

COACH APPLEGRAN GIVES SOME VIEWS ON THE FOOTBALL SITUATION

SCHOLARSHIPS FOR ATHLETES URGED

Comments on Showing of Individual Players During Past Season

The football season of 1920, though not a success from the standpoint of games won and lost, was, by no means, a disappointment as the team from which little was expected, because of the lack of material did itself proud in the way in which they outgained and outnerved their opponents in every game on the schedule.

The season just closed saw Allegheny face the hardest schedule that any Allegheny team has ever faced. Every team out-weighted the Blue and Gold. Colgate and Dickinson with their reputations were faced and fought to a standstill. Carnegie Tech with her well trained Plaid Warriors was the only team which really outclassed Allegheny. Even the old rivals which were so much bigger and richer in football material that in every game the Blue and Gold seemed to be up against tremendous odds.

In the following letter, written for publication, Coach Applegran gives his opinion of the general football situation at Allegheny as well as of the past season.

To the editor of the Campus:

On Tuesday, September 7th, about one-half of the football squad assembled for the football camp at Conneaut Lake. On the following morning the first practice session was held on the Conneaut Lake golf links. Two sessions were held each day for a period of ten days when the squad returned to Meadville. Practice was immediately started on Montgomery Field and a number of new men joined the squad.

At Allegheny, the football team is maintained under the most adverse conditions. Football material both as regards to quantity and quality is rarely, if ever, present and this year was no exception. Every person interested in athletics at Allegheny College should be cognizant of the fact that the football material becomes poorer each year. This is due to the fact that the system or methods of the other schools in this vicinity for the securing of athletes is becoming more and more complete each year and all of the prospective athletes are gathered in. It appears that most good athletes are men who must work their way through school and they will usually go to the schools where they have a chance of getting through financially. No inducements or concessions are made at Allegheny and consequently the best athletes in this section go to other schools rather than to Allegheny, which is the only school in the whole tri-state district which does not either through the alumni or otherwise give aid to needy athletes.

Allegheny College, academically speaking, is one of the very best institutions in the state. This fact is very widely known. She has never attained "her place in the sun" because of her poor athletic teams. There is no one thing that gives a school more prestige or advertising than a good football team. In another part of this paper is the athletic record in football for the past twenty years and with very few exceptions, it is the case of Allegheny bowing to the other colleges.

However, poor material was not the only difficulty and as the first game drew near other obstacles were met. The eligibility rules at Allegheny are more stringent than at any other school and this barred a few prospective players. Parental objections took a few more good men. Accidents prevented some excellent candidates from showing their real ability. Consequently, when the lineup was fixed for the first game, it was found that an inexperienced and very light team was to take the field.

This year's team was outweighed from ten to twenty-five pounds per man by every team which they faced. The dictates of good football declare that there are two types of play for a light team, namely; the forward pass game and secondly the running game. As Allegheny possessed no experienced backfield man who had the necessary ability of accuracy in throwing the ball, nor the cootness to wait for things "to open up," the forward passing game (except for a side line) was out of the question. As the team was too light for the line plunging game (except as a side issue) so it was necessary to resort to the running game. At the start of the season this style of play was only partially successful because it takes time to teach men how to run in the interference. When the men had learned the art of interference and the plays began to work, our only sprinter, "Hoppe" Miller, had his limb fractured and the team had no one who could really sprint. This accident destroyed the offensive; Captain Baldwin's injury later wrecked the defense.

Thus, with practically no offense, it was necessary to make the defense as tight as possible and hope for the breaks in the game. An old proverb in football "a good defense is the best offense" and we had to make the most of it. Right here is where the

MODERN CONCEPTION OF SIN DISCUSSED

INCREASING INTEREST IN DISCUSSION CLASS SHOWN BY MEN OF COLLEGE

The modern conception of sin was discussed by the members of the Scientific Discussion Class which met in the Chapel last Sunday morning under the leadership of Dr. Darling. As the discussion progressed it was decided that sin was the violation of any of God's laws, which were subdivided and placed into three classes; namely, the moral, physical, and spiritual. It was determined that a moral sin was a wrong committed against society; a physical sin was the violation of one of Nature's laws; and a spiritual sin was the result of the breaking of one of the laws of the spiritual universe.

