Levitt Reviews Past Playshop Season; Praises Student Acting, Music, Maturity

by Monte Levitt

Among all the departments of study at Allegheny, the Speech and Dramatic Art Department holds a special place in student's hearts. For this is the department that presents a full season of student plays during the year as the Allegheny Playshop, and a professional repertory theater during the summer as the Penn Playhouse.

But in addition to the regular season of plays, the department also sponsors or aids other projects. The annual Foreign Languages Show in the Playshop this year put on several skits and dances in which the drama students and faculty lent a guiding hand. The picture shows two French students presenting Moliere's comedy Le Medecin Malgre Lui.

The first show of the past season was one in which many students, majoring in different subjects, eagerly participated; Of Thee I Sing (a musical comedy) provided ample opportunity for students to satisfy their hidden desires to appear on stage. Singers, dancers, chorus, and spectators, all had a chance to show their stuff. The show opened the season with a bang and a debate is still raging as to whether the audience or the cast had the most fun.

Jean Anouilh's Antigone and Christopher Fry's Sleep of Prisoners next placed the focus on philosophic ideas and beautiful dialogue. Sleep was performed in Ford Chapel as part of Religion-In-Life Week and the strange surrounding, along with dramatic lighting and sterling performances, created a memorable theatrical experience.

Shakespeare's Twelfth Night presented many difficulties to the department. Numerous sets and props were required; a large cast, as the picture shows, with many changes necessitated many hours making Elizabethian costumes; the large cast had to forget how they normally spoke, and practice the rhythm and meter of Shakespeare until it became second nature.

Just when everyone thought the Playshop had done its best, it outdid itself. Weeks in advance of opening, Dr. Neurath began rehearsals with members of Sinfonietta, Mr. North began coaching the singers, and Mr. Walton began pushing the cast to memorize their lines. Allegheny was undertaking a new experiment: a joint Music-Drama Department opera. Until the actual performances during Allegheny's Mozart Festival, no one knew how The Marriage of Figaro would be received. On opening night even the optimists in the cast were overwhelmed by the acclaim the opera received.

The Playshop has not yet revealed its schedule for its 28th season, but whatever it may be, there is every reason to expect an equally fine season—and perhaps even a better one—this year.

Exemption Tests Given Monday, September 24

Exemption Tests for G-courses will be given Monday, September 24 at 2:00 p.m. in the Counseling Center in Bentley Hall.

If a student is already proficient in the material covered in one of the G-courses, he may take an exemption test in this field. Passing the test exempts him from the requirement of the course, but does not give academic credit-hours. Tests are offered in September and March of each year.

G-Course Registration

A student who is considering one of these tests should first consult his adviser and the instructor in charge of the course, and then register for the test with Dr. Ross in Bentley 206. Following is a list of the courses and the instructor in charge of each.

G-1 Communication—Mr. Hultburt, Arter West Basement.

G-2 Organism and Environment—Mr. Bugbee, Alden 109.

G-4 The Physical World—Mr. Parsons, Alden 215.

G-5 Introduction to Literature—Mr. Seely, Arter K.

G-6 Introduction to the Arts—Mr. Heeschen, Ruter 302.

G-7 Ideas and Institutions of Western Society—Mr. Cares, Arter 103.

G-8 Problems of the Modern World—Mr. Merrick, Quigley 113.

G-9 The World of Values—Mr. Lindley, Arter F.

Preliminary Classes Planned For Freshmen

To help freshmen get acquainted with their teachers and give them a preliminary idea of college work, classes for freshmen only will be held Friday and Saturday, September 21 and 22.

Classes Friday will be held from 8 to 11:50 a.m. and 1:30 to 2:20 p.m. Classes are also scheduled from 8 to 11:50 a.m. on Saturday morning. They will be held at their regular times and places (see schedule card). Dean Ross believes it important for all freshmen to attend these meetings. If there is anything about the plans for the course which they do not understand, they are encouraged to ask the teacher about it.

Directly after classes on Friday, September 21, there will be sensory tests, library tours and musical tryouts held.

Classes for both freshmen and upperclassmen will begin Monday, September 24 at 8 a.m.

Band, Music Tryouts Held Orientation Week

All freshman eligible for the college band are to meet for tryouts on Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday (September 19, 20, 21) afternoons from 4 to 5:00 p.m. in the music building.

All girls interested in being majorettes are asked to be at the band meetings to try out. Men with any previous drum major experience who are interested should also attend this meeting.

Tryout times for Sinfonietta, Chapel Choir, Men's Glee Club and the Allegheny Singers are listed in the orientation program on page three of The Campus.

The Campus Delves Thru Bentley Files; Finds Plentiful Talent Among Freshmen

Possibly the most frightening aspect of Orientation Week is the mass of new faces around. The Campus hopes it may alleviate this situation by presenting some biographical information, gathered from the Class of '60 applications in Bentley Hall.

