

OLD BENTLEY'S BELL HERALDS ANOTHER SPLENDID VICTORY

On the Occasion of Oberlin's Defeat on Saturday Night. The Score was 33 to 16.

Ohio Boys Came Fresh From Big Victories—Played a Rough Game—Allegheny's Men Brought Honor to Themselves and to Their College.

Flushed with their victory over West Point the night before the Oberlin college basketball team arrived in Meadville Saturday, fully determined to "put it over" the Allegheny five. But, "the best laid plans of mice and men gang aft aglee," for Allegheny not only defeated Oberlin, but did it in a manner that left no doubt as to the result. The final score was 33-16.

The game was delayed until nine o'clock as a courtesy to the visitors. With the ball in play the contest was furious. Oberlin introduced new tactics compelling the Allegheny five to play on their metal throughout. Close guarding made the game rough; the one objectionable feature being deliberate fouling.

The game started off with a rush and for a few minutes it looked as though Allegheny had met her match. Oberlin scored the first point of the game on a foul thrown by Waters. After about 10 minutes of play the score was 5-5. Then Allegheny got busy and made things lively. The score at the end of the first half stood 13-5 in favor of Allegheny.

The second half started off with a rush, and aside from Oberlin's spurt during the last few minutes of play, was a repetition of the first half. The game ended 33-16 in Allegheny's favor.

For Allegheny Baker at left forward was the bright star. His floor work has rarely been surpassed and he shot from any place on the floor, caging seven baskets in all. Perry at guard did excellent work and but for his efficient guarding Oberlin's score might have been much larger. Capt. Giesey showed his cool head and generalship in the gentlemanly manner he played his opponent. Waters used foot ball tactics the entire game, several times tackling his man in regulation fashion. Once he deliberately kicked the ball in a "spoiled child's" outburst. Morrison and Most played brilliant basket ball for Oberlin.

Following is the lineup of the two teams:

Allegheny—33.	Oberlin—16.
Maxwell R. F. Smith	Baker L. F. Most (Capt)
Giesey (Capt) ... C. Waters	King R. G. Morrison
Perry-Stockton L. G. Ward	Field goals—Baker 7, Giesey 5, Maxwell 3, Smith 1 Most 1, Morrison 3.	Fouls—Giesey 3, Waters 6.

SENIOR-SOPHOMORE'S SUMPTUOUS SYMPOSIUM

HELD ON FRIDAY EVENING AT CONNEAUT LAKE.

Classes Completely Eluded Their Enemies—Special Train Takes Them to Their Destination—Roundabout Return Made—A Good Fight at the Hall.

For the last two weeks there has been an atmosphere of subdued excitement hovering about the college campus and it burst forth in full vigor Friday night in the Senior-Sophomore banquet. Immediately after chapel Friday morning word was quietly passed around among the Seniors and Sophs that every member of the two classes should be at the Bessemer depot at 6:45 p. m. There a special train awaited the crowd, which was conveyed to the Thomas Inn at Conneaut Lake. About 18 of the class were left behind, of whom about a dozen were girls. The girls had met at the home of one of their number and failed to get away, due to the vigilance of some of the more chicken-hearted Juniors and Freshmen, who preferred keeping guard over the female contingent to engaging the husky men-folks of the Senior-Soph contingent.

The male element of the left-overs dug down into their "jeans" and hired a sleigh in which they were driven across country to the Inn, arriving at 9:20, just as the banquet was at its height. Their arrival was greeted with cheers by the banqueters.

After dinner had been served, toasts were given by members of both classes and the party left the lake at 10 p. m. According to previous arrangement the train was stopped about a mile below Kerttown, where the party was met by four large bob-sleds. In these the crowd was conveyed through Kerttown, Fredericksburg and Vallonia, coming into Meadville across the Race street bridge, up Glenwood avenue, down Baldwin and up Prospect. All along the route no resistance had been offered by the Junior-Freshman aggregation, but when the corner of Prospect street and Park avenue was reached the Junior-Freshman bunch was lined up ready for business.

