Singers, Chapel Choir To Present Annual Concerts

The Allegheny Singers and the Chapel Choir will present the twenty-first annual Christmas concert Sunday and Monday in Ford Memorial Chapel. The chapel will be completely decorated for the traditional pine and candlelight service.

The program remains the same for the three performances, Sunday afternoon, Sunday evening, and Monday evening. It includes:

Fanfare for Christmas — Shaw
Happy Bethlehem — Donostiz
The Song of the Angels — Gaevert
Jesus Gentle Babe — Gaevert
by the Chapel Choir
Hodie Christus Natus Est — Palestrina
"O How Shall I Receive Thee" — Schreck
Entrance scene from "Advent Moter"
The Christmas Tree — Composer Unknown
As Mary Walked Through Thorny Woods — German Folksong
A Carpenter Cut the Manger Wood — Christiansen
The Friendly Veil of Night — Belgian Folk Song
Merry Christmas Time — American Folk Song
While Stars Their Vigil Keep — Luvaas
A Joyous Christmas Song — Norwegian Folk Song
arr. by Margrethe Hokanson.
The Christmas Symbol — Christiansen
Silent Night — Gruber
by the Allegheny Singers

This afternoon and tomorrow afternoon are the last times to get tickets. Admission is free for students and faculty, but tickets must be secured in the Grill by presentation of the activities card. Tickets at 75c may be purchased by townspeople for the Sunday evening and Monday evening performances and a very limited number for the Sunday afternoon concert. Present requests for tickets indicate that all three performances will be sold out.

'Little Symphony' In Concert Debut

The newly formed Allegheny Sinfonietta under the direction of Dr. Herbert Neurath will make its debut to Allegheny and Meadville Thursday, December 9th at 8:30 P. M. The program will be presented in Ford Memorial Chapel and is open to everybody, students and townspeople alike, no tickets required.

The "Little Symphony" has been undergoing two or three weekly rehearsals since its beginning a year ago, when Dr. Herbert Neurath accepted a position in the music and German departments. He and his wife came here from Pittsburgh where he played the viola under Fritz Reiner. He was born in

Men's Extemp Contest Dec. 16

Following the same pattern used for the recent women's speech event, the Men's Extemporaneous Speaking contest will be held December 16 at 8 o'clock at the Playshop.

To the winner of the contest, sponsored by the Philo-Franklin Union, this year will go a nineteen-inch gold trophy. Each college fraternity, which will enter one speaker, will have an opportunity to retain permanent possession of the award by winning the contest three times.

Participating this year are John Sandberg, Sigma Alpha Epsilon; Ray McCall, Phi Delta Theta; Park Funk, Phi Kappa Psi; Jim Thoburn, Phi Gamma Delta; Bob Sprute, Alpha Chi Rho; Charles June, Theta Chi; Tom Forte, Delta Tau Delta, and Lou Meyer, Independent Men.

Contestants, though speaking without notes and much preparation, will have some idea of what their subjects will be. The last six issues of Time magazine will be used by the judges as a basis of selecting topics of national, international and foreign affairs. The speakers will then have a limited amount of time in which to make rough preparations for their talks.

Barbara Bounds will be acting as head of the student committee for the event, and has revealed that the gold trophy which will go to the winner will be on display in the Library this week.

Calliope Deadline Before Xmas Lull

The first issue of Calliope, the college literary magazine, will come out at the end of the semester, editor Joe Backus announced.

Short stories, poetry, and articles must be submitted before Christmas vacation in order to be considered for the first issue. Backus urges students to contribute any material they have, because the staff wants as wide a representation of student writing as possible.

Any contributions to Calliope may be turned in to fraternity and sorority representatives, or at the main desk of the library.

Mr. Kidd To Teach At Capital

Mr. Alton D. Kidd, instructor in Political Science, will leave Allegheny College next semester to participate in the Washington Semester sponsored by American University. The six colleges entering into this educational plan are required to send in turn an instructor to advise and aid the students. While in Washington, Mr. Kidd will teach courses in American government and city government at the American University School of Social Sciences and Public Affairs. He will reside at Roper House and act as faculty proctor for the student group.

Mr. Kidd plans to contact such men as Thomas C. Buchanan of the Federal Power Commission, Senator Francis Meyers of Pennsylvania, and the Supreme Court Justices Douglas and Black. Through these contacts he wants the students to meet the men who make our natioal policies and to see the governmental machinery in action. A visit to Blair House to see the newly elected president is also on the agenda. Mr. Kidd's own interests include the Pentagon Building, the Army War College, and the Department of State.

Mr. Kidd received his A. B. from The University of Pittsburgh. He taught at Rochester High School, Kiski, and was assistant Professor of Political Science at The University of Pittsburgh before coming to Allegheny in 1945.

"The Nun" Published

The work of an Allegheny student —Joseph DeJohn—has been selected for publication in the Annual Anthology of College Poetry, it was announced by the National Poetry Association today.

DeJohn's poem, entitled "The Nun," was chosen with others from the finest poetry from all colleges in the United States.

Shop Gives Globe Type Of Shakespeare Classics

Condensed versions of William Shakespeare's "As You Like It" and "Macbeth" are being presented in the college playshop at 8:15 every evening through Saturday of this week.

