

THERE'S A GIANT ON THE BEACH!

Gabby may make his trip around the Allegheny college campus next Monday catching many students off their guard. Lemuel Examinations, that biannual visitor, has been washed up on our shores by the sea of Time. We are afraid that Lemuel will stay here for his designated time, and not be drowned at the beginning as some pessimistic movie-goer shouted pathetically from the second balcony last week.

The only thing to do with our giant is to tie him down with a little hard study and dispatch him with the utmost expediency when his time is up. Those who have tried other methods are no longer with us, having been washed out to sea a bit prematurely.

"Allegheny," says a poster, "is recognized as a college of the highest grade."—may we add—because its students are of the highest grade. Momentarily we may forget our primary purpose of being in school. This, in our opinion, is not the moment we can afford to forget. The Campus is taking a vacation to study for exams. We recommend the practice to all.

NO ADRENALIN NEEDED—

Usually about this time of year every college newspaper flounces forth with a heart-rending appeal for "school spirit," and the "old college try." All upstanding youths and maidens are called upon to demonstrate their collegiate pep and vitality by supporting their basketball team. Vague references to the honor and pride of the institution being at stake are cited by exuberant editors, and the entire student body is hearkened unto in the name of everything tender and holy.

This slushy policy, we find, is not necessary here—no, not after Friday night's demonstration in Montgomery Gym.

If the victory over Rochester proved anything at all, it showed that there is nothing the matter with the school spirit of every Alleghenian.

After Friday night, it is needless to exhort further the student body of the college. The Rochester game has given Allegheny patriotism a shot in the arm—nay, a double dose.

DUTCH TREAT WEEK—

In spite of the uncertainty connected with the program of the recent Dutch Treat Week, the college seems to be in accord on one point—it was a success.

Three events stand out—fraternity open houses, sorority open rooms plus the usual Tea dance, and the Joe College All-College. These were all suggested, planned, and instituted by a committee from an advanced psychology course in accordance with an attempt to draw out Allegheny's wall-flowers. That goal was achieved. Not only the usual stay-at-homes ventured forth, but underclassmen met the upper level students in an atmosphere of informality which was much superior to an occasional formal tea. Last week's tea dance drew the largest crowd to date. We hope it's not too much of a rationalization to suggest that the dearth of women was due to the activity on Hulings fourth.

Saturday night's dance was by far the best attended and successful all-college radio party in some time.

The criticism of many is justified that the week was not well enough planned, that it lacked coordination, that no one knew just what were the real plans. But considering the short space of time for planning, and the complete lack of funds, we feel that the experiment was worth while, to say the least.

HULBURT GIVEN NEW APPOINTMENT

Mr. John William Hulburt, head of the drama department, was appointed executive secretary of the American Educational Theater Association at its annual meeting held in Chicago recently.

The association is made up of representatives of all the theaters in colleges and universities in the United States. About five hundred drama groups are represented in the group.

OBSERVANCE OF ANNIVERSARY BEGINS JUNE 10

MANY SPEAKERS TO PARTICIPATE; SERIES OF SPECIAL EVENTS

With the coming of the 125th anniversary year, President William P. Tolley recently outlined general plans for a commemorative program to be staged in June on the campus here.

Official observance of the anniversary of Allegheny's founding will cover a five-day period, beginning Thursday, June 10, with the annual commencement exercises, President Tolley said.

As broadly formulated by the anniversary committee, the celebration will include a series of special events, featuring dedications, an appropriate dramatization, and speaking programs of national interest.

Professional Forum.

One of the outstanding events of the commemoration will be held on "Forum and Dedication Day," June 7. It is a series of four panel discussions for medical men, ministers, teachers, and lawyers who have received their college education at Allegheny. Eminent professional men will lead the discussions.

Other speakers of national fame will participate in the significant observance, President Tolley said. The list of speakers will be announced later.

Philip M. Benjamin, assistant professor of English, is chairman of the committee in Allegheny's June observance.

CONTEST BEGUN TO GIVE NAME TO SWING BAND

Winner Announced At Block 'A' Club Dance February 16th

Swing music is definitely not on the down-grade! Evidence of this is the recent formation of a band, a real, honest-to-goodness swing band, with every "sender" in it a student of Allegheny. This musical progeny is scheduled to play in the near future for none other than the Block A club dance which tops off Varsity Day, February 16.

