreover, a derogatory reflection on the college. A mad stampede to the exits stultifies the speaker's message and totally nullifies our claims to considerate conduct.

It is the amenties of life which betray the man. In chapel, ten seconds stand between you and the primordial stampede, rushing furiously toward extinction.

Why not be civilized?

The Students Relations Committee is carrying on an investigation concerning the validity and justification of existence of the honorary organizations on the Allegheny campus.

At a meeting of campus leaders last Thursday afternoon several interesting points were brought out. While waiting for the results of the investigation to be determined, we wish to think aloud on one phase of this honorary fraternity situation.

Without delving into the metaphysical considerations of whether membership in such orders is an end in itself, it is enough to observe that their prices are too high.

Our naive question is: "Where does this honorary gravy go?" What is the ultimate destiny of such additional part of the initiation fee which does not come back to the neophyte in the form of tangible assets, such as banquets, pins, keys, and other paraphernalia? . . .

While there have been crusaders who would sweep all these anointed tribes from the face of the campus, with one fell blow, time has shown that they fill a necessary function in gratifying the very human longing for mutual admiration. But even their well wishers must wonder why they don't show a little effort to scale down tariffs to a reasonable level.

There is probably no term used in college that carries with it such a degree of contempt as "course crabber" or "apple shiner". Some use it as an appellation for anyone getting high marks. Others use it only for those who "apple shine" or "polish the apple" with their professors. Since the beginnings of education the "grind" has been disliked by his more sophisticated fellows who feel the gentleman's mark is a "C" and that working for a higher mark would make them social pariahs.

Despite the veneration in which, through long use, this attitude is held, its worth is extremely doubtful. Assuming, as we are probably justified in doing, that the object of a college education is knowledge, any method of increasing one's knowledge should be cultivated rather than frowned upon.

Allegheny prides itself on its small classes, and the fact that the instructors are always ready to assist the student outside the classroom. A great deal of knowledge and perhaps even wisdom is obtainable from informal chats with professors outside the regular class. But the average student doesn't avail himself of this opportunity because he is afraid of being thought an "apple shiner".

If a student could raise his grade merely by occasional talks after class with the instructor, then there would be some reason to condemn the practice. But it is hardly practical that an instructor will raise a grade for that alone. If the students who stop and chat with the instructor get higher marks, it is quite likely that they have more interest in the course to begin with. It does not mean that "apple shining" got them a better grade.

If students come to college to learn, any method of achieving this objective should be acceptable. The opprobrium connected with apple shining seems to be only the alibi of the intellectually lazy who are afraid to do other than follow the crowd.

PROGRESS IN STUDENT GOVERNMENT

At last we have what appears to be a plan for student government for Allegheny. The plan presented seems to fulfill adequately all that we would ask of an Allegheny Undergraduate Council. We approve of the organization and purposes of such a body. The groups selected for representation are the logical choices, for in them you find all Allegheny undergraduates taking part.

The one objection raised was the question of sophomore and freshman representation. This was a legitimate question but was handled wisely in the constitution. The representatives from the various activities are only thirteen from six hundred students. They are to decide questions for the welfare of the student body. Anyone who has taken part in the election of a Council member has a right to ask that member to represent him. In this way the sophomore and freshman women will have a direct claim on both the President of the Associated Women Students and the Athletic Board President whom they have elected in the spring of their freshman year. The sophomore and freshman men will have the same claim on their Men's Student Government representative. Sophomores and freshmen in Singers, in the Play Shop, in debate and in publications will also have representation on the Council through one member from those organizations. Are the sophomores and freshmen adequately represented? We say "Yes".

The objection to direct lower class representation lies in that their representative would be elected in the spring of his freshman year, and the council for one quarter of its annual existence would have freshman representation. One semester and a half is not long enough to permit the majority of the people to discern who is most capable and representative of their class.

We urge you to vote YES Friday because for once you have the chance to get a student government which appears to be good.

VOTE YES ON THE PLAN

THE ALLEGHENY UNDERGRADUATE COUNCIL

PREAMBLE

In the past four years, the faculty of Allegheny College, under the leadership of President Tolley, has inaugurated a new curriculum which aims at providing for the undergraduate not only an integrated program of academic courses developing a well-rounded liberal education, but also an extra-curricular program, properly correlated with the academic pursuits, encouraging the development of ability and sportsmanship in athletics, appreciation of and creative expression in the arts, social poise and group responsibility, and the worth-while use of leisure time.