The class although recently organized has made great progress. Starting with an enrollment numbering less than a dozen it now attracts several times that number of men every Sunday. Under the leadership of Dr. Darling a lively discussion is enjoyed at every meeting.

WEDDING A SURPRISE

One of the greatest surprises of the year occurred Monday, when Miss Ruth Peters, ex-'20, and Mr. A. Miller, ex-'20, slipped off to Erie and were married there. It seems that only a few intimate friends were let in on the secret. It came as a surprise to almost the entire school. Both of the young people entered Allegheny last year. Miss Peters did not return for the second year but has been teaching school in Ohio.

SEVENTEEN BLOCK A'S ARE AWARDED

ATHLETIC COUNCIL GIVES A SECONDS TO 11 MEN AT RECENT MEETING

At a meeting of the Athletic Council, Wednesday afternoon, November 24th, the following men were awarded their block "A" for football: Cap't Baldwin, Kramer, Wright, Dundon, Potter, Loomis, Parker, Shultz, Murphy, Nelson, Morley, Graham, Plumb, Cunningham, Secor, F. Miller, Manager Francis.

Harry Miller was recommended to the Athletic Association for a block "A" for his excellent work performed before breaking his right leg. "Jimmy" Russell was also recommended to the Athletic Association for a block "A" for the excellent work that he has done on the second team for four years and his untiring effort in trying to make the varsity during this time.

The following men were awarded their "A" 2nd for the work done by them in aiding the varsity during the season: Jamison, Kinney, Estep, Kirkpatrick, Carney, Mansfield, Larson, P. Clark, R. Clark, Houser, Dyke. The managers and assistant managers are to be elected some time this week. There is much interest in this election as the race seems close to the contestants. The results of this choice will be announced in the next edition of the Campus.

FRATERNITIES TO MEET ON FLOOR

SCHEDULE HAS BEEN ARRANGED FOR INTERFRATERNITY BASKETBALL

At a meeting of the representatives of the six fraternities and the Allegheny Club, a schedule of interfraternity basketball for this winter.

Each team has been given a time to practice, so that no one team will have the advantage over their opponents as far as practice goes. Each team has elected a leader for these games and some have gone so far as to elect a manager.

Coach Applegran will referee all the games. This will give the coach a good chance to look over the players. Every man in school is eligible for the teams whether or not they have played varsity basketball. This insures good, fast games and some good basketball will be seen.

The Schedule

Monday, Dec. 13.—Alpha Chi Rho vs. Phi Deltas (I). Allegheny Club vs. Phi Gams (II).
Tuesday, Dec. 14.—Phi Psi vs. Sigs (III). Deltas drew a bye (IV).
Wednesday, Dec. 15.—Semi-finals—Winner of game (I) vs. winner of game (II). (X). Winner of game (III) vs. Deltas (Y).
Thursday, Dec. 16.—Finals. Winner of game (X) vs. winner of game (Y).

ANNUAL THANKSGIVING PARTY BRILLIANT AFFAIR

Miss Spaulding and Young Women of Hulings Hall are Hostesses

Last Thursday evening Miss Spaulding and the young women of Hulings Hall acted as hostesses to the young men and faculty of the college, the occasion being the annual Thanksgiving party. The list of guests, numbering about three hundred included also out-of-town visitors and alumni. The affair was on the order of a reception or house-warming, as it was the first time the hall had been thrown open to guests.

The refurbished hall is a charming home for the girls to receive in and looked especially well Thursday night with its lovely living room and long loggia filled with laughing, chatting guests. The gym, usually bare was transformed with crepe paper, Japanese lanterns, rugs and wicker furniture into an inviting retreat.

CARNEY AND BOZIC WIN ORATORICAL CONTEST

"THE SOUL OF A VIOLIN" THE WINNING DECLAMATION LAST TUESDAY

On last Tuesday evening, November the twenty-second, Carney, '21, and Bozic, '23, won the extemporaneous speaking and declamation contests. In the extemporaneous speaking contest, which the former won with its accompanying prize of five dollars, W. Thoburn, '21, was given second honors. In the preceding event, honorable mention was awarded S. Thoburn, '23.

