COUNCIL AND DELTS NOW AT STANDSTILL

Delts Neither Recognize Nor Refuse to Recognize The Verdict.

The past week has found the rushing dispute between Delta Tau Delta and the Interfraternity Council at a standstill.

Convicted of a violation of the deferred rushing code, the Delts have neither recognized the verdict nor asserted an intention to disregard it entirely. The general attitude of the Interfraternity Council is to follow a policy of ostracizing the convicted fraternity until it recognizes the penalty provided for in the rushing agreement: loss of social privileges and the right to pledge during the first semester.

The Delts, who have lost about six pledges as a result of the accusation and trial, have made no move to call in the pins of the nine pledges who remained with them. The Interfraternity Council expects them to do this, but the Delts maintain that the pledging was not done after the verdict of guilty was rendered. At present things are at a deadlock.

A summing up of the accusation, trial and appeal appears below.

Faced with the penalty of losing the right to pledge for the first semester and the denial of all social privileges, the Delts appealed to the administration last Wednesday night from a verdict of guilty rendered by the Interfraternity Council Saturday night, September 30, and a special faculty jury which met on Sunday morning.

The College administration told Delta Tau Delta representatives that it did not intend to take a hand in what it considers an under-graduate or student-government matter, and recommended that the Delts abide by the ruling of the Interfraternity Council of which they are members.

According to the accusation of the Interfraternity Council, Delta Tau Delta pledged a man in the week which the council had ruled was to be used for open rushing, but not for pledging. Delta Tau Delta claimed that they pledged the man last summer, an

Allegheny Senior Leads Bethesda Children's Choir

Singing in the Allegheny Singers is something more than just an extra-curricular activity for Elizabeth Yeany, Allegheny senior.

Two miles out North Main Street at the Bethesda Home, which her father, Rev. R. W. Yeany supervises, Miss Yeany has her own little group of "singers." Things which she learned during her three years as a soprano under Prof. Morten J. Luvaas's guidance, she passes on to about 35 youngsters between the ages of 9 and 14.

And do those children like their choir work! Two years ago when the choir was first organized, the boys at the home wondered whether singing wasn't just a bit "silly." They don't wonder any longer—they join with the girls in asking Miss Yeany for rehearsals.

About a month ago, Prof. Luvaas went to hear his protégée's proteges sing. He was quite surprised to find on the program one of his own numbers, "Prepare the Way to Zion," an arrangement of a Swedish folk song. The Allegheny choir leader had never heard this particular number sung, since he had written it for choir with accompaniment and the College Singers are an a cappella choir. The Bethesda group, however, have a pianist in Elizabeth's brother, John Yeany, also a former Allegheny student.

"They did it well," said Prof. Luvaas recalling the rendition of his composition. "They showed good understanding of the music."

Another number sung by the home choir was Tchaikowsky's "O Thou From Whom All Blessings Come."

The Bethesda singers' busiest season is in the summer when they sing at various churches. Among others, they were invited to sing at the Lutheran Memorial Church in Erie this summer.

Scholarship Day will be held in Chapel Friday. Attorney Lee H. McKay, '16, of Sharon, will be the speaker. Election of seniors to Phi Beta Kappa and the announcement of class honors for the 1932-33 school year will take place.

Delta Sigma Rho Speaking Contest To Be Held Soon

The annual student extemporaneous speaking contests conducted by Delta Sigma Rho, national honorary forensic fraternity, will take place at the student assemblies on Friday, Oct. 20, and the following Wednesday. The men's contest will be held on Friday and the next Wednesday will be reserved for the women's speeches.

Silver loving cups, to remain in possession of the winners for one year, will be given in both the men's and women's contests. Only one representative from each organization may compete. Sanford Corcoran, of Phi Delta Theta, and Lois Starke, of Alpha Xi Delta, were the winners last year.

Participants are given the hour preceding the contest for preparation of their speeches, which are to be three minutes in duration, and will probably deal with features of the school life and curriculum.

