Sinfonietta's Annual Christmas Concert To Feature Dr. Steen and Chapel Choir

The Eighth Annual Christmas concert of the Allegheny Sinfonietta will be held in Ford Chapel on Thursday, December 8. As it has been customary during the past few years, the Allegheny Chapel Choir will be featured in the second half of the program. Chorus and orchestra will perform jointly in "Three Carols" by Peter Warlock.

"This year's concert will be unusual in several respects", said Dr. Herbert Neurath, founder and conductor of the college orchestra. "First of all, we have a much larger orchestra than in the past. We will appear with thirty-eight musicians on the stage. Six Meadville musicians joined the Sinfonietta last spring, and we are happy to have them with us."

In addition Dr. Neurath noted how gratifying it is to see the wives of three of Allegheny's staff and faculty members among the players. He said, "They all, together with our students, contribute to give the college a fine orchestra — the only one in this region, among the schools of higher learning."

Steen To Be Soloist

Dr. Frederick Steen, the secretary of the faculty and professor of mathematics, will be soloist with the Sinfonietta in the December 8 concert. Dr. Steen's instrument is the marimba, and he will perform on it in "Intermezzo From Harry Jamos" by Zoltan Kodaly.

This composition requires, in its orchestration, a climalon, a Hungarian instrument which is found chiefly in gypsy orchestras but which is not available here. Dr. Steen will play the part, which is absolutely essential, on his marimba. This will be Dr. Steen's debut as a musician according to Dr. Neurath.

Library, English Department Display Original "John Brown" Score, Papers

The original score of "John Brown's Body," most popular Civil War song written in 1861, and a first edition of the "Battle Hymn of the Republic," accompanied by an autograph of Julia Ward Howe is on exhibit in Reis Library. The English department and the librarian, Philip M. Benjamin, have chosen forty items from the Stutler collection to place on display in the Library till December 10. The Exhibit is in the Craig Room and the main reading room of the library. Professor Benjamin has arranged this display for the English department and the freshmen, who are studying Stephen Vincent Benet's John Brown's Body in G-5 classes.

Other interesting items include John Brown's first letter to his wife after the raid at Harper's Ferry and a letter written by him to Jeremiah Brown the night before his execution. There are poems written by the English poet, John Drinkwater, and a sturdy defense of John Brown written by Victor Hugo.

The Exhibit also includes the deeds for the land John Brown purchased in 1825 and 1831 at New Richmond in Crawford County, where he lived for a longer time than any other place in his life. Some of the most interesting items from his collection of over 7,000 items dealing with John Brown and his times have been loaned to the college by Mr. Boyd B. Stutler of Charleston, West Virginia. He is the most distinguished authority on John Brown living today and a friend of Reis Library.

Delts Study Bigotry; Form Investigative Unit

An all-out student campaign against discriminatory practices of the national Delta Tau Delta fraternity has been announced by the local Delt chapter. An investigation committee headed by Doug Bedell has recently been created with the avowed purpose of "Seeking out all public and private opinion which can be presented as evidence that the Delta Tau Delta discrimination clause should be dropped."

The Bedell committee was formed as a result of the recent feud between the Delt national archchapter and the local on campus over local membership policies. The local Delt fraternity house on Highland Avenue was closed at the beginning of the present semester as a result of the anti-semitic feelings of the national organization toward the admission of a Jewish student as a social member in the local chapter.

Two Members in Dispute

The Jewish student's membership in the Delt chapter was in direct conflict with the national's discrimination policy. In addition, the national organization disputed the social membership of a transfer student who had previously been a member of another national fraternity.

The local Delt house was reopened after influential alumni brought Branch Rickey, former general manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates, on to the scene to mediate a settlement of the rift. Within a few days after the closing, Delt activities were back in their house, having pledged to the national arch chapter that they would no longer continue the practice of offering social memberships to students excluded by the national constitution.

June Convention is Target

Chairman Bedell has announced that the Delt's campaign against the anti-semitic clause in the national constitution will meet its acid test at the Delt convention in Huston, Texas, next June.

The College Union in Cochran Hall is the scene of many enjoyable, informal hours where students and faculty can meet in a friendly atmosphere.