The Seniors and Sophs came on with the girls in their midst and as they came by the corner those in front were plastered in the eyes, nose, ears and body by bags of flour, thrown by the Junior-Fresh crowd. Those in the front rank of the Senior-Sophs charged the Junior-Fresh, each man picking out an opponent. In a few minutes the ground was covered with white forms busily engaged in taking cracks at whoever happened to be in under. While about a dozen of the Senior-Soph bunch engaged the enemy, the remainder escorted the girls to the side door of Hullings hall where the doors were found to be locked. These soon yielded under pressure and the girls were safely tucked away. All this while the flour bags could be heard merrily bursting as they landed on the anatomy of some Senior-Soph, and when the battle was called off, the Senior-Sophs had everything their

CAPTURED JAMES A. WAKEFIELD PRIZE.

His Oration, Entitled "Japan, the New Nation," was Presented with Exceptional Ability.

Last Tues. evening in Ford Mem. chapel was held the annual contest for the James A. Wakefield oration prize of $50. The contest was one of the best in years and was the means of bringing to the front a brilliant array of oratorical ability. There were seven contestants last evening. State's New Athletic Field.

It now seems to be definitely settled that Penn. State is to have one of the most up to date athletic fields in the country. A level 18 acre tract of ground has been allotted for the purpose and three separate buildings are contemplated; track house, gymnasium and base ball cage. An outdoor swimming pool will also be provided and there will be opportunities for foot ball, base ball, lacrosse, tennis and out door basket ball. The present legislature will be asked for the necessary funds.

BISHOP HARRIS NOW IN JAPAN

SAILED FROM SAN FRANCISCO.

On January 17—Visited Roosevelt and Carries Letter of Introduction to U. S. Ambassador.

Bishop M. C. Harris, who so ably lectured to us a short time ago on the "Future of Japan," sailed from San Francisco on the steamer Coptic, Thursday, January 17, and is now in the field of his missionary activity. Bishop Harris had planned to sail some time before but business in the east caused him to postpone his departure.

While in the city of Washington, Bishop Harris accompanied by Bishop Earl Cranston, also of the M. E. church, called at the White House and was accorded an interview with President Roosevelt. The president placed in his hands a personal letter addressed to the Hon. Luke E. Wright, the United States Ambassador at Tokyo.

The Banquet.

It has been several years since Old Allegheny has seen a more wholesome lark, than was enjoyed by the two classes that banqueted at Conneaut Lake. There was not a hitch in the whole proceeding. The plan of both factions worked with a "snappy precision that was a mechanical delight."

We greet the revival of this traditional affair with gladness. It makes us believe that none of the old time spirit is lost though it is manifest a little less frequently than formerly. The memory of the flight, the jolly banquet room, the roundabout return, the battle and the penalty will make up a part of Allegheny lore for years to come. The little Peterkin of the future will listen to the story of the grey haired grandfather and be duly impressed with the fact that

'Twas a floury victory.

Poor!

Rumor has it that one of the classes has discussed in open meeting the advisability of cutting the banquet of Friday evening. It seems hardly possible that such was really the case. If true, however, and if such a thing should be carried out it would be the poorest possible demonstration that could be made.

Let us not forget in a temporary fit of wrath, that it is our duty to root for all things that the old college sanctions. The college spirit that pretends it is a college spirit, and "lets on" that it is college spirit, and then openly talks about boycotting an affair that is sanctioned by time honored custom—why, the thought of the thing is such that we have barked our shins on our own sharp feelings and the rest of our editorial is the "hottest kind of language hove mainly" at the class in question.

own way. Aside from the wasting of about a half barrel of good flour no damage was done.

After the Senior-Soph girls were gotten into the hall, the bunch went to the rescue of the girls who had been left behind and who had remained captors down town. They were safely gotten in, the only incident of the trip being the mauling of a Freshman who butted into the gang. Everything was out and over at midnight and the utmost good feeling prevailed between the classes during the fight, which was easily a victory for the Senior-Soph bunch.

The town girls of the banqueting party were being safely tucked away at the hall for the night when they were summoned to the lower hall, where two burly representatives of the majesty of the law waited to conduct them to their homes.

