

My dear Miss Tarbell, —

You wanted to know when I read all these papers personally? I have found that I get the most done in the least time by spending one solid day a week from opening till closing, at the Public Library, and doing the papers that are sent to me from the New France and other private sources after regular hours. It goes faster than you would think, if you've been an exchange editor.

M. L. Becker.