College Union Board Formulates Plans For Filling Position Vacated By Luce

by Maureen Mills

Plans have been formulated for the hiring of a new College Union Director to fill the post vacated by Jim Luce. Students on the Union board will participate in the screening of director candidates.

To date this fall the Union board—composed of faculty members Dean Charles McCracken, Miss Mildred Ludwig, Mr. William Cooper, and Mr. James Smoot and student members Virginia Ward, Carol Anderson, George Palmer, Don Skinner, Bill Foley, and Larry Griggs—has been left in the position of doing its usual committee work, plus co-ordinating and organizing C.U. activities.

Pre-Med Meeting

There will be a brief, but very important meeting of all pre-medical undergraduates Monday evening, November 21st, at 8:30 p.m., in Henderson Auditorium, Quigley Hall.

Attendance is required. Absence, unexcused by the Chairman, will remove your name from the Committee's list of pre-medical students.

In the present set-up each board member is putting in additional hours each week in an attempt to carry out the work that would ordinarily be administered by the C.U. director. Luce had resigned the post in August, giving inadequate time to secure a new graduate assistant.

Informal, Spontaneous Activities

The purpose of the Union has been to fill a need for informal, spontaneous activities on campus. The board would like to perpetuate an atmosphere at the C.U. in which anyone, with dates or stag, will want to spend their leisure time.

Another aim of the board is to develop a cultural center, where the Union would provide a place for recognition of student artistic talent. The board also hopes to promote better student-faculty relations through informal discussions and conversations at the Union. Better relations between freshmen and upperclass students would be furthered through the use of recreational and meeting facilities.

Many and Varied Projects

The activities of the Union in the past have been numerous and varied. As noted in the C.U. board fall report this year, in 1954 the Union promoted art exhibits, lecture-discussions by guest speakers and faculty, dinners, dances, informal songfests, post-game and post-exam relaxation hours, a blood donor program, book exchange, recreational programs, and other activities.

Clerical and publicity services which were utilized by students and faculty alike were furnished by the (Continued on page 5)

Needs and Deeds

We hope that the College Union Board and the President will secure a permanent, full-time director for the College Union.

The Union has grown in size and scope during the past five years. We need a permanent director to efficiently operate the Union and to insure its continued growth.

Here are some examples of services provided by the College Union. It is a meeting place for A.U.C., Socrates Club, and many other organizations. Last year close to 300 meetings were held in the Union. The Information Desk answered over 70 calls a week, the Clerical Center processed over 521 items, and the Lost and Found services were well used.

The Union conducted nine art displays in conjunction with the art department; some thirty parties or dances were held in the Union, not including cider and doughnut parties after games, "Mourners Corners," etc.

While there is constant use of the Union's facilities, we have not begun to use the Union fully. Any organization, department, or group that is sponsoring an event may use the C.U. In addition to providing comfortable rooms, the Union has a portable refrigerator and a coffee cart for refreshments. These facilities are available to the whole campus. If you or your group want to hold a meeting, a concert, or schedule a speaker, then you can use the Union. For some events, the Union will help defray expenses.

Often a person gets an idea for some project that he is interested in, and one he feels would be of interest to the college. Many of these ideas never get beyond the discussion stage because you feel that their realization on campus would cost too much, would be impractical, and that there would be no place to hold the event. And here is where the Union can help him by providing facilities, possible funds, and an organization that can bring what was once a passing suggestion of worth into an event of interest to the college.

We must not think of the Union as something purely social, for the Union is and can provide a valuable center for out-of-class learning. The educational experiences become more meaningful when a small group, meeting in an informal atmosphere, can pursue a topic free from restraints. The Union provides such an atmosphere, and many people are fully using its facilities. We hope that faculty and students will find even more opportunities to meet and plan events in the College Union.

The Union can increase its services if it secures a full-time, permanent director. The student-faculty Union Board and the two student Union directors have done a commendable job of running the Union. But the Union Board has neither the time nor the personnel to efficiently operate the Union and extend the Union's services. The Board has made a strong recommendation that the Union have a full-time, permanent director. We hope that A.U.C. and other groups will go on record and give their support to the Board's recommendation.

