

When the Convention assembled to receive the oaths of allegiance the Governor's name was called, Sam Houston! Sam Houston! Sam Houston!"

Houston sat in his office ^{where} whittling, the uproar in the Chamber in his ears, but he refused to respond.

LINCOLN NOTE.

The Duke of Argyll in speaking of an English statesman once said: "What a comfort it is to have a man who knows what he means, and means you to know what he means also."

Horn

~~Sat Adams it is an~~
How much he would do to secure a fit man in Stim in the following letter
one of the best appointments
the war

Office Seekers

S. p. 530, date 14/1

"My duties call me to the White House one, two, three times a day. The grounds hall stairways, closets are filled with applicants who render my work even difficult."

Second of Lincoln

Second said: "There is but one vote in the cabinet of that - is cast by the President"

528