In the first event, as announced by Dr. Akers, the declamation contest, the Sophomores were the winners. Bozic, the winner of last year's contest, again established his supremacy in dramatics by a presentation of "The Soul of a Violin." Throughout the declamation, the speaker held his audience back in that lonely tenement room, in intense sympathy for the starving old man, by means of his timely intonations and gestures.

The second best declamation, a selection from Mark Twain's "Innocence Abroad," delivered by Thoburn, was of the opposite character. He showed very well the typical American sight-seer in Europe, pretending to be ignorant of all those things of which the European is so proud. The speaker brought out very strikingly the dialect of the Roman guides. Although not possessing the pathos of the winner's speech, this quotation brought much amusement to the listeners.

The other speakers of the underclass event were Tefft, '24, who delivered Harding's Speech of Acceptance to the Republican Nomination, and Miles, '24, who also gave a political speech, that of Theodore Roosevelt.

ALFRED UNIVERSITY MAN IN THE LOCAL HOSPITAL

D. D. JUMPH SERIOUSLY INJURED IN FOOTBALL GAME AT GREENVILLE

It seems that Allegheny is not the only college to lose men from its teams through injuries. Last Thursday D. D. Jumph of Alfred University was injured in a football game at Greenville, Pa., where Alfred University was playing Thiel College.

Jumph was put on the train at Greenville enroute for his home at Perry, N. Y. He immediately became worse, so that when the train reached Meadville he was taken to the Spencer Hospital. It was at first feared that he would die. An examination showed that he was suffering from internal hemorrhage. The latest reports are that he is in a very serious condition. Prof. T. D. Benninghoff of Alfred University who had accompanied the team to Greenville, remained in Meadville with the injured player. Everything possible is being done for the young man.

BASKETBALL OUTLOOK NOT CONSIDERED PROMISING

Loss of Baldwin Will be Felt in Floor Sport as in Football

Basketball practice for this season started Monday evening, November 22nd. About thirty-five men were out for the squad on the first day but the number has been dwindling since then. The real start for this season was on Monday, November 29th, when the men who had been out for football, reported for the squad.

This year the material is about the same as usual except for the fact that there have been no Freshmen out who can be classed with some of the first year men of other years. The material is about the same as Coach Applegran had to deal with in football, which should not sound most promising.

From last year's team we have

"FORGET THE FUTURE," TEXT LAST SUNDAY

OF A STRIKING NATURE WAS SERMON BY THE REVEREND L. W. SHERWIN

The Rev. Louis W. Sherwin, '08, of Oil City was the preacher on last Sunday morning, using as his text portion of the eighth verse of the eleventh chapter of Hebrews: "Abraham went out, not knowing whither he went." Previous to the sermon, Miss Daw rendered as the offertory Gounod's Ave Maria.

According to the speaker, a man's life should be of such a character as that indicated of Abraham by the words of the text. Although it is well to use fore-sight, it is better to be fearless and have conviction that a stepping-out is necessary. Abraham carried the future ahead of him, putting his best into it.

Dwelling upon the fact that a man, if he has his life's plans made out, loses his genius and initiative, Dr. Sherwin emphasized that life is so ordered that tomorrow is unseen. He illustrated the impossibility of absolute perception of the disposition of Fate by the use of several examples, one of which was a conversation between Mrs. Asquith and Cecil Rhodes immediately prior to the outbreak of the Boer War. The eminent British diplomat gave as his opinion, that there would be no war and yet within a few days hostilities were commenced. Even a chemist in his treatment of a solution can not be absolutely certain of the interaction which will take place. There may have been a slight alteration of conditions, unknown to the scientist. So it is that life is brimmed with surprises.

The firm conviction of the high German command was that the war would be of short duration and favorable outcome. Yet other conditions were introduced and the results were essentially different. So it is necessary to have the plan of life so broad that adjustment may take place within it. The most unchanging plan is that of God.

Hugo, in his first chapter of "Les Miserables" paid a beautiful tribute to the man who trusts in the future, by his dramatic scene between the Bishop and the radical dreamer when the churchman asked the other's benediction.