We, the undergraduates of Allegheny College, who increasingly realize the value to ourselves of the efforts on the part of the administration and faculty to establish the new curriculum, wish to participate in the achievement of this goal. We believe that we can give evidence of an active rather than a passive, interest in this endeavor by assuming a responsible part in our life at Allegheny.

To this end we undertake to establish the Allegheny Undergraduate Council as the beginnings of a student self-government which will harmonize with and further the aims of the new curriculum. We wish to set up a council truly representative of the significant activities of the campus, competent to express the student life at Allegheny, independent in its procedure only as attesting its sincerity in striving for the best interests of Allegheny College.

CONSTITUTION

TID-BITS

Whether or not you read "Esquire", there are plenty of copies lying around here in different places. Pick up one of the current April issues and read the article on "Hot Music" for a little inside dope on radio bandsmen and their individual artists. From that source we learn that there have been formed numerous "Swing Music Clubs" in many of the larger cities which have name bands. During off hours, bandleaders, or musicians from the various bands get together and have "jam sessions". Just playing for the good time of it. One of the clubs in Chicago featured a session of music by a group composed of Earl Hines, colored piano wizard, a sax player from Fletcher Henderson's orchestra; two trombonists from Will Osborne's group, and several mixtures. Outsiders are permitted to hear the ramblings . . . Ray Noble, who wrote "The Very Thought of You" (his former theme song) will revive using it now. It seems he just found out that the Warners didn't own the performing rights, but it had been restricted . . . Benny Goodman, the swing bandsman, is a busy guy—so he was late for an audition for a new sponsor and then came late to the rehearsal when he got the job. The sponsor is a watchmaker . . . A word about Benny. He's got one of the hottest bands in the country, and it's a white group at that. One very seldom hears a slow piece on his programs. But they are worth listening to. His own tooting of a clarinet is a doozer. And with Helen Ward singing lyrics, the band is tops . . . Announcer turned vocalist. Bert Parks is the versatile personality. After spending two years an an announcer on the CBS chain, Parks is now a vocalist on the "Dear Columbia" program which is heard mornings . . . Ernie Holst, familiar to you Pittsburghites for his William Penn playing, is on the air now from Florida, via CBS, one of the two Florida bands being aired at this time . . . Quote Gracie Allen "My sister has been married for ten years, and she's still in love—and her husband is trying to find out the name of the man" . . . Have you noticed in these colored bands that the bandmaster is the pianist? Here's an array for you. Duke Ellington, Claude Hopkins, Fletcher Henderson, Earl Hines, Louis Russell, Fats Waller, Bob Howard. Every one of them leading a name band, and every one the featured pianist.

Independents Hear Coach Daniels Talk On Athletic Program

The Independents held their fifth regular meeting Monday evening in the Cochran Hall lounge. Dr. W. S. Hall and Coach Arthur Daniels were present. Several things of interest to Independent men of the college were discussed, among which were plans for a radio party.

Previous to this year an Independent radio party was an unheard of thing at Allegheny. However, the present group with Bob Thomas, '39, as social chairman, feels that they can promote several successful social functions this year. The radio party is tentatively scheduled for Friday, March 27th, at Hulings, with all Independent men invited with or without dates.

During the business meeting Dale Stoops, '37, was elected vice-president to fill the vacancy in that office.

Also several additional men signed up for membership and pins, bringing the total to approximately 20. Following the meeting Coach Daniels gave an informal talk on the history of athletics using as his topic, "Our Athletic Heritage."

The next meeting is planned for Monday, March 30, with Prof. L. D. McClean as speaker.

Handball Competition Enters Fourth Round

Handball players have advanced to the fourth round, in fact, today is the last day for fourth round matches to be played. There are nineteen men left in the tournament—McVey, Willison, Werle, W. Cappe, Colley, Byers, Battaglia, Taylor, Jones, Hampton, Freed, W. Shields, Acker, Ivett, McKay, Tate, Esposito, Jacobus, and Duncan.

Competition has been keen, and with the gradual narrowing down of the field of participants play should become even more closer.

CAMPUS CLIPPINGS

A columnist at the University of Maryland sat himself down and classified the four types of men, as they are when on a date. His results:

Brute—A fellow who tries to kiss a girl on the first date and doesn't get away with it.

