New York City.

Dear Miss Tarbell:

In reading an article entitled "Occupational Instruction in Accident Prevention" by Dr. Kurt Seesemann in the July-August 1929 issue of "Industrial Safety Survey" of the International Labour Office, I noted on Page 104 a discussion of what the author calls "instinct." He gives two cases and devotes a column to discussing them.

I thought you would be interested in this. I am sorry that we do not have an extra copy of the magazine or I would send it on to you.

With kindest regards,

Sincerely yours,

Lewis DeBlas