Life becomes stale and its goal ceases to be such when the absolute outcome is determined. Paul said: "I press on toward the goal of Christ." That goal was of an indefinite nature and promised much. Theodore Roosevelt, by his actions, ignored the presence of a definite future, and yet ended by having one greatly to be envied. His theory was that a man's future is never save until it is absolutely forgotten.

Every step into the future should be a placing of one's hands in God. It was said of Him: "For joy set before Him, He endured the Cross."

What we are doing now, it will take forever to finish. What Abraham started, God was obliged to complete. An act of the Creator is a decisive act of history.

Captain Kofford, a guard and foul-shooter extraordinary, Dunbar, a forward, and Mountsier, who alternated with Stephens at center. Baldwin, who always played a great defensive game is out because of his football injury. His loss will be greatly felt as he was one of the best guards in this section. There is some good material from last year's second team in Graham and Parker, guards, Wise and Pringle, centers, and Miller, a forward.

The first week was spent in trying to teach the men out for the team some of the fundamentals of the game. The first week showed what some of the men could do and gave the Coach a little line on the ability of the men and just what work he will have to do in order to develop a team.

The schedule, as announced in a previous Campus, shows that this year Allegheny meets the same teams that she has always met and from this it may be taken that she will have her hands full with some of her ancient rivals who have more abundant material to work from.

From now on the squad will get some real work as every man who expects to make a place will be out. Every man in school, the coach says, who has basketball ability should come out and not sit in the balcony and say to some one near him, "Why I can play rings around that fellow." The Blue and Gold needs more material if they are to have a successful season. At this stage it is almost impossible to predict just what kind of a season may be expected. By any means there is not a rosy outlook.

HAITIAN QUESTION IS DISCUSSED IN FORUM

SCHOLARSHIPS FOR ATHLETES IS THE QUESTION FOR NEXT WEEK'S DEBATE

The question discussed in Forum last week caused much interest to those present. The proposition was, Resolved that the United States should, within the period of three years, withdraw its control from Haiti. The speakers were Bushyager, '22, for the affirmative; Eaton, '22, and Ifert, '23, for the negative.

The speaker for the affirmative, after giving a brief history of the Haiti question, based his argument upon two issues, there is no need of intervention and the present conditions grew out of our intervention.

Eaton as first speaker for the negative gave a history of Haiti starting back at the time of Columbus. The speaker put forth the argument that the island has never had a stable government and should therefore be controlled by some outside power. The discussion for the negative was further continued by Ifert, who based his arguments upon the following issues: Haiti is now undergoing a reconstruction period and the Haiti difficulty was brought about by a man who tried to encourage the American people to sanction the riotous action of the negroes.

The topic for debate next week is, Resolved that in Allegheny College, free tuition should be given to members of intercollegiate athletic teams or to men who, in the opinion of the athletic authorities, showed marked promise of coming intercollegiate athletes. Bacon, '23, and Blodgett, '23, will support the affirmative in opposition to Ross, '23, and Brown, '20, on the negative.

EDITORIAL

Although all aspects of the football situation receive full comment in the letter from Coach Applegran published in this issue, there is one feature at least of the past season that deserves further notice. Too much emphasis cannot be laid on the credit due to the men on the squad for the gritty and determined way in which they fought an uphill fight throughout the season. Never quitting until the last whistle blew, the team put all they had into every contest many times with the odds overwhelmingly against them. One is proud to feel that such is the spirit of college men.

The Campus Staff meets every Friday at 1:15 o'clock in the Campus office in Bentley Hall.

COACH APPLEGRAN GIVES VIEWS ON FOOTBALL SITUATION

team surprised all her opponents and more than fulfilled all expectations by holding her heavier opponents in all but one game. No team, anywhere, took the field against more overwhelming odds, in game after game, and acquitted themselves so well. They bucked the hardest schedule ever undertaken by any Allegheny football team. They were outwitted, outclassed, and outplayed once, but never were they outfought, outgamed, or outnerved. The team gave all they had and if it was not sufficient to win it was not their fault.