The following toast list was rendered, F. L. Labounty, '07, acting as toastmaster:

"Lights of the Campus"—Planette, '09.

"Our Enemies"—F. P. Miller, '07.

"Just Before the Battle, Mother"—McKinney, '09.

"The Faculty and the Banquet"—F. Stockton, '07.

MISS MABEL DEANE SEES ERUPTION

OF VOLCANO IN HAWAII.

Writes Letter to Her Father and Tells of Thrilling Experience.

The following description of a volcano in action was written by Miss Mabel Deane, class of '06. Miss Deane graduated from college last year and is now teaching in Honolulu. The letter is addressed to her father under the date of Jan. 21 and is in part as follows:

"Since I last wrote you I have seen a real volcano in action. Perhaps you have read in the papers of the lava flows from the sides of Mokuawewe and Mauna Kea, in Hawaii. Well, an excursion went down Saturday morning returning this morning. I didn't decide to go until Saturday morning. Several of the Oahu teachers were on board, and as I knew all of them it made the trip fine. When the sun set at night you could see that there was a good deal of smoke in the air, it looked like a ball of fire. After dinner we all went to bed rather early and the next thing I heard was the whistle of the steamer about midnight. I got up to see what was doing and stayed up. About an hour later we could see a red glare in the sky and as we went further along the red became more and more brilliant, and we could see the smoke with it. Soon after we began to see small red patches along the side of the mountain.

"When morning came the small boats were let down and we climbed down a ladder on a rocky point and had to climb a cliff which was almost straight up and down. Then we walked over lava beds, pahoehoe lava, the smoother formation. We walked up for about three miles on this, and then we came to a wide strip of lava, the rough kind, sharp and pointed. When we got across that we struck some smoother patches and finally got to the real flow. You know how a heap of coal looks when you shovel some from underneath and the rest rolls down. Well, the flow looked much like that, only, of course, they were big rocks—and they would break out from the side and come down in a molten stream of bright red and then grow cooler as they reached the bottom. Sometimes an immense boulder would come down and break into red fragments as it fell. It was perfectly wonderful."

"We went around on the side and found a place where we could get up on top. From there we could see the whole mass moving and hear it crunching. I wish I could describe it. Then we went around on the other side again and watched proceedings. Finally we decided that it was time to start on our 5 mile jaunt to the sea. On the way down we investigated a cave of lava which was formed in 1887. We started back on the steamer at 4 p. m. yesterday and got here this morning about 9 o'clock. I certainly had a splendid time and felt that I had seen something worth seeing."

THE MUSEUM

Below is given a short description of some of the collections which are housed in the college museum on the first floor of Ruter hall, and in the biological laboratory on the first floor of the same building. Both of these are open to the public on Saturdays from 1 to 3 in the afternoon.

Large casts of a turtle shell, Mega-therium (a huge extinct sloth) and of Glyptodon (an armadillo-like animal) occupy the central part of the museum. The originals of these casts are found in the museum of the Asiatic Society of Bengal, the British Museum in London, and in the museum at Dijon, France, respectively.
The large cast over the entrance represents a small Plesiosaur, extinct, reptiles which rivaled our whales in size. The remainder of the paleontological collection, containing many originals as well as casts, is placed about the room and in the wall cases at the end of the room opposite the entrance. Among the interesting specimens are the skull of an Ichthyosaurus, a mastodon tusk, and mastodon and mammoth teeth.

The moose and the Virginia deer were placed in the museum through the kindness of M. B. L. Singley.
The most valuable collection in the room is the Alger collection of minerals which occupies most of the cases along the side walls. These minerals were purchased for the college by Mr. C. V. Culver in 1864, at a cost of $17,000, a figure which does not represent their full value. Many of the specimens are valuable and very beautiful.

There are three cases of shells which include representatives of many of the 21,000 species of these forms.

The zoological collection, which includes species selected from all of the branches of the animal kingdom, is placed in cases in the biological lecture room on the third floor. These are arranged in a series beginning with the simplest animals such as sponges and corals and ending with the birds and the mammals.