Pins 'n Sins

What a weekend! Theta Chis, Theta Chis, and more Theta Chis! Let's do that more than once a year, huh guys? Everybody ought to get into that art. And fathers galore! The Alpha Chis, Kappas, Thetas, Phi Gams, and Phi Psis attempted to entertain their dads, but it seems as though we offsprings were more entertained than they. Overheard frequently at different parties during the weekend: "I love my wife, but oh you kid!" Yes sir, that's my daddy.

Football manager George Palmer says: "I've found that the best way to keep enthusiastic players from running onto the field is to tackle them." John Arcuri says: "Yeah man!"

Mimi Boarts and Frank Baker (Grove City) are pinned, and senior Jean Erickson is engaged. The lucky fellow is Lou Stevens. Congratulations and best wishes to both couples.

And what's all this about you, Brutus?

We understand that the final touch was put on Bill Bowser's lunch the other day in the form of mushroom soup—right over the head! The courageous offender was Rick Meese. (Oh, Rick-horse, you really must have been upset!)

And believe it or not, that's all the gossip for this week. Placing our college careers in jeopardy, we suggest that you all be quite scandalous over Thanksgiving vacation. The Editor would be so pleased if we turned in a full column for a change.

Faculty Profile

"I feel that more good can be done for the aspiring actor or actress in a college education than in a professional school of acting," says Mr. John Tillinghast, new teacher in the dramatics department. He continues, "the salvation of the theatre will be a college education."

Mr. Tillinghast comes from Elmira, N.Y., and was in the Army from 1945-1947, leaving as a Master Sergeant. In 1947 he entered Ithaca College and received his B.S. degree in 1951. Then he went to Yale for three years and obtained his Master's degree with the stipulation that any time he wished to, he could return to Yale for a year more to get his doctorate. He teaches Drama 8, acting, Speech 4, voice and diction, Speech 6, and oral interpretation.

At the beginning of last winter, Mr. Tillinghast did television work for CBS and NBC in New York. He appeared on such television programs as Omnibus, You Are There and the Philco Playhouse. At the end of last winter, he also directed a pageant in Florida called, "Florida Aflame". This movie short subject has been played in theatres all over the country.

While at Ithaca College, Mr. Tillinghast worked on the school paper and the yearbook. During his junior year there, he was elected as President of the Student Council for his senior year. He is interested in football and baseball and directed last week's presentation of "The Heiress" at the Allegheny Playshop. He also does summer stock work at Cape Cod.

Upon inquiring about Allegheny with his friends before he came here, Mr. Tillinghast heard that Allegheny had an excellent rating. Allegheny was also highly recommended to him by Phil Wiseman, a former graduate of Allegheny who was in some of Mr. Tillinghast's classes at Yale. Another reason for coming here was that Mr. Tillinghast was very much impressed by the academic ratings of Allegheny.

Students, Faculty, Administration Evaluate General Education Seminar

by Bob Silberfarb

Allegheny College is introducing a seminar course in General Education. This program began with a pilot course in 1953 when a committee, consisting of faculty and administration members of Allegheny, submitted a report that evaluated the General Education program. In this report, the following statement was to be found: "We want to know, and we think the student has both a right and obligation to know these things:

1. How the student's education has changed him as a person.
2. To what degree the student is aware of himself in relation to the key problems of society facing him.
3. His habits of seeking information with which to face these problems and his habits of applying information to working solutions.
4. His awareness of value standards in the world about him and the reasons which lead him to conform to or vary from these standards . . ."

Seminar Advised

It was decided by the committee that a way of finding out these points by both the students and faculty members, was a lightly structured seminar as an adult experience and as a practical answer to the committee's questions concerning the effects that the various courses have on the students. Student self-appraisal was to be of prime importance; any decision concerning the nature of the curriculum would come from inferences made by experienced teachers acting as observers of the seminar. According to Doctor Pino, who was chairman of the committee that evaluated the seminar, "It seemed evident that curriculum and teaching are effective only insofar as they can be reflected in changes in the student."