Right here is where we should stop and give credit where the credit is due. Mr. Hammett saw to it that the team had the very best equipment that was possible to obtain. He personally "scouted" all the opponents so that the teams would be familiar with their system of play. He also acted as trainer and got the crippled men back into the game in the shortest possible time. On behalf of the team I wish to thank the student body for their loyal support at all times during the season just closed. Every alumnus and the entire student body should do everything possible to induce some good athletes to come to Allegheny. It is to be hoped that a more liberal policy will be adopted and that some scholarships will be set aside for men who make their letters on the gridiron. In this way Allegheny will take her rightful place among the great institutions in the east.

On every team there are always some men who stand out because of their exceptionally ability. Roger Baldwin, captain and left end of the 120 football team, possessed everything necessary to be a great football player, a real leader, a deadly tackler, a clever blocker, a hard fighter, and a man who possessed football intuition. He was always in the vicinity of the ball, always the first man down the field under kicks. In the Colgate game Baldwin played fullback and it was his excellent work that was largely responsible for Allegheny's great showing. When Roger was hurt the team received a blow from which it never recovered. It is doubtful if Allegheny will ever see his equal as an all-around player again, a gentleman and a clean sportsman at all times. The world can well say "here is a MAN."

Another of Allegheny's stars was Arthur Kramer, right tackle. Kramer was one of the two men who played every minute of the game. His work was one of the bright spots in Allegheny's playing this year. A powerful, alert, aggressive player who made life miserable for many an opponent. His specialty was breaking through the line and dropping an opponent for a six or eight yard loss. "Abie" was the hardest tackler on the team, a fighter who was in the thick of the fight every minute. Allegheny will indeed have to look far to fill his shoes next year.

In Stanley Plumb, right halfback, the team had the hardest worker on the squad and also one of the grittiest players. Handicapped by injuries; first a bad knee and then a very bad shoulder, he kept right on plugging away and few knew how bad he was really hurt. He will be missed next year.

Ray Cunningham, fullback, is another of this year's veterans who has played his last game. Handicapped by a severely injured knee all season, he entered every game and gave all he had. If "grit and guts" were money, "Cunny" would be a millionaire.

Potter, who earned his letter at right guard, has played his last game. Handicapped by inexperience he kept right on working and finally broke in as a regular and held it. He was coming fast when the season closed and would have been a very valuable man next year.

Norman Nelson tried for four years to win an "A" and finally succeeded this year at left end. He was one of the hardest tacklers on the squad and he will be missed next year.

In James Russell, Allegheny has a man that possesses qualities that it would be well for the forty odd men who quit the football squad this year to emulate. "Jimmy" came out for four years and gave all he had all the time and is really more deserving of praise than any other man on the squad. We all hope "Jimmy" gets the coveted "A."

Of the other players we expect to see and hear more next year. Dundon at center played every minute of every game and gave a good account of himself. Wright at left guard is a Freshman who broke in as a regular during mid-season and should be better than ever next year. Loomis, the rangy right tackle came through "big" and great things are expected of him. Murphy was in the game mixing it with the best of them at all times. Parker was the utility man on this year's squad. He started as guard, then went to fullback and finally to end. He will be with us again next year and should be better than ever. Shultz alternated with Parker and was a hard player. He is a Freshman and will no doubt make a name for himself before he graduates. Morley was the real "find" among the first year men. While a little inexperienced and nervous during the early season, he overcame it and was one of the most valuable men on the squad. Besides directing the play he also did some clever work in advancing the ball. He should be better than ever next year.

In Mortimer Graham, left half back, we have an example of what a man with determination and a willingness to work can do. Here is a man who had never played football but came out and outfought all his rivals and slipped into the game in time to score a touchdown on Colgate. He also intercepts forward passes. Secor came out and received a "charley horse" in the early season

ALUMNI

Mr. LeRoy Peterson, '13, will move from New York to the Common Officers in the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers' Cooperative National Bank of Cleveland, in a short time.

Mr. J. D. Longanecker, '19, is teaching in North Union High in Uniontown, Pa.

Sup't A. D. Horton, of Wellsville, O., visited his daughter, Marcia Horton, last week.

Among the Thanksgiving visitors were Miss Susan Jenkins, '20, Miss Aileen Hodgkinson, '19, and Mr. R. C. Merriman, ex-'22.

Mr. D. C. Lonkanecker, '17, is teaching in Jeannette High School.

