RECORDS BROKEN

Three contest records were broken in the June segment of the Genesee Fishing contest in Pennsylvania.

The State-wide contest, sponsored by the Genesee Brewing Co., Inc., awards over $5,000 in cash prizes and trophies for the largest fish caught in 12 classifications between April and October.

Ken Asper, Shippensburg, who set a new mark in the Brook Trout division last month, entered a 9 lb. 5 oz. Largemouth Bass, which eclipsed the old record in that division by nearly 3/4 of a pound.

Walter Alleman, also of Shippensburg, set a new record in the Bluegill Competition with an entry of 2 lbs. 5 oz., and John R. Bishop, Sr., Allentown, broke a contest record for Black & White Crappies with his entry of 2 lbs. 12 oz., breaking the old mark by 5 ounces. Bishop also won first place in the Pickerel division with an entry of 4 lbs. 10 oz. caught in Lake Wallenpaupack.

Other first place winners were Robert W. Zelno, Peckville, Smallmouth Bass, 4 lbs. 8 1/2 oz; Robert W. Steele, Beaver Falls, Muskalonge, 30 lbs.; David A. Morrow, Erie, Yellow Perch, 1 lb. 12 oz. and Charles McNeal, Johnstown, Northern Pike, 12 lbs. 12 oz.

Also, Dr. Charles W. Johns, Erie, Walleyed Pike, 8 lbs. 5 oz.; Helen Clark, Portland, Brook Trout, 3 lbs. 8 oz.; Warren Beckwith, Lookout, Brown Trout, 10 lbs. 12 oz.; and John D. Newton, Warren, Rainbow Trout, 9 lbs. 7 oz.

ASHISH KHAN

World Pacific artist Ashish Khan will be appearing at Allegheny College, Ford Memorial Chapel on November 16th, 1968.

Ashish Khan was born into the great musical tradition of India.

Khan, who was born in 1939 at Maihar, India, began to study music with his grandfather, Padmabhushan Ustad Allauddin Khan, at the age of six. He has also studied with his uncle, Ravi Shankar, and his father Ali Akbar Khan.

Khan, who plays both sarod and sitar, made his first public performance in 1953 when he did Sarod duets with his grandfather on an All India Radio National Program. He has appeared with his grandfather and father at the Tansen Music Conference and accompanied his father at the East-West Music Encounter in Japan.

Ashish Khan is one of the youngest music directors and composers in Indian film history. He composed and directed the music for Tapan Sinha's award winning film, "Jatu Griha."

In early 1967, Khan toured Southeast Asia in concert and joined his father on the music faculty of the A.S.E.A. Summer School where he taught sarod and sitar.

He signed an exclusive recording contract with World Pacific Records in August, 1967.

While in Hollywood Khan appeared at the Hollywood Bowl at the Festival of Indian Music and played a duet with his father to a standing ovation.

His first World Pacific release was "Young Master Of The Sarod" which was part of the Sounds of Asia release.

The liner notes for the album were written by Ravi Shankar's pupil, George Harrison of the Beatles, who heard Khan in a private concert in Hollywood.

Harrison was amazed by what he heard and added his endorsement to the "Young Master Of The Sarod," Ashish Khan.