The typical Elizabethan costumes were designed especially for this production by Mrs. Graham Gloster Bird of the drama department. To denote tragedy, the "Macbeth" cast has been costumed solely in gray, black, and red. Muriel Stein and Elizabenth Forsythe headed the crew which made 48 costumes for the show.

"As You Like It" has been directed by Mr. William McMillen, and Emma Jane Frankel has assisted him. With the exception of Janet Schulmeister who is playing Rosalind, the cast is composed entirely of freshmen or those who have had no previous experience in the college playshop. They include Orlando, Jack Goellner; Touchstone, William Roberts; Celia, Joan Matthiessen; Audrey, Ruth Thoma; William, Roger Seiler, Jack McCrea; Oliver, Ned Vidal; Jaques, Paxton Hart; Adam, Lee Adey; Amiens, Joe Dickey; Duke Senior, Albert Diaz; and Charles, Sam Hazelbart. Attendents, lords, and ladies are Darrell McIndoe, Pat O'Connell, Anne Roberts, John Sapper, and Oscar Somers. Pages are Kitty Crawford and Joan Woodruff.

Mr. George Ross directed "Macbeth," and Margaret Clement served as his assistant. Macbeth and Lady Macbeth are portrayed by Cosmo Catalano and Edith Carberry. The rest of the cast is as follows: witches, Barbara Bounds, Betty Heil, and Nancy Shaw; Banquo, Harry Banta; the doctor, John Kramer; gentlewoman, Sue Quinn; the porter, George Strong; Macduff, Miles Mutchler; Lennox, Ignatius Stanko, John Waite; Ross, Joe Friedman; Donalbain, Paxton Hart; Fleance, Lee Adey; Duncan, Max Wright; Malcolm, Harold Brooks; and messenger, Jack Olofson.

Mr. John W. Hulburt was in charge of lighting, and Mr. John Collison was responsible for the props. Tickets for the remaining performances will be available at the box office the day before the performance. Students must present their season ticket in order to reserve a seat. All seats are to be reserved before performance time.

Christmas Dance Theme Secret; Guitarist To Bring Thirteen-Piece Show Band

Bare shoulders, tuxedoes with shiny lapels, a slow fox trot played by Alvino Rey, snow, and Christmas caroling are the ingredients that go into making the senior-sponsored Christmas formal to be held on December 11th, in Brooks Hall the biggest dance of the year.

Four hundred couples are expected to enjoy the music of Alvino Rey's thirteen piece band, his two vocalists, Betty Bennett and Jimmy Joyce, and the Blue Reys Quintet, from 9:00 to 12:00 that evening. All women have 12:30 permissions .

The 34-year old band leader, and singing guitar come to the campus after a successful Broadway season highlighted by guest appearances at New York Paramount Theatre. Is starting his musical career with Phil Spitalny's orchestra and Horace Heidt's Musical Knights as featured soloist he has since gained fame and popularity with his own orchestra, which records for Bluebird.

The dance, based on caroler theme, will require admission by ticket this year. Organizations receiving A.U.C. grants had exceeded their limit because of growing costs of production and forced a reduction of the contingency fund to a minimum. It was therefore necessary for the A.U.C. budget comittee to cut down the expenses of activities of lesser importance.

In order to operate within the budget and still have a name band it was suggested that the women go without corsages for the dance and the money normally paid for flowers would be used to defray the cost of the entertainment. In an A. U. C. poll taken among the men in which 359 voted, 285 preferred a name band to corsages. Consequently, men are requested not to give flowers.

Tickets went on sale on November 30th in the fraternity houses, Grill, and through sorority representatives. Advance sales will continue through Friday at $1.00 per couple. Tickets bought at the door will be $1.25, according to Dave Carlson chairman of the ticket committee.

Formal dress is optional for the men at the Xmas dance which brings to a close the Allegheny all-college winter social season. Chaperones for the evening are Dean Skinner, and Dean and Mrs. Bostwick. Members of the faculty and administration are guests of the senior class.

The decorations for the dance are strictly "hush-hush" this year, according to Barbara Trigger, chairman of the committee. Working with her are Helen Clay, Ginny Bowman, Joe Backus, Jim Phythyon, and John Coleman.

In charge of publicity is Roger Bailey, while Jackie Leggett heads the program committee. Peter Albright and Sumner Nichols were responsible for selecting the band. Invitations were sent out by Carol Snell. Overall chairman of the dance and host for the evening is Don Hamilton, president of the senior class.

$175 Profit Made On KDE Bazaar

The Kappa Delta Epsilon Bazaar, held last Saturday afternoon in Brooks gym, was a big success. A profit of approximately $175 was made on the various projects which included the sale of candy, knitted and crocheted handwork made by K. D. E. members. A big event in the afternoon's proceedings was the raffling off of an Emerson radio. Nancy Cornell was the lucky winner. Proceeds of the bazaar will be used to establish a lecture fund.

The members of K. D. E. and Miss Statlander, faculty sponsor, would like to othank everyone who helped make their bazaar, the first one ever held at Allegheny, a success.

Phi Beta Phi Plans Christmas Banquet

Phi Beta Phi, honorary biological fraternity, will hold its annual Christmas banquet on Tuesday, December 14 in Alden Hall. Betsy Bates, chairman of the committee arranging the dinner, has planned for the erection of the traditional Christmas tree in the Alden front hall, and for the exchange of gifts after dinner.

Special invitation has been extended to Dr. Darling, one of the founders of the Allegheny chapter of Phi Beta Phi.