With every position carefully picked, the new band leaves little to be desired, but there is one thing—a name, and that is for you to decide. The swingsters are 100 per cent Allegheny and now Allegheny herself will name them!

All that is necessary to join the name contest is to write your choice, together with your own name, on a slip of paper and either give it to one of the band members or send it to the Campus office. On the night of the Block A dance the winner will be announced.

LIT MAGAZINE WILL APPEAR ON JANUARY 19

Articles Feature Polls Recently Taken in Chapel

The second issue of The Literary Magazine will appear on January 19.

Featured in this issue will be several articles of campus interest, growing out of the recent polls taken in Assembly. Stuart Schaffner, '42, will give the results of the recent poll concerning what the students of Allegheny think of religion. An analysis of the Allegheny Institute of Public Opinion will be written by Jean Megahan, '41.

There will be an article on Finland by Dave Robertson, '41, who was a visitor in that country this past summer. The Critics' Nest for this edition will be written by Ruth Pratt Beller, '39.

Other features will be the faculty sketch of Professor S. S. Swartley, Professor of English and faculty advisor of the magazine, the book review, an article on Carl Sandburg, written by James Schultz, '41, and a cover design by Dorothy Jean Konstanzer, '42.

Some fiction and poetry will appear in the magazine as usual. There will be five issues this year, including a special commencement issue.

APPLEYARD REPORTS ON CONFERENCE

DELEGATES ALLOWED TO SPEAK WITHOUT RESTRICTION

"Canada is taking the business of war with Germany very calmly and intelligently," were the words of Robert Appleyard, '40, who, as a representative of the National Council of Methodist youth, recently attended the week-long conference of the World Youth Mission of Christianity at the University of Toronto, when questioned about his trip.

Despite the fact that his first impression of the country came to him from a recruiting sign emblazoned, "Enlist Today—Men Wanted to Serve Their Country," and that he saw soldiers everywhere in Toronto, center of the newly instituted training program which is feeding pilots to England for war against Germany. Mr. Appleyard emphasized that there "is nowhere any evidence of hysteria on the part of the people in the combat against the German nation. The Canadian youth have taken the stand that their duty to their country is to help it by first getting their education before recklessly rushing into the ranks." He added that the Canadian army opposes suppression of liberties, not solely the Hitler regime.

He was surprised at the fact that, in spite of the war and government control of speech forced by it, delegates to the conference were under no restriction and were allowed to speak their minds at will on any subject.

Also, he was led to believe that the coming election will have a lot to do with determining Canada's future policy in regard to the struggle. If the liberals in power now are able to hold the reins again, the policy will likely continue to be that of voluntary

CAMPAIGN BANQUET HELD IN PITTSBURGH

Attorney Moorhead Was Toastmaster; Three Speakers

Keynoted by Bishop Adna Wright Leonard's assertion that "the college needs the church, and the church needs the college," a dinner last week in Hotel Schenley launched the Pittsburgh observance of the college's one hundred twenty-fifth anniversary year.

One hundred twenty-five Pittsburgh district friends of the pioneering Meadville school heard the Methodist Bishop sound a stirring plea for financial support of the privately-endowed Christian college with the words, "In a day in which we need both education and religion, colleges like Allegheny should be cherished . . . and strengthened to the utmost for the generations to come."

He warned, "Education without religion will drive a nation to despair."

President Tolley said that Allegheny, with a third of its student body and alumni from the Pittsburgh area, is primarily a Pittsburgh school, and

PHOTOGRAPHIC CONTEST FOR SENIORS

Two Career Prizes Offered By Vogue; Also Other Prizes

Editors of Vogue Magazine have just announced a photographic contest for seniors in American colleges and universities.

The contest offers two career prizes, one for men and one for women, consisting of a six months' apprenticeship, with salary, in the Conde Nast studios with the possibility of a permanent position on completion of the period of apprenticeship. In addition, eight cash prizes and honorable mentions will be awarded.

"In our search for new talent," said Mrs. Chase, Editor-in-chief of Vogue, "it is natural for Vogue to turn to the colleges, where there is a keen interest in photography and a background in the arts well able to produce the type of photographer suited to our editorial requirements. We believe that among the student body of our American colleges there are many promising photographers. It is our purpose to discover them through this contest."

The cause of good photography has, for many years, been a tradition of the Conde Nast studios, publishers of Vogue, House and Garden, and other leading magazines. Among the out-

A. U. C. APPOINTS COMMITTEE TO PLAN REVISIONS

Members of the liaison committee, chosen from the student body to work with a similar committee of faculty members, were announced at a recent meeting of the Allegheny Undergraduate council, by Charles Miller, president of the organization.