Miss Ruth Miller, '19, is teaching and also continuing her study of music in New York City.

Miss Zella York, '19, enjoys her work which she has recently taken up at Cos Labamba, Bolivia, South America.

Miss Ethel Sullivan, ex-'22, is teaching at Johnson, Vermont, this year.

Miss Madeline Rogers, ex-'23, is attending Mount Holyoke College this year.

Miss Harriet Rogers, ex-'22, has given up her position at Cortland, O., and will soon return to her home in Meadville.

"Mutt" Judd has been having a week of hunting and trapping while visiting his Alma Mater.

"Gus" Engstrom, '19, spent the week-end at the Phi Delta Theta House after attending the Pitt-State game.

"Loud" Campbell, '20, visited the Phi Gamma Delta House over the week-end.

Carl Mornewick, '21, spent Saturday and Sunday on the Hill.

"Win" Zehrung, '19, visited his parents over Thanksgiving.

Rev. John O. Martin, '19, was quietly married to Miss Pearl M. Strauss, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Strauss of North Cottage St., Meadville, Pa., Thursday at 4 o'clock. Rev. J. H. Jelbart officiated and the ring ceremony was used. The Rev. Martin was a prominent student of Allegheny for three years. He took his last year in Garrett Biblical Institute but got his degree from Allegheny. The bridegroom is a member of the Pittsburgh Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church. He has been assigned to the Beaverville, Pa., pastorate and the young couple will move there December 1.

Y. M. C. A. MEETING POSTPONED
Because of the chaotic condition of the Y. M. C. A. room no meeting was held last Wednesday evening. The room has been used for chalk talks to the football team and also as an office for the coach. It seemed likely also that the student demonstration at the Academy would keep away most of those who regularly attend the Y. M. meetings. It is understood that these conditions have been rectified for this week's meeting.

DATE FOR WAKEFIELD CONTEST CHANGED

According to recent announcement of the Faculty Oratorical Committee, the date for the Wakefield Oratorical Contest has been changed from December the third to January the fourteenth. This change has been assigned to various reasons. Accompanying this announcement, came the request that all orations be in the hands of the committee for examination by the eighth of this month.

THEY HAD PARTED COLDLY.

There had been warmth in their meeting. They had found themselves companions, pieces in the scheme of things—made for each other. And now, the frigid parting—the strange shrinking from each other. Say, fellows, ain't it funny what a laundry can do to a new pair of pajamas!—Michigan Daily.

and was almost cured of football but finally decided to come out again and he made good when "Hoppe" Miller was incapacitated.

Harry Miller was the only sprinter on the squad and he was just beginning to show his ability as a backfield man when Dickinson broke his leg. Miller should be a star of the first magnitude next year. Ford Miller started the season as left guard but thought he was meant for a fullback and when given the opportunity he performed very creditably.

Hauser is another Freshman from whom we expect great things next year. He played fullback, halfback, and end this year and did it well.

ALLEGHENY ALUMNA IN Y. W. WORK ABROAD

MISS ROSE KAUFFMAN, '10, ASSOCIATED WITH MISS BIDWELL IN ITALY

Another Allegheny alumna, in the person of Miss Rose Kauffman, '10, is making her mark in the world. Miss Kauffman is doing Y. W. C. A. work in Genoa, Italy. She is a member of the Alpha Chi Omega Sorority and was one of the leading members of her class while in Allegheny.

The "Dunkirk Evening Observer" for November 20 devotes two columns to a letter whom Miss Kauffman to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. F. Kauffman of Brigham Road. She is associated with Miss Bidwell in charge of a Y. M. C. A. home for girls. The home attends to the wants of girls who are foreign to Italy, as well as to the native Italian girls.

The following extract taken from the letter tells of some of the good work the Y. W. C. A. is doing there: "In our home we charge from 215-265 Lire a month for room and simple but good board, and the girls have besides a lovely, comfortable living-room with books, a place to read and write, and what it means to the girl, only those who have lived under the other circumstances can appreciate."

NEWS NOTES

Miss Helen Bowman spent the week-end at her home in Kane, Pa.

Miss Dorothy Rose spent Thanksgiving at her home in Girard.

