Miss Ida M. Tarbell,
120 East 19th St.,
New York City.

Dear Miss Tarbell:

Thanks for your letter. I take it there is no doubt that more than one periodical of importance would be glad to have any matter that you might send them--The Tariff Review and others of that ilk excepted--and as the wool and sugar questions will be uppermost in hot debate in the present session, an article on wool would be especially timely and useful in view of the split in the protectionist ranks.

I will not burden you with material now, but as soon as you see a few cubic inches of daylight-saving time at your disposal for that piece of work, I should be glad to send you some useful data.

Meantime I call your attention to some interesting facts on the flexible tariff provisions and the lively summary of tariff methods from Time, which will reach you in a day or two.

With all good wishes and cordial appreciation,

Truly yours,

R. R. Bowker