The two committees, working together, will discuss and formulate plans for college curriculum revisions.

Four seniors who were named on the committee are Velma Zwilling, Robert Wright, Jack Megahan, and Bill Mohney. Alice David and David Robertson are to represent the junior class, and Dale Byers is to represent the sophomores.

The committee will be of a somewhat

Senator Nye Active In United States Senate Since 1925

Program Sponsored By Philo-Franklin Union; Nye Editor of Newspapers

Senator Gerald P. Nye of North Dakota will speak in Ford chapel Monday evening, February 26, it was announced recently by Mr. Charles Irvin, spokesman for Philo-Franklin, forensic group that is sponsoring the program.

"We are lucky to get a man as prominent as Senator Nye, who is, if not the best, one of the outstanding speakers in the Senate," said Mr. Irvin in making the announcement. He added that the presentation "should serve to stimulate peoples' political thinking in preparation for the Mock Convention which is scheduled for May."

Senator Nye has been active in the United States Senate since 1925 and will be remembered as the instigator of the recent munitions investigation conducted in Washington. Only a few days ago he has declared himself behind Senator Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan, Republican possibility for the presidential nomination this year.

Before entering politics, Nye was affiliated for fourteen years with various newspapers, beginning his career as publisher of the Hortonville (Wis.) Review in 1911. Four years later he became manager and editor of the Daily Plain Dealer, Creston, Iowa; then moved to North Dakota and purchased the Fryburg Pioneer. He later settled in Cooperstown, N. D., and became editor and manager of the Griggs Company Sentinel-Courier, at which post he remained until he was appointed to the United States Senate in 1925 to fill a vacancy caused by the death of one of the congressmen. He was elected in 1926 and again in 1932, coming up for reelection this year.

Active in the negotiations which were successful in bringing Nye to

WOOD GIVES DIALECT READINGS

Edgar Wood, '40, of the Speakers' Bureau, gave dialect readings in Monday Chapel, after several announcements by Dr. C. L. Ross.

The readings, in rhyme, consisted of a French-Canadian's description of a football game, a Southern dandy's disgust with his lazy son, foreign opinions of the Statue of Liberty, containing varied dialects, "Guiseppi on Golf", and "Italian's Views on the Labor Question".

A Co-ed's Counteraction For The Disadvantages of Snow

I love snow. Snow is beautiful and a lot of fun except sometimes. Snow has three disadvantages. In the first place it is possible to make snowballs out of it. And last, but definitely not least, it possesses that discouraging quality known as slipperiness.

Each of these disadvantages has a counteraction, just as does everything else. In my humble opinion none of these is satisfactory but until the real thing comes along they'll have to do.

The coldness of snow may be shut out by wearing a sufficient number of clothes. Say five or six sweaters, four or five pairs of socks and other things in direct proportion. This accomplishes the end, I must admit, but what it does to one's figure is little less than disastrous. It is practically impossible to be warm and beautiful at the same time. Actual experience has taught me. These lightweight snow suits which are so popular now, may be flattering but they are about as warm as an unlighted fire.

It is possible to keep dry in snow. The simplest way to do so is to wear a raincoat, rubber boots, and stay on your feet. This added burden of clothing adds greatly to the padded look which you have already acquired and makes the total poundage considerable.

To avoid being snowballed it would be necessary to creep around via all the deserted paths in order to avoid all the juveniles who indulge in this pastime. This solution is not only difficult but practically impossible, since the above mentioned haunt every inch of the campus. It is therefore necessary to find a more practical solution. This would involve donning a mask similar to that worn by the catcher on a baseball team and a set of pads like those which a hockey goalie uses.

If you are still able to move about under this staggering protection, we will consider the defenses against falling on the slippery snow and ice. By following all the above directions almost all danger of injury is removed since stuffing is sufficient to withstand almost anything. But a fall is not only awkward but does definite things to your dignity. The best solution I have found is to carry, at all times, two ski poles with extra sharp points. Never carry books when walking on ice. They disrupt your balance and if you should, of course this is very impracticable after following my directions, but if you should fall, they have a miraculous way of taking wings and gathering up great quantities of snow.

I believe that by following all these directions to the last detail it is possible to avoid all the hazards which snow presents. If you are dissatisfied with them there is but one alternative—stay in bed and wait for Spring.