Miss Mabel Reid and Miss Myrtle Peters spent the week-end with friends at Espyville.

Miss Della Olsen spent a few days with her sister, Miss Tilly Olsen, who is a student here.

Miss Margaret Frahle, '22, is attending school at Brenan College, Georgia.

Miss Olive Parish, '23, is attending school at Ohio Wesleyan.

Miss Thelma Bigler, '22, spent Thanksgiving at her home in Franklin, Pa.

Misses Genevieve and Josephine Hovis spent Thanksgiving at their home in Clintonville.

Misses Josephine Perkins and Janet Beedy entertained at a Thanksgiving dinner the Misses Iva Jennings, Dala Scott, Flora Trenouth, Alice Skelton and Marion and Marguerite Cook, all of the class of '24.

CONFERENCE REPORT AT Y. W. MEETING

At the meeting of the Y. W. C. A. on Sunday evening, Miss Clara Well-er, '22, gave a very interesting report of the Undergraduate Field Representative Conference, held in Philadelphia two weeks ago. Problems of the Student Y. W. C. A. were discussed and many helpful suggestions were offered at this conference. Miss Ruth Greenfield, '24, played a violin solo.

velt on the "Right to Rule." Braun, '24, broke this order by giving a humorous selection, "Riley's Jim." All of the speakers brought their quotations well before the audience.

The other five dollar prize, awarded for the best extemporaneous speech on an assigned topic on the Immigration Question, was taken by Carney, '21, with his "Americanizing the Immigrant." Although failing to take advantage of the one hour's notice of the phase of the subject, he delivered a well pointed argument. He maintained that immigration should continue until this country is unable to assimilate the incoming foreigners.

The problem of assimilation resolves itself into two factors, industrial problems and social problems. When the nation was young and undeveloped, the process was not difficult, but the time is coming when America must stand for herself. According to some, he affirmed, the Jews own the country, the Irish rule it, and the Negroes enjoy it. With his characteristic directness and oratorical ability, he was easily the winner.

W. Thoburn, '21, on the "Japanese Situation in California" insisted on a thorough knowledge of the facts of the case. He developed the increasing importance of the matter stressing both the idealistic and the practical sides of the question. His points were clearly cut and developed in an able manner.

Weaver, '22, emphasized the "Undesirability of the Further Restriction of Immigration Into the United States." Buchanan, '22, and Bush-yager, '22, were the other two contestants, the former on the "Reasons for Immigration," and the latter on "Our Debt to the Immigrant."

The judges were Professors Bleier, McClean, and Littell.

DraperySCORES FOR PAST 20 YEARS
SHOW DECLINE IN FOOTBALLTotal Scores for This Year Amount to 10 Against 75
by Opponents

The old football players, who in their college days represented the Blue and Gold like to tell how "we played football when we were there." This being the case, and for the purpose of setting all factions right the scores of all the games for the past twenty years have been collected.

A close observation of the scores show that during the majority of the past twenty years the Blue and Gold have come on the long side of the win column. This, however, does not show that the teams were of any better caliber than the present teams as in the days of old the team used to take on and defeat town teams and thus bring up their totals.

In the past decade Allegheny has made quite a name for herself on the gridiron. The last two years have been an exception to this rule due to the better class of teams that have been met. It is true that the schools met have been nearly the same but the opponents have taken the advantage that Allegheny has always had due to better football which she has played.

During the three years of 1913-14-15 Allegheny had her greatest scoring machine. In these days Allegheny was represented by some real football stars who knew the game and who would adapt themselves to most any occasion which would arise. In these golden days of the sport at Allegheny the Blue and Gold were represented by Gilbert, Cox, Munhall, Bash, and Arnold and many others of the same ability. In 1913 and 1914 the team scored 490 points to 33 for their opponents and lost but one game which went by one point. Together with the year of 1917 there were more points scored in those three years than in the other seven years.

This year Allegheny tried to raise her total scores for twenty-one years up to the two thousand mark. However the necessary punch was lacking to score against the better teams which she was scheduled to meet. This in no way can be attributed to the coaching as the best material out were usually layed up with injuries. The team fought all the way but they could not come on the same basis with their opponents.