Coward—One who doesn't try and could have gotten away with it.

Smoothie—One who tries and gets away with it.

Gentleman—One who waits until the second date to classify himself.

Of all the sad words of tongue or pen, the saddest are "Sit down, I'll be ready in a minute". Apologies to someone.

To succeed nowadays, according to a collegiate wit, a girl does not make up her mind to apply herself to her tasks, but applies her mind to the task of making up herself.

According to a U. of Illinois publication, the person who said that German was the most gutteral language, never listened to a frat bull session.

A frosh out at Dickinson received as nice a "cut" from a co-ed visitor at one of their dances, as has ever been handed out. When he asked the fair maiden "Would you care to dance this one?", he received the prompt and color rising reply, "Yes, would you mind asking someone for me?"

Phi Gam Chapter Dance.

Phi Gamma Delta held its annual chapter dance in the form of an "Old Clothes Party" on Friday, March 13, at the chapter house.

Music for the occasion was furnished by Eddie Allen and his Pennsylvanians. Dr. and Mrs. Scott Hall acted as chaperones. Duane Good and Warren Keck were guests of the chapter.

Women Encounter Usual Trouble In Pan-Hel Selection

Whom are you taking, Janie? . . . think I should wear my blue net or my pink crepe? . . . yes, it's at Balizet's again this year . . . and from 8 to 12 . . . four whole hours . . . you know, flowers would simply be ravishing on this old formal, do you think maybe he might? . . . Tal Henry sounds like a smooth band, too . . . But I've GOT to get a date . . . 1073-R . . . Oh, you're busy? . . . I'm so sorry . . . 829 . . . You can't go? . . . 1011 . . . I'm sorry, I should have called sooner . . . Everybody's going, what will I do? . . . Why did I wait until the last minute . . . Who's wearing your silver clips? . . . Well, how about the others then? . . . I can't, I've an appointment at Vanity Fair . . . Pan Hel, you know . . . Make it the fourth dance . . . You'll look simply darling in it . . . Can he dance? . . . You know, I won't dance until I hear it talk . . . don't the boys look sweet when they're in those cute stiff collars and shirts? If they would only wear them all the time, it would be so nice . . . What if it rains and we have to walk! . . . Those taxis are highway robbers . . . Talk about capitalistic spirit! . . . Thank heavens no one can make me take a chap dance . . . But I still haven't a date . . . unless—oh, wait a minute . . . 1064 . . . Oh, you can go? . . . I know it's late but I just this minute decided to go . . . Yes, I'll see you Saturday . . . don't forget.

The entrance requirements are intelligence, character and at least two years of college work, including the subjects specified for Grade A Medical Schools. Catalogues and application forms may be obtained from the Dean.

Dr. Tolley Main Speaker At W.P.I.A.L. Athletic Meeting

Allegheny was represented at the meeting of the Western Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic League last Saturday by President William P. Tolley and Coach Karl J. Lawrence. The meeting was attended by nearly 300 coaches and principals of the schools in Western Pennsylvania and was held at Webster Hall, Pittsburgh.

Dr. Tolley was the principal speaker of the evening and addressed the meeting on "Athletics and Their Part in Education."

The essence of Dr. Tolley's speech was that the over-emphasis of athletics in modern institutions is out of keeping with the fundamental basis upon such institutions are based. "The real danger of over-emphasis of athletics is: it distorts our sense of educational values; it fails to put first things first. Back of the feeling of envy which so many educators feel there is also the discernment that the big business of competitive sport is robbing the public of all appreciation of the meaning of education and the functions of the institutions of learning. It is resulting in inferior intellectual standards and achievements and a general cheapening of scholarship and culture." From this Dr. Tolley condemns the system of subsidized athletics practiced by the institutions of higher learning, pointing out that if the name of a school calls to mind nothing but athletic eminence, the pretense of scholarly aims and cultural emphasis becomes either a huge joke or a vicious kind of hypocrisy. In summing up his speech Dr. Tolley likened modern athletics to the big business man who sits back in his office and makes an income of millions of dollars while his employees are being paid starvation wages. "This is the hold that athletics have on a great many of our so called institutions of higher learning and as long as this is allowed to go on it cannot be expected of them to give the students the culture and scholarship that the students have a right to expect and demand."

Basketball Title Goes To Thetas For Ninth Straight Time

Kappa Alpha Theta was successful ofr the ninth consecutive time in its quest for the women's inter-sorority basketball, when the tourney was recently completed with the Theta's completing an undefeated season.