The program began in September 1953, and since then two seminar groups have met each semester. Each seminar consisted of eight to ten students with two faculty members selected from different divisions. Student involvement is high, as reports from students and counselors indicate that seminar discussions do not end with groups but are extended into the dormitories and fraternity houses. When the seminar discusses a live topic, the pros and cons of it spread widely.

Group Meets Weekly

The seminars or groups are formed with due respect to a rough balance of abilities, interests and personalities in each of the sections formed. The group meets once a week, usually in a faculty home, for a three hour evening session. The seminar is to be run completely by the students and intervention from faculty members will occur only when absolutely necessary. It is the students who select a topic for discussion, being responsible to the group for preparation, readings, etc.

The student is not faced with answering specific questions which he has already been doing in college, but with formulating the questions from the topic and collecting and evaluating the multitude of solutions which have been suggested in literature and in contemporary thought. According to the report that the committee submitted last February, "A student who can handle the seminar situation is one that any school would be proud to claim."

Davenney, Loesser Play At Ford Chapel Tonight

The Public Events and Assembly Committee will present pianists Ward Davenney and Arthur Loesser in a concert of music for two pianos tonight at 8:15, in Ford Chapel. The admission for the concert is free.

Tonight's artists are both associated with the Cleveland Institute of Music. Mr. Davenney is the new director of the institution, while Mr. Loesser heads its piano department. Both artists have had a wide experience as concertizing pianists and as music educators. They will perform Mozart's Concerto for two pianos next spring, as soloists with the Cleveland Orchestra.

The following program will be offered tonight:

Sonata for two pianos, in D major, K 448—W. A. Mozart.

Selections from "Liedeslieder" Waltzes—Johannes Brahms.

Two Movements from Suite for Two Pianos—Beryl Rubinstein.

Variations on a Theme by Beethoven—Camille Saint Saens.

A coffee hour, to be given after the concert in the Pine Room of Brooks Hall, will provide an opportunity for students, faculty and townspeople to meet the artists. The two musicians are scheduled to perform as soloists with the Cleveland Orchestra next spring. Their Cleveland presentation will be Mozart's Concerto for Two Pianos.

Pre-Registration Starts For Second Semester

Mrs. Leila Parsons, college registrar, has announced that pre-registration for second semester will be conducted through December 14. A fine of $10 will be charged for failure to complete pre-registration the December 14 date.

Every student should make an appointment with his advisor for a conference immediately, and before this takes place, should make out a tentative schedule on a pre-registration slip. After the conference, signatures must be obtained from the instructor of all courses except year courses now in progress and courses numbered 1. The following 1 courses will require signatures: Music 1, Reading Guidance 1, and Speech 1.

This slip must be returned to your adviser for his signature immediately after you have obtained the necessary signatures. Then the slip should be turned in to the Registrar's Office.

Allegheny Attends NSA Meeting In Pittsburgh

Last Saturday six Allegheny students attended a sub-regional meeting of the NSA in Pittsburgh. The main topic of the meeting was "Student Government in Action." Also, at this meeting final plans were discussed for the regional convention, to be held here December 2, 3, and 4.

The Allegheny delegation to the convention consisted of Carol Laughlin, Lynn Crandall, Jack Mandell, Frank Spaulding, Read Katzemann, and Tom Jones. Dean McCracken also attended the convention and with Dean Allen of Chatham College assisted in discussions.

Problems Discussed

The delegates used the material obtained in the AUC retreat held at Bousson November 2 as a guide for the discussions. This material showed how Allegheny felt about the problems which were discussed. The meeting provided answers for the delegation and a better realization of what Allegheny has in student government, according to an NSA representative.

The problems discussed under the main topic "Student Government in Action" were student self-discipline and honor system, student representation, apathy of students and the college curriculum.

Delegates Meet Here

Delegates from 20 colleges in Pennsylvania and West Virginia will be on campus for the December meeting. The main topic of discussion here will be "Student Government—Necessary or Tolerated." The sub-topics to be used are administration, foreign student policy, discrimination, judicial court and honor system, and curriculum.

Gene Preston, the vice-president of National Affairs for NSA, from Philadelphia, will be present for the meeting.