Why the M.U.C.?

Many undergraduates ask the question—Why do we have a Men's Undergraduate Council—what good does it do? Well, to tell the truth, it doesn't do a lot, not because it doesn't want to, but because no one believes it can do anything. The Inter-Fraternity council on this campus has never had a chance. It was brought into this world to accomplish one thing—that is to provide for and govern the rushing among men's social fraternities.

With this accomplishment as a foundation, it has tried to achieve more but it has been utterly impossible. There has been very little cooperation from the undergraduate body.

In other colleges such an organization is highly respected by all, and is a vital element in the daily life of every student. It provides a general efficiency cup for the best all-around fraternity, awarded by the faculty on a competition basis; it provides national fraternity officers as guest speakers at interfraternity gatherings; it manages one big social event of the school year, such as a beauty contest, a dance, or Sadie Hawkins Day, and probably its most important function would be the raising of all fraternities in the minds of the American people. By this, it means fostering better interfraternity relations, working with the college administrations on scholarship, and promoting beneficial aids to help the incoming and matriculating student become a better American citizen.

Our M.U.C. has as its ambition the accomplishment of the aims of a true interfraternity council and I hope that our student body will in every way endeavor to support, whole heartedly, such a program.

Is the End So Near?

One of the most prominent features appearing in the weekly picture magazines this last fall, has been the depiction of fraternity and sorority life on American college campuses. These magazines have presented a colorful picture of such life and they are enjoyed by the undergraduate.

But although hard to believe, this type of publicity is very harmful to college fraternities and sororities. What do you think Mrs. Jones' last word is to her son as he leaves on the 8:15 for Northern University? Why the answer is obvious, "Don't join one of those horrible fraternal orders at school. All they do is dance and play cards."

As a result of this adverse publicity, an Independent Student organization is spreading rapidly throughout the country with alarming increase in en-

CRAIG ROOM HOUR LED BY MR. FISHER LAST SUNDAY

Mr. Joseph L. Fisher spoke last Sunday afternoon in the third of the Craig room reading series. His discussion dealt with the poetry of Robert P. Tristram Coffin.

Bowdoin College, Brunswick, Maine, brought Mr. Fisher and Robert Coffin together, one as student and the other as teacher. Before Coffin's writing career began he was a Rhodes Scholar and a teacher at Wells College. Since 1935 he has been both a teacher and a writer at his alma mater, Bowdoin.

The regional movement today has penetrated poetry as well as art through men such as Coffin and Robert Frost whom Coffin acknowledges as his master, Mr. Fisher remarked. Maine and its sea coast country is the locale of Coffin's writings.

The next program will feature a discussion of contemporary French fiction by Mr. Armen Kalfayan, Sunday, February 11, in the Craig Room at 3:30 p. m.

G. Herbert Smith, General Secretary of Beta Theta Pi, in an address at the recent Interfraternity conference, said that in fifteen years the fraternities will be extinct in American college life unless something is done about changing the present attitude of the American mothers and fathers. And the next thing that must be done, he mentioned, is to stop all adverse publicity on fraternity life.

Therefore, charge all your fraternity men and women to aid in trying to stop any such publicity making the headlines.

Calling All Schools

TULANE: Rhythm was seen in a new light on this campus since the school hired a teacher to instruct the cheer-leading boys how to inject 'five' into their vocal and physical gymnastics.

PRINCETON: The lowly freshman was definitely put in his place when hazing returned with a vengeance. Reason for the recall of the "give-em-hell" campaign was that the first-year men were getting out of hand and actually making the sophs bite the dust. Latest reports are that the freshmen are as meek as an alumnus after a round of Homecoming affairs.

MISSOURI: One of the most popular groups at the present time is "The Thank God It's Friday Club" which was organized by journalism student George Hilton. Meeting date is Friday nights, of course, to celebrate the ending of another week's grind. Plans formulating to make it national.

WILLIAMS: Stealing a march on New York City's attempt to make movies in the east, an embryo motion picture industry grows as the school prepares a cavalcade filmization of four years at Williams.

GEORGIA: Thanks to a cooperative idea, a group of Georgia coeds cut their living expenses in half compared to the money they spent last year.

BROWN: Don't be surprised if when listening to your radio one of these evenings you hear an announcer say, "This is the National Collegiate Radio System." For here at Brown, there is (continued on page 4)

BENJAMIN GUEST OF HONOR FOR JUNIOR BANQUET

Mr. Philip M. Benjamin of the English department addressed 90 members of the junior class at their annual banquet in the Kepler hotel January 5.

