Miss Ida M. Tarbell,
120 East 19th Street,
New York City

Dear Miss Tarbell:

I hope you have not forgotten that when we were talking things over in that very interesting evening at Columbia you were then in a mood to see one or two specimens of our Yale University Press photoplays. We should like very much to have you do so and I hope, therefore, that you will not recant upon this subject. Any time when you have an hour or two vacant I will take great pleasure in arranging a private showing, and I trust that you will allow me to do so.

May I express again the great pleasure which all of us had listening to your extremely stimulating discussion of the gigantic problems of business history. There were several questions which I longed to put to you, but it seemed to me only fair to leave the field to those present who were definitely at work upon the subject.

Yours very sincerely,

William W. Stephens