There are first, those students whose musical talents lie in singing. People like Rollin Smith of West Plains, Missouri, who sang in his high school's chorus and glee club, or Carol First of California, Pa. who was a member of her school's Girls' Chorus, Mixed Choir, Girl's Ensemble, Mixed Ensemble, Mixed Octet, and Church Choir, could swell the ranks of Allegheny's Chapel Choir or famed A Cappella choir, the Allegheny Singers.

Possible Campus Staffers!

Many students have been active on their school newspapers and yearbooks. Ann Jones, feature editor, William Faber, sports editor, and Ann Tannehill, among others, have worked for their school annuals and could continue their work on Allegheny's Kaldron. Donald Hansotte was photography editor for his newspaper, Robert Jones was news editor, and Nancy Force was co-editor, and they, along with all interested students, could find satisfying positions on The Campus.

Probably nothing enhances a football game as much as a marching band and if that's the case, Allegheny may expect more entertaining Saturday afternoons, for the class has the makings of a fine band. Most likely Solomon Loo of Honolulu, T.H. has had the most band experience; in addition to playing trombone and being captain and drum major of his school band, he had been assigned to the U.S. Army Band in Honolulu during his military career. Judith Rowell has not been favored with military training, but she has played in her school band and orchestra, has been selected for district and state band festivals, and has performed solo and ensemble at the Music Teachers' Convention in 1954. Judith hails from Pittsburgh and is proficient on the flute, piano, and piccolo. Another reed player is Elizabeth Miller of Williamsville, N.Y. In addition to playing the piano and organ, and performing with her school band and orchestra, she received a B rating on a Grade V clarinet solo at a NYSSMA Festival.

To fill out the horn section, Robert Edkin, who is adept at the Sousaphone, bass viol, and trumpet, has been a member of his school band and orchestra, as well as the Franklin, Pa. band.

Meadville Via S. Africa

Michael Malka-Boyle has carried his bugle a long way. A resident of Belleville, Cape, South Africa, he has been educated in Haifa, Israel (where he was born), East Orange, N.J., and Capetown, South Africa.

Various writing opportunities on The Campus range from general reporting, copy reading and advertising to sports reporting, make-up and feature writing.

Newcomers interested in joining our staff, and the present Campus staff are invited to an open house scheduled Sunday, September 23 at 2:00 in our second floor Cochran offices.

Orientation Week Begins September 16; Highlighted By Meetings, Tests, Picnic

The freshman class of 1960 is sure to be busier than bees during this year's Orientation Week festivities. Officially, Orientation Week will begin with a cafeteria luncheon for both parents and students at 12:30 Sunday afternoon, September 16.

Most of the mornings from September 17 through September 21 will be occupied with various examinations that are designed to explore the strengths and weaknesses of the desired vocational goals of the freshmen.

A majority of the evenings of the freshmen will be spent attending house and section meetings or in discussion groups with AUC (Allegheny Undergraduate Council) or AWS (Associated Women Students) representatives.

Tuesday afternoon, September 18, will be spent in a series of pre-professional or special interest meetings. These conferences will be held from 1:15 to 3:15 p.m. and a directory of meeting places will be furnished the freshmen by the individual faculty advisers or student counselors.

On Wednesday, September 19, registration conferences with faculty advisers are scheduled from 8:30 to 12:00 p.m. Thursday evening, the freshman men are to meet in Quigley Hall at 8:00 p.m. to get their class schedules. The freshman women are to pick up their schedules at the Registrar's Office at Bentley Hall immediately after the AWS coffee hour in Brooks Hall.

Freshmen Get Taste Of Allegheny Routine

Scheduled classes will be held for the freshmen on Friday 8:00-11:50 a.m. and 1:30-2:20 p.m. One of the main purposes of the classes is to give the class of '60 a taste of the Allegheny routine before the semester officially begins on the following Monday. Friday evening the College Union plays host to the class of '60 at the traditional "Whing Ding" party. This informal get-together is held so that the class of '60 may get to know each other better.

Saturday morning, September 22, regular classes will again be held for the freshmen, but a picnic at 1:30 p.m. serves to break up the day's routine. This highlight of Freshman Week will be held at Bousson, the college camping lodge. Rounding out Saturday's activities is an All-College dance at Brooks Hall with upperclassmen attending.

Orientation Week officially ends on Sunday, September 23, with Chapel Services at Ford Chapel. The service will be under the direction of the college Chaplain accompanied by music of the Chapel Choir.

A Message From President Pelletier

To the Class of 1960:

Welcome to Allegheny College. The faculty, the administration, and your upperclass colleagues are looking forward to meeting each of you and are, I am sure, anxious to be of assistance to you in any way possible. You will find this a friendly campus.

The next four years will be formative ones, and I trust that you will take full advantage of them. Your experience at Allegheny will depend directly upon you, your attitudes, motivation, and industry. If you so wish, you will make firm friendships, both with your fellow students and with members of the faculty, which will extend beyond graduation and throughout your life. If you accept the intellectual challenge of the College honestly and enthusiastically you will be at home with the best thought of men and women of all countries and all ages. If you are willing to assume the responsibilities of leadership, you will find a wide variety of activities, such as athletics, The Campus, The Playshop, The Singers and The Chapel Choir, a well-developed student government and many other organizations in various fields.

Again, welcome to Allegheny College. We are happy to have you as members of the college community.

Lawrence Pelletier
President, Allegheny College

Freedom, Community, Self Questioning; Stated AUC Definitions Of "Allegheny"

Dear Freshmen:

It is a pleasure to welcome you to the Allegheny student body. Your coming to Allegheny will bring many new experiences for both yourselves and the rest of the community, students and professors alike; and we are looking forward to our first year together.

A pertinent question is, what will Allegheny mean to you? This is a question that in the end, each of you has to answer for himself, but perhaps a few ideas will help.

First of all, Allegheny means freedom. This freedom is the freedom to be yourself, to find purposes that will give the most meaning to your own life. In this light, Allegheny also means questioning. Other people's answers about what your major and vocation should be and about what you should consider important in life, probably won't be good enough. On this campus, as on many others, the student questions in an effort to find his own answers.

Community is another meaning of Allegheny. You will find Allegheny a place where students and professors cooperate in learning, and where individuals feel a sense of responsibility to other members of the community.

Finally, Allegheny means student leadership. Under the coordination of the AUC, Allegheny students govern themselves in a manner which is unusual for American colleges.

There is much more that Allegheny means, but that which you will discover for yourselves is the most important meaning. I wish you the best of luck for a successful college career, and we on the AUC look forward to meeting and working together with you.

Art Blank
President, Allegheny
Undergraduate Council

AWS Sees New Freshman Women As Part Of Student Government

To the Class of 1960:

It seems only natural at this point to say "hello" from the Associated Women Students of Allegheny College. It is natural because all women who enter Allegheny automatically become members of this organization, whose title may sound a bit formidable at first, but whose abbreviation, AWS is a lot more relaxing. Because of the vital part this group plays in our college life, you'll be hearing the letters AWS as often as grill, AUC, or orientation.

We're proud of our women's student government because we as a group have made it what it is—a strong, flexible government founded on the wants and needs of all the women students. During the summer you woman students received a letter telling of this pride, and even more. We want to move ahead this year and give each individual the chance to use not only her knowledge of the rules, but her honor.

Although you have already heard these words many times, it makes this repetition no less sincere; "Welcome to Allegheny".

We're looking forward to the opportunity of getting to know you and of working with you. The four years ahead of you are important and worthwhile if you care to make them so.

Mary Alice Hanson
President, AWS

Freshmen Personalities

Judging by the recognition some members of the class have received, Allegheny's Sinfonietta had better add a few chairs. Ronald Watson of Cleveland was a member of a trombone quartet that won first place in '54, '55, and '56 in the Buckeye Boy's State Representative Instrumental Contest. Not to be outdone, Martha Skelly of Pampa, Tex. rated with a French horn solo in the University Interscholastic League for three years.

Overwhelming Talents

Still others in the class have felt right at home in the spotlight—on stage. Mary Taliak was a member of the National Thespians for three years, appeared in several school plays, took third place in the Ohio Speech League in Drama, and won a Best Thespian Award, and a trip to New York City—from the YWCA as the Best Actress of 1955. Brooklyn, New York is the home of Georgette Smith and she has made use of the City's facilities. Besides singing in several school vocal groups, Georgette has appeared in "The Vagabond King" and has been associated with the WNYE Radio shop.

When Does She Sleep?

Sally Hopkins should feel right at home at Allegheny; last summer she had the starring role in "Time Out For Ginger" at the Penn Playhouse. Despite her activities as editor of her school yearbook, playing her clarinet in the school band for four years, singing in the school chorus for three years, and being on the debate team for four years, Sally has found time to write a column for her local newspaper, appear in "The Happy Time", do radio and television work, and act for six years in the Student Theater of the Erie Playhouse.

Counseling Center Bids Welcome To Freshmen

According to studies carried out here, many students come to college lacking adequate study skills. Freshmen classes have reported that their most common problem was learning to study effectively. Working with students to develop better study habits is a function of the Counseling Center, which coordinates testing and faculty advising.

Dr. William P. Wharton, Director of Counseling, extends a welcome to students to drop in to the Counseling Center in Bentley Hall for help in study skills, vocational goals, or confidential problems of a personal nature. Last year 1,500 interviews were held with over 300 students from all classes.

Need Efficient Ways

Dr. Wharton stated in a recent interview: "The need for learning more efficient ways of coping with college studies is only natural. One soon finds that high school study 'was never like this.' How a student thinks through his notes, and how he ties together the ideas in his courses, play an important part in the grades he achieves."

Student Responsibility

"There is no charge for any of these services. We do not frequently call students in. They come in voluntarily on their own initiative. Allegheny treats students as adults who are capable of taking responsibility for their own work and expects them to take initiative in seeking out members of the faculty and staff for whatever help is needed."

New College Chaplain Holds Sunday Service

On Sunday, September 23, Chapel Service will be conducted under the direction of the new college Chaplain, accompanied by music of the Chapel Choir under the direction of W. S. Wright North.

The choir will sing the traditional Allegheny Chapel Invocation, "Grant Us To Do With Zeal" by Bach, and the anthems "Hear Thou My Prayer" by Arcadelt and "Praise Ye The Lord" by Christiansen."

A typical Campus office scene one night before the deadline. Conscientiousness and pride in one's work are definite virtues found in members of the Campus staff, some of which are seen preparing a last semester issue.

Opportunities Unlimited

In joining President Pelletier, AUC, AWS, and coach Moore, The Campus bids welcome to you, the class of 1960. This orientation issue of The Campus is intended to familiarize you both with the schedule for the week of September 16, and with some of the institutions and concepts present at Allegheny.

We of The Campus staff believe very firmly that our newspaper is one of the best opportunities for students to creatively release their extra energies and talents, that exists here at Allegheny. The staff joins me in offering you a sincere invitation to become part of our organization. Although the main concept of The Campus is to present the news objectively and accurately, our paper also is involved in an ever-continuing effort to stimulate thought of the student body about various campus issues. We all hope that you will soon realize that this is your paper and is expressly geared to presenting that which interests you. The Campus is willing to listen at any time to the comments that you may have about either the paper itself, or on a particular issue that has arisen on campus at that time.

The coming school year is sure to be, for most of you, a brand new way of life. It is expected that you should be a little hesitant and wary of the next few months. However, new avenues of thought and intellectual experience will be open to you, and it is up to you alone to take advantage of these opportunities and obtain as much of the "Allegheny way of life" as possible during your college career.

Remember, your college experience is not meant to be a matter of "spoon fed education". You will be subjected to large doses of subject matter that can't possibly be completely retained. Therefore, it is your obligation to yourself to attempt to tie together your educational experiences and enhance both your personality and character.

This is one of the foremost values that Allegheny can have for its student body. We are sure that if you keep this thought in mind during the next four years, Commencement Day, June 1960 will see as fine a group of Allegheny graduates as ever donned a cap and gown.

Lenny Kaplan, Editor

Football Spirit Shown In Big Squad Scheduled To Report For '56 Varsity

by Head Coach Red Moore

The best looking Allegheny College football squad in several years will start two weeks of pre-school practice on Monday morning, Sept. 10, in preparation for an attractive eight-game schedule.

Allegheny loses only two men, Don Barron, and Don McArdle, from last year's young squad. Barron, a halfback and McArdle, an end were co-captains.

Reporting with this year's varsity squad will be fifteen letter men, a number of players who saw considerable service in games last fall, and most of last year's undefeated Junior Varsity.

Additional strength will come from at least a dozen members of the freshman class who, in response to athletic questionnaires, have indicated a desire to play football. Not all athletic questionnaires have been returned at this writing and it is possible that other freshmen will be in uniform for the opening kickoff.

Coach Pleased

As coach, I was delighted to have nearly fifty men turn out for a spring football meeting to talk over plans for next fall. Allegheny does not have spring practice, but this indication of interest looks well for the coming season. The schedule opens September 29 when Hobart comes to College Field. The next Saturday we travel to Washington and Jefferson, and on October 13 play Oberlin for our Homecoming Game. The next week we appear at Grove City for their homecoming, then play Bethany and Thiel at College Field. The last two games, both away, are with Case Institute of Technology in Cleveland, and Dickinson College in Carlisle.

Valuable Freshmen

Allegheny football got a big lift last year from the freshman class, and if the class of 1960 produces a few men equally desirous of winning, the future can be bright. The class of '59 also gave a big lift to the cheering sections and I hope the class of '60 will be just as good in this respect.

Any coach likes to win games—but win, lose, or draw—it is good to work with the type of boy to whom Allegheny College appeals. We have had our share of bumps in the past, but we're definitely on the upgrade, and you're going to see some good, hard, interesting football next fall.