Mr. Benjamin discussed the subject of leisure, contrasting the hectic activities of the impending few weeks of college with the quiet leisure of the vacation period just past. He spiced his address with short readings from Robert Frost, Thomas Carlyle, Rufus Jones, and other writers.

The speaker was introduced by George Evert, president of the class, who acted as the toastmaster for the affair. The singing of college and fraternity songs, led by Lee Knoll at the piano, brought the program to a close.

The committee in charge was composed of Ruth Ellen Blake, Georgia Seitz, Annamary Adams, and Gail Burkett. Miss Virginia Boyd, women's physical education instructor, was a guest.

BIT BY BIT

CEILING ZERO.

Hulings third back became horribly concerned . . . to the point of a PRAYER MEETING over one Walter K. Maloney—about to zoom off on his first solo-flight last Saturday. The quivering congregation got to the bible verse and then backed out, a little petrified, fearing he might really take a nose dive.

Some soul heard the girls chanting at a thanksgiving service Sunday night!! Why Walter emerged from the afternoon's spin in ONE WHOLE PIECE!!

BUBBLE-DOUBLE.

A running season on open houses put Bob Shane and Fred Lichtenfels in the social mood—inviting a few choice friends to a strictly formal open house from 7 a. m. to 8 a. m. last Sunday. Admission fee a paltry $5 to cover costs of champagne, caviar, and anchoives. Bob shuddered when Howard Gibbs threatened to call at 7 a. m. to say he couldn't possibly make it!

Freshman women couldn't slight their ego by not playing this little open house game—so their round came Friday eve after the basketball game. Tokens at the various houses included iced tea punch and hot cocoa. Tarbell guests played vanishing acts with Ludie's cigarettes!

ZOO BITS.

A poor wigglin' slimy little snake turned Hulings dining room into a bedlam of feminine squeals a few meals ago—until a callous soul lifted him out of the mob. Mickey Hand looked innocent as sin during the whole affair??

Have you noticed the lockets in the air! Just for fun here's a freshman matching test and anyone getting 100—doesn't get one.

1. Juanita Strock () Jim Gilmore.
2. Mary Myers () Larry McClusky.
3. Peggy Williams () Red (?) the Cleveland.
4. Pat Patterson () Bill Barner.
5. Ruth Gilmore () Schneck.

Any implications are purely incidental and lots of fun! Anyone omitted is NOT intentional.

LOUSY AND WE DO MEAN—

Ruth Brace is ANGER—y these days—so report the wives twix Hammett and the Phi Delt mansion.

Jean Swan is G(r)UBBING in a new field now!

Ruthie Gelbach is PAULing the air after a certain Dutch Treat Week episode.

Winkler thinks Ann is AL(b)right! Chess Pepper found that Salisbury wasn't merely a steak, Saturday night.

The Outing Club played an important part in last week's activities, with a group of students going to Bousson to ski the day before classes started.

An all-college outing on Thursday attracted many students to the cabin. These outings will be held whenever possible as long as the ideal skiing and skating weather lasts.

JOHE TO GIVE ORGAN RECITAL

Mr. Edward Johe, instructor in piano and organ here, will present an organ recital Tuesday before the Bradford Music Teachers' Association in the Church of the Ascension, Bradford. The band will practice next February 13, in the gym.

The phonograph series will continue at the same times: Monday, 7:00, Wednesday, 8:30.

GILBERT CHAPEL SPEAKER ON JANUARY 8

Dr. W. Gilbert, former Alleghenian and a present professor of theology at Drew University, was the chapel speaker of Monday, January 8.

Professor Gilbert, who has recently toured the continent, delivered his address upon the superiority of the United States economically, culturally and spiritually. He particularly stressed the strong spiritual feeling prevalent in the United States, and to it he attributes a large part of our success as a nation.

He further pointed out the reasons why Japan, India, and Palestine have never become world-wide powers. "Despite Japan's intention of being a nation of destiny in the Eastern hemisphere, as is Britain in the Western hemisphere, it can never succeed as it lacks one thing—an irrepressible spiritual faith."

In conclusion Dr. Gilbert expressed his gratification upon being an American, as he stated, "we have more culture, higher standards, and live better."