Alpha Gamma Delta gained second place in the results. while third place went to the representatives of Theta Upsilon.

Winning four games and gaining a tie enabled the Thetas to keep their monopoly on the sorority basketball situation. The Alpha Gams lost only one game, and the T.U.'s lost one and tied one.

Representatives on the winning Theta team were: B. Sims, captain, H. Dixon, E. Anderson, J. Stewart, E. Green, B. Seibert, H. Lusch, and H. Edmundson.

Large Crowd Hears Unusual Debate Of Men Versus Women

Clashing head-on over the advisability of overriding decisions of the Supreme Court by a two-thirds vote of Congress, Allegheny college met the University of Florida in a unique mixed debate before an audience of 150 in the Play Shop Monday evening. It was a non-decision affair.

Representing Allegheny, Aileen Rockenbach, sophomore, and Betty Elliott, junior, disputed the issue with Seldon Waldo, junior, and Phil Graham, senior, of the University of Florida in the first participation of its kind here.

The question, as outlined by the chairman, Professor Horace T. Lavely, was: "Resolved, that Congress shall be empowered to override by a two-thirds vote decisions of the Supreme Court declaring acts of Congress unconstitutional."

Allegheny women sustained the affirmative of the topic. Following the provocative encounter, informal debate was prolonged into the open forum as the audience contributed further comments.

"Yes, it is imperative that Congress be granted such mandatory power," Miss Rockenbach contended. "Invariably, a stalemate occurs during the long and laborious process necessary to obviate Supreme Court decisions; thus the majority will is nullified."

"Despite tne desperate need for social legislation, the august Court has repeatedly thrown minimum wage and child labor laws out of the windows of its palatial temple. The national government, blocked by a cumbersome and archaic system of constitutional amendment, remains impotent to act," she stated.

Countering with the advantages of the negative position, Seldon Waldo declared: "For 147 years, Congress has been restricted from rash acts by the moderating influence of the Supreme Court. If there is an overwhelming demand for social legislation, the constitution can be amended."

"Shall we alter our fundamental law impetuously and relegate our liberties to Congress?" he asked.

Indiscriminate laudations of southern gallantry and counter-comments about northern pulchritude proved the point of departure for the disputants.

Miss Elliott responded: "We expect progress in government. Public opinion, which upholds the very decisions of the Supreme Court, will prevent the arrogation of dictatorial powers to Congress."

"As it is today, the approval of 72 legislative bodies is necessary for ratification of an amendment. Thirteen states, representing an insignificant fraction of the population, can nullify a nation's urgent demands," she added.

Time lag is an important defect of constitutional amendment, she contended. "We must give the people what they want when they want it; that is the basis of representative democracy."

"Perhaps," Graham commented. "The longevity of the Constitutional system is not an indictment. Centuries ago a system of Ten Commandments was introduced; it is still adequate today."

"We must make provision for the regional regulation of problems which affect various states differently," he said, concluding with a plea for deliberation to prevent rash acts.

There will be a meeting of all candidates, including Freshmen, for the tennis team in the Lecture Room of Wilcox Hall at 5 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

THE SCRUBBING BRUSH

The whip number by one of the Shawn dancers Thursday night was certainly a cracking success.

They say that Joe Blank married Sophie because her aunt left her a fortune. Joe is quick to deny this. He says he would have married Sophie no matter who left it to her.

I went to see my doctor the other day and he told me I needed an electric bath. I'm not going to take one though, because my uncle drowned in one of those things at Sing Sing.

"I owe it all to the little woman," said the student as he dashed out of the boarding house without paying his rent.

There was once a minister who would not perform a marriage ceremony. His conscience wouldn't let him engage in a game of chance.

The waiter laughed when I spoke to him in French. No wonder, it was my old prof.

Everyone has heard about the economizing of the Scots. My uncle was so tight he couldn't get home one night.