During the past year, an attempt has been made to establish and maintain aquaria in the large laboratory on this floor. The salt water aquaria which were established just before the Christmas holidays are still thriving and contain living barnacles, coral, horse shoe crabs, and fiddler crabs may be added to this collection during the next week or 10 days. Fresh water animals and plants of various kinds are kept in the other aquaria.

Bacteriological examinations of water and milk are in progress in the smaller laboratories most of the time and present many features of interest to every one. Every one is invited to come and see them.

REV. L. H. BUGBEE IS HONORED

WITH THE DEGREE OF DOCTOR OF DIVINITY.

Brief Sketch of His Career and Word of Congratulation From the Students.

At the last semi-annual meeting of the Board of Trustees of Grove City college the degree of Doctor of Divinity was given to Rev. Lucius H. Bugbee, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church. For the past six years Rev. Mr. Bugbee has served the Stone Church and he has won a warm place in the hearts of the students of the college. No previous pastor, to his time, served the church more than three years and never has it been in a more flourishing condition than at the present time. In no other church do the students receive a more hearty welcome and feel more at home than in his.

Not only is Rev. Mr. Bugbee vitally connected with the college, but also was his father, Dr. Lucius H. Bugbee.
From the presidency of the Cincinnati Wesleyan college, Dr. Bugbee came to Meadville in 1875 to fill the president's chair of Allegheny, vacated by Dr. George Loomis. For seven years he was president of the college and improved the institution along many lines. His administration was cut short by poor health and in the spring of 1882 he was compelled to resign. At his death our college lost one of its best presidents and promoters. Dr. Bugbee's health continued to fail and in the spring of 1883 he died at Evanston, Ill.

For several years Mrs. Dr. Bugbee made her home in Evanston, where her son was prepared to enter college.
In 1893 he went to Boston to enter the Boston University college of Liberal Arts. While here he became acquainted with "our" Dr. Knudson and for some time roomed in the same hall. After receiving the degree of Bachelor of Arts, Mr. Bugbee owing to illness was compelled to give up the plan and rest for a year.

In 1898 he joined the Erie Conference and has been connected with it ever since except for about two years. These were spent in the university of Chicago, where he received the degree of Master of Arts, and in travel and study in Europe.

Rev. Mr. Bugbee appreciates the recent recognition of Grove City college not merely because of his own acquaintance with its president, Dr.
Isaac C. Ketter, but also from the fact that he was a warm friend of his father, who laid the corner stone of the first building of that college.
With Grove City college, the students of Allegheny and all his friends in Meadville take great delight in the recent honor bestowed upon him.

LIBRARY NOTES.

New Books. Four books in the series published by Eaton and Mains, called Modern Poets and Christian teachings: Browning, by F. C. Lockwood; Lowell by William A. Quayle; Arnold by James Main Dixon; and Gilder, Markham and Sill by David G. Downey; The Memoirs of Marie Antoinette by Madame Campan and State Rights and Political Parties in North Carolina—1876-1861, by Dr.
Wagstaff are recent additions to the Library; the latter is one of the Johns Hopkins studies of 1906.

The beginning of the new semester is a good time to start the reading habit and the Library never had a more attractive or a larger number of magazines and dailies to offer the students.

The Jan.-Feb. Methodist Review prints a timely article on Longfellow's Service to American Culture by Dr. Lockwood. The Longfellow centennial will be celebrated Feb. 27 all over the United States.

"Cleveland, a City with Ideals" by Hon. Frederick C. Howe is an interesting discussion by an Allegheny alumnus in the Feb. number of the Times Magazine.

Miss Tarbell's story, "He Knew Lincoln," is published in the Feb. Mc-Clures.

Two articles entitled "Are Our Colleges Doing Their Work?" and "The Standing of a College Professor" serve as an introduction to a series to be published soon by the World's Work. These will be of value to prospective as well as to actual teachers.

The publishers of Success have given the Library a year's subscription to their magazine.

The 37th Annual Report of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society for 1905-6 will be of interest to the Mission Study Class.

Stanford University of Los Angeles, Cal., will compete for the international base ball championship next May with Waseda University, Tokio, Japan. This will probably be the longest intercollegiate base ball trip in history.
