Dear Miss Tarbell;

In case, I should not see you before I leave this afternoon I want to tell you what a pleasure and a privilege it has been to meet you and to do your work for you, and I hope you will find the memo satisfactory.

At any time this summer a letter addressed to me at Atlantic Beach, Jacksonville, Fla., will reach me and I shall be indeed glad to do work for you at a future time, or as mentioned when I spoke to you this morning, to go with you on any trip as your secretary. I shouldn't mind the hardships at all, if there were any, which I doubt, and it would be the gratification of an ambition long desired to work with a person of such brilliant characteristics as I know you to be.

Again hoping that my services have been of some little service to you, and wishing you continued success in your chosen work, I remain,

Very sincerely yours,

Jan Miriam Carter