DR. SPANN TO TALK ON ART OF DANCE

Prof. Elizabeth Spann, head of the German department, is scheduled to lecture on "The Meaning of the Modern Dance" at the Washington County Museum of Fine Arts, Hagerstown, Maryland, on Monday, October 16.

Prof. Spann's address is one in a series of Washington Museum lectures by various authorities on the arts. In Berlin, Prof. Spann studied dancing in the Mary Wigman branch school and in the school of Rudolph von Laban, Mary Wigman's teacher. The lecture will be illustrated by lantern slides.

The lecture will be given at 8:30 Monday evening. Prof. Spann will leave Meadville on Saturday and return Tuesday afternoon. While away, she will visit with Mr. and Mrs. William McDermott.

BURMA MISSIONARY VISITING ALLEGHENY

Mr. and Mrs. DeWitt Baldwin, for ten years missionaries in Burma, arrived at Allegheny College last week for a two weeks' visit.

Representing the Board of Foreign Missions of the Methodist Episcopal Church, Mr. Baldwin and his wife, want to get first hand acquaintance with the attitude of the present student generation toward the world mission of Christianity.

Mrs. Baldwin was with her husband during their work in Burma and is also known as the author of "Ba Thane".

The Baldwins are residing at Calisch Hall.

BYRD EXPEDITION HONORS DR. DARLING

Biology Professor Named On Honorary Scientific Staff. Of Expedition.

Prof. C. A. Darling, head of the biology department at Allegheny, was honored with a selection to the Honorary Scientific Staff of the Byrd Antarctic Expedition II, which left Boston on Tuesday, October 10.

An official report from the expedition states: "The bacteriological work will be done under the direction of Prof. C. A. Darling, of Allegheny College, who will assist in working up the report and classifying the bacteria."

Forty-four outstanding scientists from all parts of the world comprise the Honorary Scientific Staff of the expedition. The letter which Prof. Darling received from Physicist Thomas C. Poulter, senior scientist of the expedition, follows:

"Dear Dr. Darling: On behalf of Admiral Byrd and the scientific staff of the expedition, I am pleased to inform you that have been selected as one of the Honorary Scientific Staff of the Byrd Antarctic Expedition II, and we wish to take this opportunity to thank you for the valuable assistance you have given us in our program. It is only with such guidance that we have been able to prepare for such an optimistic Antarctic undertaking."

We are all looking forward to a great deal of hard work and lots of fun in carrying out the task before us, and will try to obtain results worthy of your confidence in us. In doing so we will feel that we have added something to man's knowledge of the earth upon which he lives.

The opportunity of working in such a laboratory as the Antarctic falls to the lot of but few men, and we consider it a rare privilege."

Prof. Darling is especially interested in the biological investigation side of the Byrd expedition since two of his former students will have charge of that phase of the work in the Antarctic. Paul Siple, '32, will be head biologist, and Alton Lindsey, '29, assistant biologist.

PHI BETA PHI'S FIND SNAKES TASTY

The members of the Phi Beta Phi, honorary biology fraternity are appearing on campus as if Death's hand is dangerously close. At a meeting held Tuesday, Oct. 3, in the club rooms in Alden Hall, diamond-back rattle snake sandwiches were served as refreshments.

On saltina crackers the delicious morsel was placed and served to the unsuspecting biologists. Ignorance was bliss until every rattle snake had been eaten; but when facts were known, Redginal Hewitt, biology assistant had some explaining to do. Hewitt imported the canned snake from Florida and produced the labeled cans as his proof. The French may eat frogs and snails, but they have little on the Phi Beta Phis of Allegheny.

Faculty Members Spend Vacations In Various Ways

The World's Fair, Canada, and Europe were the chief places visited by faculty members during their summer vacations. Several others did research and post-graduate work at the Universities.

Among those visiting the World's Fair were President Tolley, Dean Miller, Professors Akers, Lee, Darling, Henke, Church, Spalding, Morris, Buckingham and Beisel, and Messrs. Seely, Hulburt, Haberman, and Howes.

Besides visiting the fair, Professor Akers spent some time in Wisconsin; Professor Darling, in Canada; Professor Church, in motoring through Indiana; Professor Henke, on an automobile trip through Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin, and Iowa; Mr. Seely, at the Widener Library in Cambridge; Mr. Hulburt, in graduate work at the University of Iowa and visiting Canada; Mr. Haberman, in graduate work at the University of Wisconsin; Mr. Howes, at a convention of the American Chemical Society, in Chicago; and Dean Miller, at Lake Chataqua and New York City.

Dean Schultz, returning from his Sabbatical leave at Pasadena, California, where he did work in the Huntington Library, came by way of the Santa Fe Trail and visited Santa Fe, Taos, the Grand Canyon, the Painted Desert, the Petrified Forest, and several Navajo Indian reservations.

Among those attending summer schools were Professor Way at Springfield, Professor Anderson at Northwestern University, Professor Tiffin and Mr. Daniels at Columbia University, Mr. Cares at Northwestern University, and Mr. Zempel at University

ALLEGHENY GRADUATE HONORED AT HARVARD

Because he ranked first among 480 men in the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration, Harmon H. Gilbert '32, has been awarded a $500 scholarship.

While at Allegheny, Gilbert was a member of Phi Beta Kappa and ranked third in his graduating class of 120. His imposing list of extra-curricular activities includes memberships in O. D. K., honorary men's activities fraternity; Delta Sigma Rho, honorary forensic fraternity; and Pi Delta Epsilon, honorary journalistic fraternity. He was a member of Phi Delta Theta, social fraternity.

Gilbert's home is at Drew Forest, Madison, N. J. His father, William M. Gilbert, is professor of home missions and field work supervision at Drew Theological Seminary.

Famed Symphony Choir Will Sing in Russian Costumes.

The renowned Russian Symphonic Choir will appear here on Monday, October 23, as the first number of the 1933 College-Community Lecture-Concert Course.

Appearing in their native costumes, the Russians will present a colorful program of sacred, symphonic, and folk music. The choir is composed of nine men and nine women, under the direction of Basile Kibalchich.

Remembered for the fine programs staged last year and in 1931, the Lecture-Concert Committee has again decided to engage only the best artists and speakers. As was the policy during the past two years, the numbers of the course will not be announced until the evening of the first number, and ticket sales will close that evening. Also, as in previous years, no tickets will be sold for individual numbers.

Course tickets will be available to students at $1.50 each from the following students: Alma Morrison, Grace Bunner, Ruth Crawford, Jean Kelley, Winifred Strick, Margaret Van Aken, Eleanor Ruth, Marian Clark, Helen Walker, Paul Gilmore, Alfred Van Andel, Milton Maloney, Arthur Cobb, Bob Brakeman, Richard Smith, Grace Lemon, and William Unverzagt. Freshmen may secure tickets from their proctors. Tickets for adults are $3 each.

It is only because of a last minute cancellation that the Committee was able to secure such an excellent opening feature as the Russian Symphony Choir.

Begun in Paris, fully fifteen years ago by Kibalchich, who was then choirmaster of the Russian Cathedral in Paris, the Choir made several extensive tours of Europe, winning great success, before it came to America. Since its advent here, however, public demand has made it impossible for it ever to return to Europe, and during its eight years of touring here, only Kibalchich has returned at intervals.

The Russian Symphonic Choir has its own definite niche in the American music world, and has come to be the choral group by which others are judged.

Burma Missionary Explains His Work In Chapel Service

"We want only the best of our young people for missionaries—only those who can stimulate creative thinking," Dewitt C. Baldwin, Burma missionary, told Allegheny students in chapel Monday.

In his talk, Mr. Baldwin tried to break down a common conception of the missionary as a "long-faced, narrow-minded evangelist," and picture him more as the messenger of western culture and at the same time a respecter of the civilization in which he is working.

Missionaries are too busy teaching to squabble over doctrinal differences, Mr. Baldwin said. "It is not a question of whether one religion is false and another true, but whether one is adequate and another inadequate to make these people live significant and worthwhile lives."

Quoting a Chinese philosopher, Mr. Baldwin pointed out: "Two-thirds of the missionaries who come out here are inadequate and unprepared. Some come who are not willing to learn Chinese culture, others cannot even bring a right interpretation of their own. However, the other third are of a value which is inestimable."

In his conclusion, Mr. Baldwin explained that the missionary project "isn't one which is all right and no wrong. It isn't finished; only beginning." If it is to succeed, he said, it must get the best of American young people—those who can do creative thinking and who can stimulate others to think.

FRATERNITIES ANNOUNCE PLEDGES

Sixty-Eight Freshmen Join Greek Letter Societies.

At the close of the first week of pledging by the various fraternities, 68 men have affiliated themselves with Greek letter organizations.

Phi Gamma Delta leads the other groups with 15 prospective members. Sigma Alpha Epsilon has 13 and Beta Kappa 11; Phi Kappa Psi 9; and Phi Delta Theta has 10, Alpha Chi Rho, 7, and Beta Upsilon, 3. Announcement of Delta Tau Delta pledges is pending decision of the Interfraternity Council.

A list of pledges follows:

Phi Kappa Psi
William and Charles Dunbar, Mt. Lebanon; Albert Grow, Bradford; Richard Schultz, Swissvale; William Wilson, Bronxville, N. Y.; Charles Whitaker and John Froelich, Bridgeville; Roy Stephenson and William DeArment, Meadville.

Phi Gamma Delta
Robert Ralston, Butler; Harry Rep-

man, Charleroi; Ross Beiler, Meadville; Leslie Hesselgesser, Freeport; Robert Byers and Keith Hutchison, Butler; Clark Leydic, Natrona; Jack Hoeveler and Donald Heron, Mt. Lebanon; Harold Houck, DuBois; Frank Deane, Buffalo, N. Y.; J. Wm. Prout, Johnston; Richard Pantall, Punxsutawney; Floyd Diaz, Charleroi; and Archie Tate, Erie.

Phi Delta Theta
Charles Miller, Dormont; Ray Robertson, Pittsburgh; George Robie, Aspinwall; William Errett, New Stanton; Howard Hulburt, Painesville, O.; George Thornton, Fredonia, N. Y.; Fred Keck, Warren, Pa.; John Sampson, Mercer; Duane Good, Wilkesburg; and Bill Weesner, Warren, Ohio.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon
Duane Halvarson, New Britain, Conn.; William Meadowcroft and Leroy Carson, Trafford; John Peterson, Jamestown, N. Y.; Stanley Clarke, Connellsville; Paul Kennedy, Dormont; James Ruffner, Aliquippa; Charles Ramsey, Conneaut Lake; James Werle and Dewitt Zahniser, Phi Gams Lead Other Frats With Fifteen Pledges.

THE DELT PROBLEM.

The most accurate if not the most literary words for the Interfraternity Council-Delta Tau Delta situation are "a mess."

From the standpoint of the Interfraternity Council, it might just as well fold up and quit if its verdict is unrecognized. The administration acted wisely in leaving this undergraduate matter for undergraduates to settle—it is the first real test which the Interfraternity Council has met. It is one of Allegheny's few attempts at student government.

Perhaps it is because this is one of the Interfraternity Council's first steps toward significance that the step is awkwardly made. When the pledging argument had been brought to a white heat and all twisted and tangled by an attempted "out of court" settlement, then it was brought before the Council which the student body had elected to take care of just such matters.

There seems to be little doubt in the mind of the unbiased student that the whole thing is an outgrowth of a vicious, cut-throat competition in rushing—a jealous and unwholesome situation for which this year's new deferred rushing code was entirely inadequate.

However, if a sane rushing system is to be put into action at Allegheny, its inception must take place in the same group that conceived this year's experiment.

Regardless of whether they believe themselves right or wrong, the sensible thing for the Deltas to do in this case is to go along with the Interfraternity Council, and accept their penalty. In doing so they lose social privileges for one term—a penalty of no serious consequence. In doing so they remove pins from nine men, and make them eligible for rushing by the other fraternities. Since these nine men have demonstrated their loyalty during the two most hectic weeks of the incident, certainly Delta Tau Delta ought to feel capable of retaining their good faith—pledge pin or no pledge pin.

On the other hand, if Delta Tau Delta continues to refuse to recognize the Council they (1) show the utter incapability of students to handle their own problems of government intelligently, (2) promote more ill-feeling, especially since in the coming Intramural athletic program the other seven fraternities will not consent to recognize their competition, (3) they make impossible any real student originated step toward a sane rushing code.

PLAYERS GUILD HEARS DEAN EVELYN MILLER

Dean Evelyn Miller was guest speaker at the first meeting of the Allegheny Players Guild, held Thursday evening, October 6, in Miss Spalding's Green Room. The subject of Dean Miller's talk was "The Theatre in Spain and in South America", after which a discussion followed by members of the Guild.

Dean Miller discussed the beginning of Spanish drama with reference to the foremost dramatists of the Golden Age, the contemporary dramatists and their plays including such playwrights as Benaventi, Galdos, Quintero brothers, Martinez Sierra, Echegaray, and Marquina, and also the playhouses and outstanding actors of modern Spain.

Mr. Henry Johnson, one of the founders of the little theatre in Allegheny College, was also one of the guests.

After the discussion, a social hour was enjoyed, followed by a lunch served by the refreshment committee, Jean Holman and Paul Gilmore.

NEW FRESHMAN ENROLLS

The registration of freshman John D. Dorworth, Oil City, Pa., has raised the total enrollment figure announced last week to 572.

ORCHESTRA REHEARSES

The first rehearsal for the college orchestra was held last evening in the chapel. Major Donald Olmes, of Titusville, is again directing the orchestra.

Due to lack of interest, plans for the college band have been dropped.

Mr. Dewitt Baldwin, Methodist missionary to Burma for ten years and at present a visitor on the Allegheny campus, was the speaker at the first meeting of the Thoburn Club held in the Library on Thursday evening, October 5.

FACULTY VACATIONS

of Wisconsin.

Foreign countries were an attraction for a few of the faculty. Professor Kalfayan visited France and Egypt. Miss Ludwig spent the greater part of her vacation at Weimar, a town in the central part of Germany. Professor Spann toured France and Germany, and studied art in Italy. Professor Chevreton spent most of the summer in France but also took a two-weeks tour of Norway.

Those visiting other points in the United States included Prof. S. S. Swartley at Brewster, Cape Cod, Mass., Professor Lavelle, at Indianapolis, and Professor Benjamin at the Widener Library in Cambridge.

However, all the faculty did not take extended vacations. Professor Elliott last season, spent most of his time in re-arranging and cataloguing, the slides, photographs, colored prints, and other material used in the courses in art appreciation. He also gave a commencement address at the high school in Fredonia, N. Y.

Professor Luvaas spent six weeks teaching music at Carnegie Tech; Professor Giddens taught in Indiana State Teacher's College at Terra Haute, Indiana; Professor Skinner served two months on the board of the city hospital; and Miss Peffer spent three months in Maine as a counselor at Camp Katherine Ridgeway.

About 15 more members of the faculty taught at summer school here.

Fifty-four miles of tape was used to bind up the football players at the University of California during the extended vacations. Professor Elliott last season,

WHAT makes anything taste better? It's what is in it that makes a thing taste better.

CHESTERFIELDS taste better because we buy ripe tobaccos. These ripe tobaccos are aged two and a half years—thirty months. During this time the tobaccos improve—just like wine improves by ageing.

CHESTERFIELDS taste better because they have the right kind of home-grown tobaccos and Turkish Tobaccos "welded together."

SPRINGFIELD OUTCLASSES GATORS, 27-0 GOLF, FOOTBALL OPEN INTRAMURAL PROGRAM

Visitors' Speed and Deception Too Much For Local Team

Blue and Gold Squad Puts Up Plucky Fight.

Invading the 'Gator stronghold and taking it by storm, the Springfield warriors by means of smashing line drives, tricky reverses, and long forward passes crossed the Allegheny goal line four times to pile up an impressive score of 27-0.

Although the score does not indicate it, the Maroon aggregation from Springfield had to fight for every foot of ground gained in their imposing marches up and down the turf. To Sid Hughes, Springfield's snappy 151 pound quarter back, goes much credit for the yardage gained as it was he who repeatedly slid through the line and made long sweeping runs, evading the grasps of most of the secondary defense.

However, the efforts of Dick Horn and Cobb Diaz should not go unrecognized for many times these two boys brought down this elusive eel and other members of the Maroon backfield before the play reached the scrimmage line.

Early in the first quarter Springfield received its first opportunity to score when Hughes intercepted a pass from Berger to Hamer in Blue and Gold territory. Falling in attempted line drives, Brown romped over the goal line to receive unmolested a successful pass from Hughes. The try for the extra point was successful as Hughes dropped the ball neatly between the goal posts.

Smith, recovering an Allegheny fumble on the 'Gators 10-yard line, put Springfield in a scoring position for a second time. This time it was Govoni who forced his way through to place the pigskin under the 'Gator goal posts. The try for the extra point failed as a pass intended for Kaminisky was grounded.

For the remaining minutes of play in the second quarter, Springfield continued to gain ground, but always before reaching a threatening position the hard fighting Alligators forced them to punt.

The third quarter was listlessly played, and with the exception of several unexpected maneuvers was dull and uncolorful. Diaz's blocked punt on Allegheny's 25-yard line brought the crowd to its feet as did Weber when intercepting a pass on his own 20-yard line. It was following this that Berger threw a successful pass to Diaz who advanced the ball to the 45-yard stripe. Here Springfield tightened its defense and forced Allegheny to punt.

In the last quarter the Maroon team made several determined marches down the field and added two more touchdowns with Shields and Hughes breaking away for the tallies. In each case the try for an extra point was successful. Allegheny had possession of the ball in the closing minutes of the game but was unable to make any headway against the staunch wall of the maroon warriors.

The 'Gators played a much better game against Springfield than against the Edinboro aggregation despite the fact that the Maroon warriors piled up a formidable score. Many improvements over last week's game could be observed. The punting was much better, as was the choice of plays. There was less fumbling, better leadership, and more pep.

KAPPA PHI KAPPA WILL MEET TONIGHT

The Kappa Phi Kappa Fraternity will hold its first meeting on Wednesday evening, October 11, at the home of Prof. F. G. Henke, sponsor.

The purpose of this meeting will be to project a program for the year. The meetings will probably, as heretofore, be held monthly, at which time set programs will be carried out followed by a social hour at the close.

The officers for this year are Richard Porter, president; Stanley Vollmer, vice president; William Olson, secretary; and Prof. G. E. Buckingham, treasurer.

Allegheny Game To Be A Feature Of Dickinson Event

Next Saturday is an open date for Allegheny's grid team; and the 'Gators are due to encounter Dickinson on the Saturday following, October 21, in a game to be played at Carlisle, Pa.

Dickinson College will be celebrating its Sesquicentennial on that date, and expects to make the Allegheny-Dickinson game one of the big events in the program worked out for the notable event. Since many of the alumni are expected back for the occasion, there will be probably a large crowd celebrating Dickinson's first 150 years by attendance at the grid game.

Viewing the prospects from this far ahead, the game should be even and well-fought. Saturday Swarthmore and Dickinson battled to a scoreless tie, indicating strength in both teams. With no game scheduled for Saturday, the Tippineers should be in fine fettle on October 21; two weeks' practice to round off the rough spots.

Dickinson has a number of its good men back from last year, and several freshmen who know football are eligible to participate. Hughes, a backfield ace, will probably be one of the high lights of the game.

Perhaps Dickinson will find that her first 150 years ended with a gridiron defeat by Allegheny, a mere infant of 118!

PEP MEETING.

A pep meeting was held in chapel last Friday, October 6, to work up enthusiasm for the Springfield game. Cheers led by Dave Smith and Elliot Jones, a skit by Carl McBride, and talks by Coaches Tippin and Daniels featured the program.

President Tolley Visits Haverford For Centennial

President William P. Tolley attended the centennial observance of the founding of Haverford College at Haverford, Pa., on October 6, 7 and 8.

Prof. Charles Ufford, of the physics department, and John L. Heller, instructor in the classics, accompanied President Tolley. Both Professor Ufford and Instructor Heller are graduates of Haverford; the former graduating in 1920, and the latter in 1927.

A three-fold pageant depicting the progress of Haverford College during the past century, the college as it exists today, and the hopes and plans for the future was the highlight of the program.

Addresses by three college presidents, the dedication of a new observatory, 24 public lectures, and various gatherings of educational interest and class reunions were some of the other features of the event.

PLAYSHOP ACQUIRES NEW EQUIPMENT

The Playshop has been recently equipped with two new projection machines for opaque and slide projections. About 100 special slides on the theater, including fifty imported from Germany, have been ordered and will be used in some of the dramatics and speech courses.

I believe my best course is to shut up.—George Bernard Shaw.

Tennis Tournament To Be Held Next Week.

Allegheny's intramural program starts off auspiciously this week with two of the sports, golf and touch football, scheduled to make their appearances in a day or two.

Touch football will probably start this afternoon, with both athletic fields in use; and the game will continue on the program for three weeks.

The golf tourney will be opened on the Conneaut Lake Country Club's 18 hole course tomorrow. There will be three days devoted to the tourney, the first two being tentatively scheduled for Thursday and Friday, with the third to be played this week also, if weather conditions hold fair.

The tournament will be played on the elimination basis, since the course is nine miles from here and because of the number of contestants. If each contestant were to meet all the other men in a "Round Robin", snow would possibly be on the course before all the matches could be played.

In addition to touch football for next week, tennis will take up three or four days during the week, if the courts are in playable condition. This sport will also be played on the elimination basis.

The Intramural Handbook was delivered to Coach Daniels early this week, and may be had by students upon application at the gym office.

Beta Upsilon Initiates

Beta Upsilon announces the initiation of Charles Frantsits, '36, on September 25.

Alpha Chi Rho Pledge Party

Alpha Chi Rho fraternity entertained its pledges at a party Saturday evening, October 7. The chaperones were Professor and Mrs. Akers. Among the thirty-five couples present were two alumni members: Howard Lauffenberger and Paul Cares. George Weber and his orchestra furnished the music.

Phi Delta Pledge Dance

Phi Delta Theta entertained its pledges at a dance at the chapter house on Saturday evening, October 7. Gordon Robinson and his orchestra furnished the music for the occasion. Prof. and Mrs. Hurst Anderson and Instructor Frederick Haberman and Miss Louise Power were chaperones. Guests of the chapter included the Misses Eleanor Fichter and Nancy Kimball, and the Messers Louis Haberman, Horn, Jones, and Nealy.

FRENCH SPOKEN AT HULINGS TABLE

Seven Allegheny girls are having an enjoyable time dining with Miss Mildred Ludwig, instructor in French, at a "French table" in Hulings Hall.

The project of having a table at which only French was spoken was a voluntary one. The girls seem to like the idea so well that a rotation plan must be employed to give an opportunity to each of the 21 women who wants a place.

At present the French table includes the Misses Ada Sherwin, Ruth Crawford, Lois Starke, Kathryn Miller, Genevra Hazen, Mary Wishart, and Margaret Robinson.

THIRD SUNDAY FORUM MEETS IN CHAPEL

Mr. Dewitt Baldwin, Burma missionary, who is visiting Allegheny, was the speaker at the third Sunday Morning Student Forum, held last Sunday morning at 9:30 in the Oratory of the Chapel.

Following devotions led by Arthur Crawford, Mr. Baldwin spoke on the subject "What Is Religion?" This subject is the first of a series of topics which were chosen for discussion through a questionnaire submitted to students last week. A stimulating discussion period followed Mr. Baldwin's address.

LIBRARY DISPLAYS

Two displays of interest to students of religion and economics are now in the Reis Library. The first is entitled "Books on the Program of World Christianity" and was suggested by Mr. D. C. Baldwin who is now visiting Allegheny. The second, to be found on the tables in the reading room, contains the current articles on N. R. A.

Alumna's Mystery Among New Books Got By Library

Of first interest among the books newly acquired by the library is the mystery novel, "The Ravanelle Riddle", by Mrs. E. Best Black, '16.

Mrs. Black, whose father is Allegheny Trustee Wesley B. Best, of Meadville, was graduated in 1916. Since then Mrs. Black has lived in London and on the Continent where she has been connected with a travel bureau. This is Mrs. Black's first novel; she is now engaged in writing her second.

Of general interest are "Miss Bishop" by Mrs. B. S. Aldrich, an American novel, and Janet Beith's "No Second Spring", an English novel.

The biographies, "George the Fourth" by Leslie Shane, "Journal" by Gamaliel Bradford, and "Ghandi versus the Empire" by H. T. Muzumdar are books of merit.

The large group of new books on religion include C. S. Braden's "Modern Tendencies in World Religions", J. M. Rodwell's translation of "The Koran", H. E. Luccock's "Preaching Values in the Old Testament", E. W. Lyman's "Meaning and Truth of Religion", S. V. McCasland's "Resurrection of Jesus", B. H. Streeter's "Buddha and the Christ", and H. P. Van Dusen's "Plain Man Seeks for God".

The art section gains in the acquisition of W. H. Kilham's "Mexican Architecture of the Vice-regal Period", and the catalogues of the paintings, sculpture and prints on exhibition at the World's Fair. These catalogues are published by the Art Institute of Chicago.

A "Textbook of Thermodynamics" by F. E. Hoare, "Principles of Thermodynamics" by George Birtwistle, and a second edition of "Heat and Thermodynamics" by J. K. Roberts increase the physics department's reference library.

Nels Anderson's "Hobo" will entertain economics students.

WOMEN'S ASSEMBLY MEETS AT HULINGS

Reports by the various Activities Board members were made at a women's assembly in Hulings Hall, Wednesday evening.

Helen Morrow, '34, presided, and each chairman gave an outline of her plans for this semester. An account of finances was given by Jane Dasher, '35, treasurer. Betty Hill, '35, discussed marshal rules for the Hall, and Lillian Tamplin, '34, the plans for fire drills.

After the business of the meeting, Miss Prescott explained to the students her purpose here and offered her assistance to them in extra-curricular activities.

PICTURES OF ALLEGHENY APPEAR IN MAGAZINES

Pictures of Allegheny have appeared in several national publications lately.

On the cover of the "Christian Advocate" for September 28, was a photograph of Bentley Hall and underneath a paragraph explaining its history.

In the July number of the "Theater Arts Monthly" was a linoleum print of Arter Hall explaining that it was "a bee hive of amateur theatricals".

CORCORAN PLANS ISSUE OF LITERARY MAGAZINE

John Corcoran, editor of the Literary Magazine, has placed the tentative date for the first issue sometime in the middle of November.

The policy this year will be to include more criticisms of happenings on the campus along with the usual stories, essays, and poetry. Material for the first numbers should be handed in to Professor Swartley, faculty advisor, or to John Corcoran at the Phi Delta Theta house, within a few weeks.

DELT-INTERFRAT.

act which, the council ruled, was legal.

When found wearing a Delt pledge pin, the freshman had been immediately and unofficially questioned by representatives of other fraternities. During the interview, the questioners claim, the freshman said he had received a Delt pin before October 1, a violation of the rule. The freshman has since denied that the pin was given him then and claims to have received it last summer at a Delta Tau Delta banquet.

On hearing the evidence, Interfraternity Council members from the other seven fraternities decided that the Delt were guilty and referred the matter to a faculty committee composed of Deans Schultz and Benjamin and Prof. Paul Giddens, acting in the place of President William P. Tolley, who was out of the City. The faculty committee voted 2-1 to uphold the Interfraternity Council's decision.