OUTING CLUB

Allegheny Outing Club can at last assume the role of a fond parent. Four members of the club, Alice David, Peg McDowell, Bruce Campbell, and 'Bucco' Miner went to a house warming of the Grove City Club over this weekend. Our club has been instrumental in helping Grove City organize, and in giving suggestions and help for plans for a new cabin which has been completed at last.

Dr. Kettler, President of the college, Miss Post of the Physical Education Department and Dr. Case, an enthusiastic sponsor from the faculty, gave short welcome and invitational speeches in the ceremony.

A treasure hunt was one of the high spots of the visit, and some of our Alleghenians were among the first to reach the golden store of candy bars.

An initiation service in which 11 new members were added to the club was also included in the program of events.

Plans for the Winter Carnival have now been completed as far as organization goes. Action, and I do mean ACTION, is now the next step to be taken. All members and Healers are urged and expected to cooperate for the interest of the club at large.

Deck tennis is coming along much more rapidly and cooperation in playing games promptly is appreciated.

Badminton will soon be winging its way into the program soon so get into practice for the tournament.

There was a fairly good turn-out last week for the Dutch Treat week swim but it could be improved upon. It's an easy way to a good figure gals and say, boys, don't be shy. Let's see if we can't improve the attendance on the mixed swimming evenings from now on.

Rochester 45—Allegheny 21.

The powerful University of Rochester tankers easily defeated the inexperienced and depleted 'Gator swimmers here last Friday, 45-21.

Allegheny was only able to corner one first, that being in the 440 yard free style, when our teams of Lichtenfels, Caldwell, Brandt and Burrows edged the Rochester combine by a very narrow margin.

Two pool records, those of the 220 and 440 yard free style, were broken by Rochester. In the 210, Parske, by finishing half a lap ahead of Ed Marvel, smashed the pool record by five seconds. Decker created a new mark in the 440 when he defeated Marvel by a full lap.

Slippery Rock 52—Allegheny 13.

The Allegheny swimmers were swamped Wednesday down at Slippery Rock by a lopsided 53-13 count.

The Rockets classy aggregation had firsts in every event and seconds in three. Point winners for the 'Gators were Marvel and Lichtenfels, each with a second and a third, Knight with a second, and Brandt with a third, and Burrows with a third.

Allegheny, handicapped by injuries and a small squad, could not cope with the balanced power of the Rockets.

THIEL BEATEN BY 58-32 SCORE

The Allegheny cagers easily won their third game of the season last Tuesday night at Thiel by a lopsided score of 58-32.

Despite the heavy Allegheny scoring, play at points was sloppy and rough. Frequent fouls and the slippery Thiel floor slowed down play considerably.

'GATORS SHOW FIGHT IN WIN

Faloon, Hart Each Make 16; Allegheny Only Behind Twice

By GEORGE JOHNSON

In what deserves to be ranked as one of the biggest upsets of the year Allegheny College defeated the powerful University of Rochester basketball team Friday night by a 43-42 score. Rochester, boasting a string of 15 straight victories, defeated only once in its last 28 games, and widely acclaimed as a basketball power of national importance, found itself edged out by the crusading 'Gators who out-fought them for 40 torrid minutes.

Over 1100 frenzied fans packed Montgomery gym to see the Rochester machine humbled by an unsung, virtually unknown team, that seemed undaunted by the impressive Rochester record which showed recent victories over Dartmouth, Eastern Intercollegiate League Champion, and Michigan, last year's Big Ten Champion.

From the initial tipoff till the crack of the final gun the Allegheny team played with an intense singleness of purpose that never relaxed.

Only three times during the game were the 'Gators behind, and each of those three different times they showed score to 10-4 at which point Rochester asked for time out.

After that disastrous third quarter which showed Rochester ringing up 17 points to our 8, the 'Gators put a halt to the threatening Rochester rally. After Faloon and Alex Hart shoved Allegheny back into the lead at 33-31 an enforced calm occasioned by the ill-timed breaking of the Rochester basket set in and lasted for over 15 minutes. With play under way again, Alex Hart scored twice while Faloon was picking up another double-decker on a perfectly executed cross court pass from Gratz. Ahead at 39-32 with less than 5 minutes to play the 'Gators were checked by a scoring attack that tied the game at 39-39, and only a minute to go.

Faloon took a rebound shot off the boards to send the 'Gators ahead 41-39, and Hart followed this up with two more points.

Rochester raised their tally by three points on a foul by Lord and a goal by Roberts.