MUSINGS

Seen in the "Pymatuning Gazette" of last week, "Many of the neighboring farms are planning to abandon activities on the week-end of the twenty-first of March for many of the hired hands are going to attend the Pan Hellenic Ball at Allegheny College, Meadville. This will be the last spree for the boys before the spring planting season" . . . some of the local boys who admire the music of Tal Henry wonder if they couldn't come and just listen . . . Famous last words—"Speech huge success. Had wreck. You were right. Love"—that is one less at the Pan Hell . . . A certain Sig with the pork pie hat is still trying . . . it is with great pleasure that we are able to announce that the young gentleman who was unable to get a date last week had his coming out party Saturday evening. Congratulations Zahny . . . Advice to a certain lovelorn: If your wearing a man's pin you ought to be able to recognize his voice on the telephone . . . Blue beard Dave, Allegheny's ornithologist, is having difficulty with his love life . . . advice, your feathered friends are the truest . . . A word about Noah—all kinds of bouquets go to Mr. Hulburt for the scenic and lighting effects which were really super—the players who sacrificed themselves for art's sake and played the animals did not appear in the cast of characters as the cow was a bit bashful but recognizable—best scene—Macedo after being the object of Sal Henry's affection turns to the ever present Phillipbar saying, "Of course this is all new to me."—despite the director's dislike for Ted Shawn many of his movements crept into the production . . . Seniors are still waiting to have the comprehensives explained to them though rumors of an uprise have reached our ears . . . The B.M.O.C.'s should be in better spirits with the return of two fair maidens recently confined by injuries and illness . . . Dr. Spencer aroused the hopes of the practice teachers when he told those present at the Kappa Phi Kappa banquet that the poorest students made the best teachers, a bit disillusioning to the Delts who reached the top after striving for seventy-five years—still no excuse for the Sigs and Phi Psis who carry on their perpetual battle for cellar positions . . . It is interesting to note that after the suggested reading list proposed by the proctors that some of them started a circulating library for the freshmen, with Havelock Ellis' widely read "Psychology of Sex"—the books are now paid for by the rentals of the past few weeks . . . Take notice that the six smoothest (?) boys in school will be wearing white ties on Friday at chapel.

Exhibit Of Shawn's Dances Featured At Reis Library

An exhibit of Ted Shawn's modern dance was the chief feature at the Reis Library this week. There were several illustrations of the same numbers performed at Meadville High School last week by these unique dancers.

Outstanding books added to the library this week include: A. L. Baldy, Royal Palaces; W. H. Morgan, Student Religion During 50 Years; O. G. Pike, Nature Photography; R. J. Stephenson, Exploring in Physics; Ellsworth Huntington, Tomorrow's Children; P. A. Markov, Soviet Theatre; Kathryn Coe and W. H. Cordell, Pulitzer Plays 1918-1934; B. S. Aldrich, Spring Came on Forever; Norman Thomas, War: No Glory, No Profit, No Need; Robert Newman, Zaharoff; and Gawin, Great Tudors.

Prizes for the German Club Contest for members are also being shown.

Playshop Presents "Noah" Twice Before Capacity Audiences

The Allegheny Play Shop presented the English version of Andre Obey's "Noah" on Saturday and Tuesday evenings, before appreciative audiences.

"Noah" was delightful in its satire and comedy, combined with moments of intense religious feeling. It presented the old biblical story of the flood in a new light—a 20th century interpretation. The entire cast, though for the most part new to the Play Shop, gave splendid characterizations of the biblical roles, and won the approval of the audience. A very novel touch was added by the appearance on the stage of Noah's animals, without which no story about Noah would be complete.

The scenic and lighting effects are worthy of great praise. The storm scenes were most realistically and vividly staged. Perhaps the outstanding lighting effect of the play was in the closing scene, in which a brilliant rainbow shines across the dark sky, while downstage, with outstaretched arms, Noah prays to his God.

"Noah" was written by Andre Obey, one of the most prominent of the younger French playwrights, and the English text is by Arthur Wilmurt. The production was directed by Mr. Henry Boettcher, with lighting and production under Mr. John Hulburt. Professor Alice H. Spalding, Director of the Play Shop, supervised the production. The cast follows:

Noah .....John Lavely
Mama .....Phyllis Freeland
Shem .....Joseph Philippbar
Ham .....Joseph Macedo
Japhet .....Charles Barkley
Norma .....Sara Elizabeth Henry
Sella .....Betsy Robinson
Ada .....Joan Crowe
A Man .....Eugene Wasson
The Animals—John Jones, Wayne Knight, Martha Keefe, James Nichols, Donald Boyd, June Sieberg. William Robb.

Marian McCardell was Assistant to the Director, and Stuart Smith, Production Manager. Other members of the Production Staff were:
