Dear Miss Tarbell:-

Mr. Adams was kind enough to show me proof of your review of my book. I want to thank you most sincerely for the scholarly manner in which you have reviewed the book. I did not expect anything less than you actually did write, and I do appreciate your effort.

I only wish that you are preserved for us for another half a century so that you can really finish your Lincoln work. I am leaving Sunday on a speaking tour through the Lincoln country, something that you have done in the late '90's and beginning of this century.

Miss Burnham called to see me and I assured her that I would do everything in my power to give her any of Sweatt's papers that I have. Her mentioning your name was the open sesame to my heart.

Cordially and sincerely yours,