This ended the scoring; however, Rochester frenziedly took shot after shot at the Allegheny basket during the closing seconds.

Lawrence Pleased

Coach K. J. Lawrence, whose fine coaching was quite apparent in Friday night's victory, had this to say about the game:

"Rochester was a large, fast and smart team which used a set form of play both on offense and defense. Before the game I figured we had a fifty-fifty chance of winning in a hard fought game. The teams were very evenly matched. Our speed upset their height and weight advantage. The team deserves a lot of credit for their fine brand of play."

Sideline Slants

Above the cheers and screams of the fans on the sidelines could be heard a hoarse and excited "Move it, move it, move it." This was Cagney Karl's way of cheering the boys on, and for two hours after the game was over he allegedly roamed around in a daze, still muttering "move it, move it."

Brickley's homicidal instincts came out when he took a shot at Collett, Rochester ace. Brick was a poor marksman, however, for the intended victim came back to score 13 points, and almost ran the 'Gators ragged.

"Cubby" Miller and "Lew" Davies are trying vainly to collect 40 cents an hour for the time they put in on the basket-changing maneuvers during the game.

Coach Karl J. Lawrence, in an exclusive interview with a Campus reporter, tersely commented "No dice!" to the demands of Messrs. Miller and Davies.

Mr. Ray Smock, Republican Chairman of Crawford County and Mr. Dickson Andrews were guests at Phi Gamma Delta Monday evening for dinner and an informal discussion afterward.

added, "It touches the life of Pittsburgh at a thousand points."

Andrew W. Robertson, chairman of Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company and chairman of Allegheny's board of trustees, called independent colleges "cases of clear-thinking" and singled out the Allegheny educational program as "equal to anything of its kind in America."

Attorney Forest G. Moorhead, of Beaver, was toastmaster.

About $477,000 in five-year subscriptions has been raised thus far, Dr. Tolley said, principally in Meadville and northwestern Pennsylvania.

Fifteen Allegheny trustees residing in the Pittsburgh area are taking an active part in the financial appeal. They are Charles A. Brooks, of Pittsburgh; Elias Ritts, of Butler; Mr. Robertson, Bishop Leonard, honorary chairman of the campaign.

Other Allegheny trustees in this area are W. Stewart Horner, Frank R. Frost, John G. Klingensmith, Albert T. Morgan, Herbert A. Baum, A. D. P. Miller, and Albert Curry, all of Pittsburgh; John M. Helmstadter, of McKeesport; Forest G. Moorhead, of Beaver; John D. VanHorn, of Beaver Falls, and William A. Womer, of New Castle.

enlistment, while if the conservatives being closely bound to the mother country gain control, the country will soon adopt conscription.

Mr. Appleyard was one of some ten students from the United States at the meeting which drew members from fourteen other countries besides the North American nations.

The group had for an aim making Youth conscious of the meaning of Christianity in other parts of the world. Such Christian figures as T. Z. Koo, leader among the Chinese, John Bennett, standout professor of missions at Pacific Theological School, Henry P. Van Dusen, Dean of famous Union Theological Seminary, and others were present and added their views to those of the delegates.

Also present at the conference, and doing his bid to make Christianity world wide, was ex-professor Hermodka of Prague University, now guest professor at Princeton, who fled when Czechoslovakia was annexed to Germany.

Among the other impressions Mr. Appleyard gleaned from his trip were memories of the New Year's Eve service at Hart Hall, in which fourteen languages and an 150 person choir were parts of the service, memories of the otherwise raucous New Years celebrations, memories of the brown sugar he saw gradually replacing the white, and memories of the powerful faith of the visiting foreigners in Christianity.

standing artists who helped to create this tradition are Baron de Meyer, Edward Strelchen, Charles Sheeler, Anton Bruehl, Ralph Steiner, George Hoyningen-Huene, Lusha Nelson, Cecil Beaton, John Rawlings, Andre Durst, Roger Schall, Horst, and Toni Frisell. Many of them achieved much of their finest working collaboration with the London, Paris, and New York studios of the Conde Nast Publications. The opportunity to work in these same studios, to acquire the technical and artistic knowledge essential to a career in photography, is now being offered to the winners of Vogue's photographic contest.

The contest will be composed of a series of eight photographic problems to be presented in the magazine. These will cover a wide range of topics, including outdoor and indoor shots, action, still life, etc. Winners of the contest will join Vogue's New York staff on or about June 15th.