Erie Railroad Reveals Group Economy Fares

R. J. O'Grady, ticket agent for Erie Railroad here, has announced round-trip coach class fares Meadville to New York City from November 22 to November 28. Individual fare is $31.35 and 25 party fare for group going together and returning individually is $22.61 making a savings of $8.74—this fare is good on Erie Train No. 6 only, departing Meadville at 8:46 p.m., Tuesday. All persons interested should contact Bill Regan in the C.U. by Monday, November 21.

The Group Economy Fare for groups of three or more persons, traveling together on both the going and return trip, saves 25% of fare. This fare is available to all destinations East of Chicago and North of Washington and Cincinnati located more than 100 miles from Meadville. Tickets should be picked up before 8:00 p.m., Tuesday.

McCracken Notes AUC Improvements; Self Government Responsibility Matures

by Marilyn Bennett

The trend toward increasing student self-government and responsibility at Allegheny was emphasized in a recent annual report by Dean McCracken of the Student Personnel Office.

"Student acceptance and carrying out of responsibility for self-government . . . has matured considerably during the past two years." The Dean pointed out that the AUC has succeeded in becoming a central governing group and has made significant improvement in the financial management of the activity chest fund.

SCM Group Discusses Acceptance of Christ

by Kathie Gage

Approximately 35 representatives from Behrend Center, Westminster, Slippery Rock, Grove City, Clarion, Edinboro, and Allegheny met at Bousson last weekend for the fall District VI Conference of the Student Christian Movement. The purpose of the conference, whose theme was "But Now I Am . . . ?" was to give the student representatives an opportunity to realize for themselves how to "maturely accept Christ" and take these ideas back to their respective colleges.

Saturday's activities began with a get-acquainted period, after which Mr. Robert Clemmer, assistant history professor, spoke on "Christianity, the Religion of Maturity." In his speech, Mr. Clemmer explained the importance of the Incarnation, Good Friday, Easter, and Pentecost in the life of a Christian.

Civil Liberties Discussion

At the business meeting held Sunday morning Dick Ridenour gave a brief report on the ecumenical movement as discussed in a recent SCM conference he attended at Wesleyan Seminary. Gay Wilmore of the SCM staff in Philadelphia, spoke on civil liberties—a Christian concern emphasized by SCM. These include racial discrimination, and academic freedom. The civil liberties committee, he reported, will set up pilot programs on college campuses to aid the settling of these questions.

Later in the morning, the group divided into four different interest sections, entitled 1) Membership in SCM, 2) Program ideas, 3) A Christian place in the social life of the campus, and 4) Bible study on the campus. The main speaker on Sunday was Garauld Wilmore of the SCM staff. His speech emphasized the importance of SCM on the campus.

During the sessions freshman Gretchen Weinandy was selected Allegheny's representative to the district committee.

In the area of discipline and conduct he noted a decrease in the number of student violations. The trend toward responsible conduct has been brought about, McCracken felt, by the inclusion of students in the disciplinary court, and by clarification of faculty and administration expectations.

Student Responsibility

Student resident counselors, he reported, serve as fine examples for leadership and responsibility to the freshmen. "It is interesting to note that year in and year out our entire freshman class government has been set up within two weeks after the freshman set foot on campus."

The Dean also noted a trend toward self-government in the individual fraternities and interfraternity conferences on campus. This trend has "culminated in the development of an honor code for rushing and the establishment of a president's council and in a more responsible IFC than we have had previously." Through help from the personnel office and the auditor's office, financial management in the fraternities has greatly improved; however, an emergency situation in unsafe and uneconomical housing conditions was recognized.

Student-Faculty Relations

Another area discussed by the Dean in his report was that of student-faculty relations. He felt that more working contact out-of-class and in-class was necessary. This is already evident in faculty advisor-advisee relationships, International Relations Club, Socrates Club, Allegheny Christian Association, and the increase in student-faculty committees.

In a discussion of the foreign student program McCracken noted that the influence of the foreign students on campus thinking has been good, but needs to be widened. He advocated enlargement of this program.

Grid Finale Disappointing To Gators; Covies Reign Supreme By 20-0 Tally

by Don McArdle
Football Team Co-Captain

In a vain attempt to better last year's record, the Gators of Allegheny, featuring Captain Don Barron's final collegiate performance, bowed to highly touted Geneva College last Saturday, before a Father's Day crowd of about 3,000 at College Field. In a rugged contest that saw numerous injuries and players from both teams being ejected from the game, the Covenanters racked up their sixth win of the year while handing Allegheny its sixth loss.