IRC Brings UN Movies To Allegheny Students

"The Founding of The United Nations" is the title of the movie to be presented by the International Relations Club on Wednesday, December 8th, on the 3rd floor of Ruter Hall. All students are welcome to attended the movie. There will be several presentations so that all who are interested may see it. The times will be announced on the bulletin boards and in classes. Following the evening showing, there will be a forum discussion of the movie.

This movie is one of a series of four which will be presented by I. R.C. before the Christmas vacation. Three films deal with the United Nations Organization; the fourth is on atomic energy.

The regular meeting of I.R.C. will be held on December 15th. Watch the bulletin boards for time and place. The proposed constitution which was read at the last meeting will then be voted upon. Plans are now in progress to select students to go to the regional I.R.C. Model United Nations Assembly to be held at Rutgers University in March '49.

Five Seniors Receive Phi Beta Kappa Keys

The names of Florence Brownell, Dorothy McKnight, Charles Johnson, Raymond McCall and George Strong were announced at last week's assembly as those seniors who have been elected to Phi Beta Kappa. In addition, Mr. Frank Gary Brooks has been named as a new Alumni member.

Dorothy McKnight, who is majoring in science, is a member of Phi Beta Phi. She is also active in the Singers and German Club. Dorothy, an independent, hails from Franklin, Pa.

A member of Theta Upsilon, Florence Brownell is chairman of the college's division of the Red Cross. Her record of activities includes Heelers, Outing Club, Terrapin, and Orchesis. During her

Plan Xmas Music

Scheduled for Chapel Assembly next Wednesday, December 15—is a program of Christmas music played by Allegheny's band under the direction of Bob Johnson. The audience will be asked to sing while the band plays,—thus, blending together the joyous strains of voices and instruments in the favorite Yuletide songs.

This morning, in Chapel, the basketball team was introduced by Bill Rylander. Mr. Raymond P. Shafer, District Attorney of Meadville and member of the Class of '38, was the speaker.

Heelers Elections

Election of officers will be the main business of the Heelers at their meeting tonight in Alden Lecture hall. Time of the gathering has been set for seven o'clock.

Bill Allison, president of the organization, would like to extend an invitation to all freshmen who are interested in joining the Heelers, to attend the meeting. He also has announced that payment of members' dues will be accepted at the meeting.

Are you active?

Are you active, or do you just belong? Allegheny offers to every student a wide variety of extra-curricular activities and provides opportunity for service to the school and community, personal enjoyment and a widening of outlooks. This program of activities covers wide fields—there are spots for those who enjoy sports; there is a place for specialties such as languages, sciences and journalism; experience in organization and management can be gained through participation in student government; religion is not forgotten on our campus. These are only examples—there is a niche for everyone. It is up to each individual, however, to find that niche for himself, and then to give as well as receive benefits from it.

There are those who join a club only to wear the uniform or to gain prestige on campus. Some people become members of organizations simply to fill up space on the activities cards signed in the spring. Others like to see their names in print or enjoy saying constantly, "I'm so busy." or "There's too much to do here."

Contrast these people with those who join a group through a sincere interest in it and who whole-heartedly take part in its functions. There are those who feel as if they are missing part of college life if they don't participate in some activity. They feel that they can gain experience here as vital in its own light as book knowledge, by planning and working with other people. Great personal enjoyment and satisfaction come when a job is well done. This contact with other people offers opportunities to make new friendships and acquaintances on common grounds.

Everyone wants to belong. There is opportunity for everyone here at Allegheny. Look around you and see what qualifications those who are considered campus leaders have.

They aren't superhuman—they are active. In the end, it all comes back to the same old story— "A person gets out of a thing what he puts in it." What about you?

—C. H., '51

Let's live awhile!

They call us poor risks!

Traffic safety experts, police commissioners, insurance underwriters —in fact everyone whose job it is to know who kills whom on the highway, and why—say that college students are terrible automoblie drivers.

They don't single us out at college students; they just lump us with all drivers under 25 and say, as an age group, we are about the worst drivers on the road.

Are we? Are college students good, bad or indifferent automobile drivers? If a driver is judged by the style, dash and elan with which he handles a car, we probably would rank at the top.

But, unfortunately, a good driver is not a dashing driver. A good driver is a safe, courteous driver. And, according to the statistics, we don't stack up so well.

Consider these simple facts and you'll see why. Last year 32,300 men, women and children were killed by motor vehicles in the United States, and drivers between the ages of 18 and 24 were involved in 27 per cent of these fatal accidents.

And that's just part of the story. Our record as drivers has been so consistently bad that more than 40 states have raised the premium that insurance companies are allowed to charge for automobile coverage if anyone under 25 is a frequent operator of an insured car.

Even with the extra premium they're allowed, insurance companies shy away from our business. They say they can't break even because we have too many accidents, and that too many of our accidents are serious or fatal accidents.

That's why they call us poor risks.

We think it's a challenge—a collective challenge that each one of us must meet individually. Individually, we must drive carefully because only in that way can we avoid accidents. And only by avoiding accidents can we rid ourselves of the label each of us, whether deserved or not, wears when driving. It reads: Beware—careless, irresponsible, dangerous driver at the wheel.

In case you don't mind being labeled as dangerous, this fact should startle you into becoming a better driver. Last year one in every 3,236 persons in our age group was killed in an automobile accident.

Based on the estimated college population of 2,400,000, this means that approximately 741 students will be killed in crashes this year.

Remember, carelessness kills, and one of the persons it might kill is you.

Change Desired In Curriculum

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The views expressed in this column are not necessarily those of The Campus. However, readers are encouraged to express their opinions here. Anonymous contributions can be given absolutely no consideration, but names of contributors will be withheld upon request.)

I have a serious gripe to put forth to the student body concerning what seems to be a definite shortcoming in the curriculum offered to Allegheny students.

Ask any Suzie Coed what she's planning to do after graduation and you receive a vague answer, "I'm majoring in English," or Soc. or Poli. Sci. But its quite obvious that few of the Suzies at Allegheny plan to make a career out of Medieval History. A few do plan to go on to post-graduate work and a career, but the majority of girls who attend a small liberal arts college hope to marry and become housewives. So she takes all the Child Psychology and Sociology that she can, and upon graduation off goes Suzie to Niagara, soon to become completely absorbed in trying to make ends meet in a suburb, which is quite a task these days.

How many young homemakers know how to purchase furniture wisely or what to look for in buying a home? As far as I'm concerned the need is not for cooking and sewing classes—you can get that at home or the nearest Singer Sewing Center, and most likely got it in high school. But there is a crying need for interesting, well-planned lecture courses on valuable information such as what to look for in buying a home and what to plan for in building a home, child care, how to purchase food wisely, feed your family economically, etc. Not only for the women, but for the men, too—one doesn't know how to make elementary plumbing repairs by instinct and too few know what to do when the sink starts to leak, except call in the plumber at $1.35 an hour.

At other colleges these are the courses that rank high in popular appeal, but at Allegheny there seems to be no demand for classes offering the one thing we are all most interested in—preparation for life. Are you going to do anything about it?

Frosh Writes Home

(Editor's Note—Due to the proximity of the Campus office to the post office, occasionally we are the recipient of mail not intended for us. The following letter is an example of the type of thing we get. We thought the student body would enjoy reading it before we send it on its way).

To Me Old Lady,

I got me mid-terminal average last week. It's de same number as me football joisey, thoity-tree. I tink, considerin dat I only needs sixty-five fer passin, dat I'm doin pretty good. Anyway de coach said dey won't kick me outa school cause I'm too strategic fer de team.

De wedder is purty bad. Some nites, dough, I gets to go down to de rusty bridge. It aint as doity as it sounds. Infact it's really made outa wood. My trustees tell me dats why my mid-terminal retoins are low, but Doc. Ogilvie told dem dat I'm jist gettin poisonal adjustments. If dats poisonal adjustment, I bin adjustin since de sixt grade.

Dats all fer now. Give me salutations to de neighbors.

Your lovin off-spring,

AS THE SERF . . . . is bound to the soil and the service of his master, so is the journalist bound to his duty and the service of his public. Since we modestly lay claim to the title, "Journalist," we feel deeply the necessity of complying with this axiom. We feel it our duty to present to the student body of Allegheny College, the diverse problems and thought-compelling circumstances related to life "on the hill."

Recently, we intercepted a document which, we feel, must be passed on to all Alleghenians who do not wish to see a noble institution, the bedrock of Allegheny culture, crumble and fall into ignominy. This document, possibly prepared by the hierarchy of "Ye Grille," is mute testament of the high cost of living, and points out several remedies for existing conditions. Excerpts from the aforementioned archive are worthy of quotation.

"Figures on the Grill indicate the expenses are still to high. Income simply does not justify the expenses being incurred. I suggest these things:

1. Those working in the grill are to eat on their own time and when business warrants taking the time out.

2. Use less butter on the toast. No one likes his toast soaked in butter or mashed in the process.

3. Be more careful at the cash register. The wrong change may take the profit from a whole day's business.

4. That everyone works in the best interest of the grill. Cooperation is very necessary in order to make the operation a success.

5. Dismiss all unnecessary help."

This reporter had no idea that the grill was facing a crisis, prior to persuing the above document, but since the condition has been made known we humbly offer the following suggestions to supplement the list already prepared. . . .

1. Since most students leave at least a small quantity of coffee in their cups, we suggest these last few dregs from each cup be incorporated into an urn, reheated and served again.

2. Remove all tables now present in the grill. This will serve a dual purposes First, it will do away with students loitering for long periods of time over one cup of coffee. Secondly, it will do away with the problem of having waiters spend precious time wiping these same tables clean.

3. In the preparation of coffee, use less coffee grounds and more water. Some may grumble for a time, but this grumble will gradually be replaced by a sullen acquiescence.

4. Remove salt and peper shakers and sugar containers from the Grill. The use of condiments is nothing more than a habit-forming vice.

5. Replace the electrical lighting system with candles (used sparingly) Electric lights are known to be hard on the eyes and besides candles give an air of Romanticism to any such establishment.

6. And lastly, forbid the playing of card games in the institution. We do not want Allegheny to breed a generation of gamblers. Besides playing cards takes ones mind away from eating toast and drinking coffee, which are after all, our prime objectives in life.

Be it understood by all, these measures advocated by this reporter are offered sincerely with an eye to promoting the general welfare—of the Allegheny student body, and the grill.

This Week's 4:20 Programs

Highlighting the 4:20 programs this week at the Library are the selections from Richard Wagner to be played on Friday, December 10th. Also included in this week's program, arranged by William Githens '52, and Donn McCafferty '52, are works by Beethoven and Mendelssohn.

Wednesday, December 8—Beethoven: Piano Concerto No. 5 in E Flat. Rudolph Serkin, piano; New York Philharmonic Orchestra, Bruno Walter conductor.

Thursday, December 9—Mendelssohn: Concerto in E Minor. Fritz Kreisler, violin; London Philharmonic Orchestra, Sir Landon Ronald, conductor.

Friday, December 10—Richard Wagner Program: Lohengrin—Prelude to Act III. Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra, Fritz Reiner, conductor.

Die Gotterdammerung. Brunnhilde's Immolation ,Kirsten Flagstad, soprano; San Franciso Opera Orchestra, Edwin McArthur, conductor.

Die Walkure—Ride of the Valkyries. Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra.

Tristan und Isolde—Liebestad. Kirsten Flagstad, soprano; San Francisco Opera Orchestra.

Handel's "Messiah," so well received last Easter, was again presented in the Library on Sunday night, December 5th., thus opening the Christmas season.

Independent Women Hold Children's Christmas Party

On Saturday, December 11, the non-sorority women of Allegheny are giving a Christmas party for the children of some of the less fortunate Meadville families. The girls hope to make the children's holiday a little brighter by giving them small presents, and entertaining them with games, carols, and refreshments.

A bus, donated for the event by Jack Bowman, will pick the children up at 2:30 in front of the Kepler Hotel, and will carry them to Brooks Hall. The gymnasium, gaily decorated, is to be the scene of the festivities. During the afternoon, Pat Saunders will read a Christmas story, and Hubert Cordier, dressed as Santa Claus, will pass out gifts from under a brightly-lit tree. This tree, incidently, will stand in the lobby, and be decorated by the cwens The party will be over at 5 p.m. and the bus will pick the youngsters up to take them back to the hotel.

The highest point of the party will of course, come with the passing out of the gifts. A list of the children's names was placed on the Brooks bulletin board. Under each name there is space for two people to sign. Each person who signs up is expected to donate a gift worth approximately fifty cents. It is important that the value of the gift does not exceed this amount, so that some children do not receive more expensive gifts than others. The list is not completely filled, as yet, so it is hoped that those who have not signed up, and would like to, will add their names as soon as possible.

Edith Carberry, president of Independent Women, who has been in charge of arrangements for the party, wants to stress how much it means to these children. Originally, there were just sixty invited, but several parents called and asked to have their son or daughter included, so the number has grown to sixty-six.

NSA Bulletin Board Keeps Campus Posted

Something new has been added. You've probably noticed it as you've gone into the Grill during the past week or so: it's the NSA bulletin board, designed to help us, the students of Allegheny.

For one thing, it's going to have a hitch-hiking list, which will be of infinite value to those students anxiously looking for a lift home as the holidays (or weekends!) draw nigh. Another feature of the bulletin board is a lost-and-found; it certainly ought to come in handy, because we all know how easy it is to leave things lying around somewhere! Pat MacEwen's taking care that there's no obsolete information on the board.

In addition, there are also several booklets about the workings of the NSA. For the time being, these are for display purposes only and so must be left where they are. There are some duplicate copies in the special NSA section in the Library, however, which you can peruse. there.

As time goes by, of course, other new and helpful features will be added to those aforementioned here; to encourage suggestions for these there will be a suggestion box somewhere near the board, so be thinking about it!

Since all of us, as members of the Allegheny student body, are automatically members of NSA, this is "our baby;" so c'mon, let's take notice and make good use of this NSA bulletin board of ours.

The ANATOMY of a Student Body

Goellner and Davidoff

Last week a certain Tobacco concern put its wares on display for the Allegheny student body. Immediately after this concern left the campus, your hungry reporters rushed to Brooks, Bebbe, and Caflisch to see the effects of the tobacco on the combined "T" zones of 126 students. The students who were polled were asked to answer four questions— How many packs did you take? Do you like them? Would you buy them? Would you change to them?

Of the students polled 91 were men, 33 were women, and there were two who were totally impartial. Here then are the results you've been waiting for.

Of the 126 individuals polled a total of 265 packs of cigarettes were taken, or just a shred of tobacco more than two packs per person. There were many who took no packs at all and two persons came out of the donation center with 13 packs apiece.

All the individuals polled felt that the concern that was doing this

AWS Formal Dinner To Honor President

President and Mrs. Louis T. Benezet and their son Joel, will be guests of honor at the A. W. S. annual formal Christmas dinner to be held Thursday, December 16th, at 6:00 p.m., in Brooks Hall dining room. They will stand in the reception line in the Green Room immediately following dinner.

Women are asked to sign up for tables on Monday, December 13, or Tuesday December 14, before or after lunch or dinner.

Social Whirl

Congratulations to WSAE following a most successful week of broadcasting. For a complete coverage of campus activities and gossip, they can't be beat. . . . "News and views, cosmic dedications, studio choir, and a word from Mr. Bong!" We love it all!

To be strictly chronological, the weekend was initiated with four terrific social affairs. The Theta U's borrowed the Delt house Friday evening to play bridge and dance to records. Whether game was made or not, it was lots of fun.

The Alpha Chis decked the Sig house with pine and cherubs for their pledge initiation dance. Even the sing at intermission was acclaimed as really smooth. Up the street at the Phi Gam house, the Alpha Xi's also held their initiation dance. A dreamy way to start the weekend rolling, n'est-ce pas?

Out at the Edinboro Country Club (one o'clock permissions?!), the Phi Gam winter formal proved to be a lovely, lovely dance. Xmas spirit reigned high. . . . The gals are still exclaming over their white fluffy dogs.

Saturday afternoon the Theta U's entertained their alums at a tea in the rooms. That evening the Edinboro Country Club was again the scene of gala festivity—the Phi Psi winter formal. Another sepcial occasion to be long remembersd.

Also that night, the Phi Delt house was transformed into a winter wonderland for their Xmas formal. A serenade with the doubleoctet featured, completed a perfect evening. Sunday afternoon the annual "Ghinch" dinner, in honor of the junior and senior Phi Delts, was held down on Terrace Street. Santa presented gifts to the fellows with appropriate poems, and the girls received golden trophy (loving?) cups.

Sunday night the Kappas held informal initiation and Monday the formal ceremony was conducted.

No. abatement of the social whirl is in sight (in spite of numerous exams!), for next Friday evening the Delts and Chi Rho's are holding their Xmas parties and the Sigs, their winter formal. Saturday evening we'll dance to the melodies of Alvino Rey and his orchestra. 'Nuff said!

Theta Chi fraternity wishes to announce the pledging of Robert Mouck, '50.

were fine people and hoped that they would come back to Allegheny more often. There seems to be one group on campus who found that this offeratory has effected their well being, this is the group of Joe The Bummer, who now only get laughs when they ask for a butt.

Werner's Five Freshman Became Houdinis Of The Hardwood In High School

Frosh, As Well As Three Newcomers To Cage Squad, Should Bolster Team

In Art Lowrie, John Lovett, Wayne McKallip, Bob Mowry, and Tom Ballish, Al Werner has five freshmen who may easily become Allegheny's starting basketball team in the near future. Bringing with them eleven letters rewarded to them for varsity service to the dribble diversion in high school, this quintet has demonstrated its enthusiasm and talent in practice sessions and in two practice games with Edinboro State Teacher's College.

ART LOWRIE, 18-year old 150-pounder from Titusville High, lettered three years, captained the '47-'48 aggregation, led the team in scoring with 232 points in 20 games that year and received the Thompson Memorial Trophy as the most valuable basketball player. He was also chosen on the Section 2, District 10 All-Star team. Art is five feet, eleven inches tall, very fast, and an excellent ball handler as well as an accurate shot. He dabbled in football at the halfback position at Titusville, but never succeeded in earning a letter.

JOHN LOVETT, another three-letter man in high school, has impressed Coach Werner with his ball-handling and confidence. He was selected to an All-County team while performing at East Brady in 1947 at the guard post. He is only five feet, seven and one-half inches tall, but his stocky 169-pound frame is well-coordinated. He is eighteen years old, as are all five first-year men.

WAYNE McKALLIP, the tallest of the quintet at six feet, one-half inch tall, earned a total of five letters in Hamburg, New York. He played left tackle for two years on a football team that attained a magnificent defensive record, threw the shot and discus, ran the 880, and played varsity basketball two years. Wayne wears glasses, specializes in set shots, and weighs 174 pounds.

BOB MOWRY, from Avonworth High School in Emsworth down around Pittsburgh, lettered two years as a forward on the cage squad. He is built on the slight side, being only five feet nine and one-half inches tall and 141 pounds, but what he loses in height and weight he gains in speed and endurance. He is a deadly gunner from inside the foul circle, and has the power to last the full game if necessary. Bob played end on the football team at Avonworth, and whacked a golf ball around the fairways through the summer.

TOM BALLISH is the kind of ball player that helps a team psychologically, as well as literally. This is proven by the fact that he was awarded the Optimist Club Sportsmanship Award upon graduation. He has less experience than his four freshman teammates, having played in only his junior year at Farrell, but he has the brains and desire to improve. Tom is six fee tall, 185 pounds, and one of Bil Daddio's great football players. H received a position on the All Northwest Pennsylvania All-sta Football Team in 1947.

Three newcomers to the varsity squad, Bill Bynane, Jim Sheridan and Jack Potter, are also loaded with experience. Bynane played with Grove City two years ago, Sheridan played with Slippery Rock at the same time, and Jack Potter played for Rennsalaer before coming to Allegheny.

Bill Bynane is five feet, eight inches tall, very fast, and quick thinking, as his performance at quarterback on the grid team justifies. He is 23 years old, a married vet, and a junior. His home is in Albion, Pa.

Jim Sheridan, an Erie native, captained both his football and basketball teams at Millcreek High. He is 21, six feet, three inches tall, slimly built, and a fine defensive ball player. He is also an offensive threat because of his height and accuracy.

Jack Potter, Bill's brother, won about every honor possible in high school, both in basketball and in football. He received the Livermore Cup for Athletics and Scholarship. Six feet, six inches of beef, he deserves his brother's nickname more than his 'medium-sized' six-foot four brethren. They are from Smethport, Pennsylvania.

These are the men who will back up the nine holdovers who will probably see most of the action on the court this year. Paul Miller and Fred Feisley will co-captain the team and play the forward positions, Bill Potter will probably start at center, Ernie Andres and Jim Montgomery probably at guards. Sum Nichols, Gene McClure, Don McKay, and Norm Baker complete the squad.

Delta Tau Delta opened the intramural volleyball season last Tuesday with a decisive victory over the Independents. The Delts failed to click in the first game and lost it 11-15. They rebounded in the second contest with a 15-8 decision and then clinched the series with a 15-6 victory. This was the only series in the entire week's competition that went the three-game limit. Later in the week the Delts returned to the court to trounce the Chi Rhos 15-2 and 15-10.

The SAEs also won twice during last week. Their first match was a 15-5, 15-6 victory over the Theta Chis. Their second triumph was at the expense of the Independents by 15-4 and 15-13.

The Phi Delts, last year's volleyball titlists, set back the Chi Rhos by scores of 15-5 and 15-9. Last year's second place team was Phi Gamma Delta. This year, however, the Phi Gams, sporting a tall, well-co-ordinated outfit, look like the team to beat. Their only tilt last week was an easy 15-4, 15-7 triumph over the Phi Psis. The Phi Psis downed the Theta Chis later in the week by scores of 15-6 and 15-1 to even their record.

Come One! Come All!

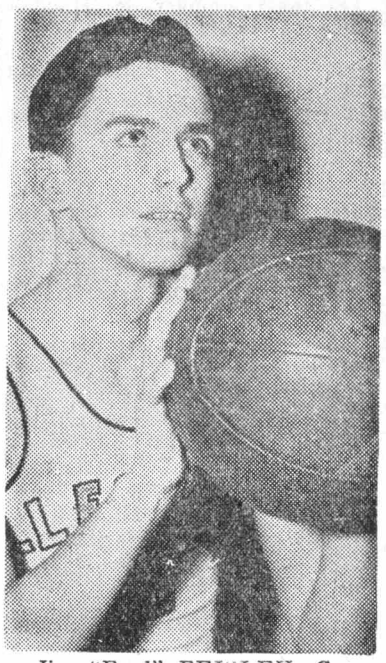

Allegheny students have been invited by Pennsylvania national Guard officials to attend the open house to be held at the local Company "B" armory tomorrow evening.

Designed primarily to show what the National Guard offers in the way of military training, the open house is being held from 7:30 to 10 o'clock.

53rd Basketball Year Begins Here Friday As Gators Meet St. Vincent

Squad of Seventeen Men Also Battle Juniata Tuesday In Revival of Series

A squad of seventeen men, most of them very well-versed in the tricky system utilized by Al Werner, will inaugurate the fifty-third year of basketball at Allegheny on Friday. They meet St. Vincent College of Latrobe, Pennsylvania, on Montgomery Gymnasium, in a game that starts at 8:15. Seven lettermen form the foundation of a team that is facing its most difficult schedule since 1932, when a 21-game slate included St. Bonaventure, Colgate, Washington and Jefferson, and two contests with Westminster.

Jim "Fred" FEISLEY, Gator forward, is gradually overcoming his shoulder bursitis which threatened to keep him below his basketball par.

On Tuesday of next week, the Golden Gators face Juniata College, also in the Gym. It is interesting to note that both Juniata and St. Vincent have never beaten Allegheny. Both have lost four times. In the first game of their series, Allegheny walloped St. Vincent, 34-15. In 1943, the score was much more even, 41-38, but not as close as the 1946 meeting, which ended 52-51 in favor of Allegheny.

Last year, also in the season opener, the Hilltoppers accumulated an early lead, and, aided by Paul Miller's sixteen points, emerged victorious by a 62-50 score. Walt Hazlett, Bearcat center, garnered nineteen points to lead St. Vincent's attack, which was very ineffective against Werner's starting five. Hazlett will be back this year as the chief scoring threat and middle man on either the 2-1-2 zone or pick-up man-to-man defense which the Bearcat coach employs. No reports have been received on the success of the downstate team in any of its three games played this year so far.

Allegheny's four games with Juniata have all been close. This contest Tuesday is actually a revival of an intended long series which began in 1923 and was discontinued in 1925. The Gators won by the following indecisive margins: 30-24, 25-18, 25-20, and 25-21. However, basketball at Juniata in the past years has not been up to its old par.

Werner bases his hopes for a good season mostly on the success of his system of strong-side, weak-side offensive plays derived from the "Penn State system," and a tight 3-2 zone defense used when necessary. Allegheny should be strong against a man-to-man defense on its small home court because post plays and screen plays work more effectively in less space, and the Gators are used to the undersized floor. His 3-2 zone defense worked beautifully against a strong Rochester five last year in Allegheny's startling 56-46 upset.

Allegheny's schedule for the 1948-49 season is as follows:

Dec. 10—St. Vincent here
Dec. 14—Juniata here.
Dec. 16—Wooster away.
Dec. 17—Earlham away.
Dec. 18—Hanover away.
Jan. 8—Pitt away.
Jan. 12—Thiel here.
Jan. 14—Grove City away.
Jan. 17—Geneva away.
Jan. 21—Slippery Rock here.
Feb. 9—W and J away.
Feb. 12—Grove City here.
Feb. 15—Carnegie Tech here.
Feb. 18—Oberlin here.
Feb. 22—Case here.
Feb. 25—Hamilton away.
Feb. 26—Rochester away.
Mar. 1—Western Reserve away.
Mar. 5—Alfred here.

Phi Gams Win Bridge Tourney

Saturday afternoon, the male intellectuals of Allegheny met in the M. U. C. sponsored bridge tournament at the SAE house. Seven fraternity teams competed with each other for the honor of "the bridge team" of old Alleghe.

Phi Gamma Delta emerged the victor in as close a race as you could want. The Fijis ran up a match point total of 16 as compared to Delta Tau Delta's 15. The Delts, who were last year's tournament winners, ran nip and tuck throughout the entire play, and it was not until the last of 24 hands was scored that the Phi Gams were assured of victory. None of the other fraternity teams came near the two top contenders. Phi Kappa Psis managed to edge out the Chi Rhos and Sigs, while the Theta Chi team occupied the number six slot, leaving the Phi Delts in the basement.

The story of the individual North-South and East-West teams was different. Although the same two top teams occupied the one-two positions here, it was the Delt team of Al Carpenter and Irv Krueger who walked away with the East-West honors and also the honors for highest score of all teams. They freshman year, Flossie wrote for the Campus and Literary Magazine. This year she is singing for Chapel Choir. She comes from Durham, N. C. and is concentrating in English at Allegheny.

George Strong, especially well known by the gals that eat in Brooks, is from Johnstown, Pa. He has served as pledge master, historian, social chairman, and vice president for Phi Delta Theta Fraternity. This year he is the treasurer of the Senior Class and is working in the Playshop. An economics major, George participated in the Washington Semester during his junior year.

Phi Delt Ray McCall is president of the Philo-Franklin Union and a member of A.U.C. and N.S.A. committees. Ray is from South Hill, Va., is an English major.

Charles Johnson, of Salt Lake City, is a history major and a member of the Phi Gamma Delta Fraternity. In his first year here he worked in the Playshop and played basketball and soccer. Last year Charlie was one of the juniors at the Washington Semester.

At present Mr. Frank Brooks is Professor of Biology at Cornell College, Iowa. He is a member of Sigma Xi, Phi Sigma, and Beta Beta Beta, all of which are scientific fraternities. Mr. Brooks graduated from Allegheny College in 1915.

posted a high score of 77. Phi Gamma Delta's Chuck Johnson and Bill Fairbank placed second in the East-West division with a score of 69½. Top North-South team was Jay Huff and Jim Phythyon of Phi Gamma Delta with 70 points, followed by Delts' "Red" Ketcham and Paul Berner with 68½. Mention should be made of the Sig East-West team of Rick Meyers and Vic Sandburg which posted a score of 64½, and of the Phi Psi North-South outfit consisting of Dick Wise and Dick Price, which ran up a score of 64. All other combinations fell under the 60 point mark.

The match point totals of all competing teams was as follows:

Phi Gamma Delta	16
Delta Tau Delta	15
Phi Kappa Psi	11½
Alpha Chi Rho	11
Sigma Alpha Epsilon	11
Theta Chi	10
Phi Delta Theta	9½

The judges for the tournament were Frank Prather, Lou Goldberg, Bill Mohney and Ed Boyer, all of Meadville.

LITTLE SYMPHONY

Vienna and studied there. At present he is first violinist in the Erie Philharmonic Orchestra.

The new organization will present a concert of chamber music during its first of a series of three programs. Spring holds plans for the second, while the third will be given during commencement. The Sinfonietta specializes in small orchestral works which are rarely performed.

Two early classical composers, one German romatic, and three modern writers contributed to the variety of tomorrow's program. First on the list is the "March from Scipio" by Handel, whose slow, stately, dignified style is pleasantly revealed.

The next number is Haydn's "Symphony in B Flat"—gay, youthful light-hearted, well-formed. This "lost" symphony, written about 1764, and not discovered again until 1911, has been arranged for the orchestra by Dr. Neurath.

Following intermission, two of Brahms' seldom-heard Hungarian dances (numbers 7 and 8) begin the second half of the concert, followed by Richard Strauss "Suite from Der Rosenkavalier." Next is a rhythmic, exciting modern selection from Gayne Suite. "Dance of the Rose Maidens" by Khachaturian (composer of the Saber Dance) lends zest to the entertainment.

To conclude the hour's concert the Sinfonietta will render Saint-Saen's "Francaise Militaire," a strong conventional finish for an evening of enjoyment.

Among those who form the orchestra are: Libby Townsend, concert mistress; Betty Hoff, Fred Hildebrande, Carolyn Wright, Ruth Wolf, Dorothy Smith, Linda Dowdell and Ellen Albright, violins; Helen Baumgartner, viola; Ralph Marion and David Walsh, cellos; Nova Pierce, flute; June Iben and John Baird, clarinets; Bertha Miller, bassoon; Lin-Jun-Ching, piano; Harry Marshall, horn; and Betty Kennedy, bass.

Fire Rules Studied

Fire Prevention Week will be observed by Allegheny women from Tuesday, December 7th to Friday, December 10th. Fire rules and regulations will be reviewed at the Tuesday housemeetings, while posters demonstrating fire-drill conduct will be posted on campus.

"EXPERIMENT" MEETING

On Friday, December 10, at 4:30 in room 210 Bentley, there will be a meeting for all members of the college interested in the "Experiment in International Living".

For seventeen summers the Experiment has been sending groups of American students to Europe and Latin America. The program for the summer of 1949 will be the chief topic for discussion at the meeting Friday. Everyone interested in a tangible approach to international understanding is invited to attend. Further details may be obtained from E. A. Sturley, 209 Bentley.