Three Allegheny players were removed from the game due to injuries, while Don Barron was tossed out in the fourth quarter following a near riot. Quarterbacks Graham Hoffman and Ron Ratcliffe were forced to leave because of head injuries, the former being knocked out and the latter suffering a deep cut on the forehead, while fullback Jim Villa took to the sidelines with a badly bruised thigh muscle.

Although outclassed in the statistics, the story of the game lies in the fact that the Gators gave away two touchdowns while failing to get their offense moving. Barron and Don Smith carried the running game while Freshman Dan Strickland, who completed 3 out of 5 passes for 34 yards, was the main-spring in the passing attack. Geneva, with Fullback Ed Ellenich, halfback Jim Haney, and Quarterback Mike Karras doing most of the running, gained twice as much yardage on the ground as did the Gators, although Allegheny's passing proved superior.

Scoring by periods:
FIRST QUARTER: After several punt exchanges, Geneva launched a drive that produced two first downs but were stalled when Tom (Fatso) Biggam, who showed the form that made him an All-District choice last year, recovered a Covie fumble on the Allegheny 45. The Gators drove to the Geneva 10 where the drive stalled, and on fourth down Mason Cady was sent in to attempt a field goal. The kick barely cleared the line of scrimmage and fell into the waiting hands of Ellenich who ran it all the way back to the Allegheny 25, where two plays later the quarter ended, Geneva 0, Allegheny 0.

SECOND QUARTER: After a minute had elapsed, Ellenich plunged over from the six for Geneva's first score. Tackle Sam Perrino's conversion attempt was wide, and the Covies led 6-0. After the kickoff both teams could get nowhere until late in the period when Geneva drove from their own 29 to the Allegheny 8 yard line. The Gators pulled themselves out of the jam when Buckley Crabb recovered Ellenich's fumble and the half ended Geneva 6, Allegheny 0.

THIRD QUARTER: Allegheny received the kickoff but was forced to punt to Geneva. Karras then directed his team down to the Gator 8-yard line. He then threw a pass into the end zone where Don Smith, who attempted to knock the ball down, batted it into the hands of Geneva's Bob Price. Perrino's conversion was good, and the Blue and Gold trailed 13-0.

Shortly after the kickoff Geneva intercepted Ratcliffe's pass to Kimmelman and then moved 60 yards in 4 plays to the Gator one, where Haney broke over for the score. Perrino again converted to make the score 20-0 at the end of the period.

FOURTH QUARTER: A defensive battle ensued which saw the ball change hands ten times until Allegheny finally started a drive that took the ball 45 yards in five plays down to Geneva's 11 yard line. The Covie defense, however, rose to the occasion and the game ended shortly after both teams engaged in a free-for-all that saw three players banished.

Aquamen Splash In Preparation For Fenn

Wednesday Coach Hanson's tankmen took to the water in preparation for a ten meet schedule, fortified with seven veteran lettermen and promising reserves. Hanson, starting his ninth aquatic season, has yet to guide a losing squad.

Ray Cox

Last year Hanson's swimmers compiled an 8-2 record, losing only to Grove City, winner of the Penn - Ohio District Meet (52-32) and to a formidable Oberlin, 44-40.

This year's aquamen boast five record holders in Ray Cox, Dick Fisher, Britt Poulson, Alex Hill, and Carter White.

Ray Cox holds the pool and varsity record for backstroke (2:19.1); 120 yard varsity record in individual medley (1:16.5); and shares the 300 yard relay record (3:04) with Alex Hill and Dick Fisher.

Carter White holds varsity and pool records in 220 yard (2:20) and 440 yard (5:14.3) freestyle. Alex Hill holds varsity and pool backstroke records and Britt Poulson holds the varsity freestyle record (3:09) in the 60 yard freestyle.

The Gators last year were runners-up in the Penn - Ohio District Meet, being second only to Grove City (77 - 64). Reserves Ed Sergi, Zan Donaldson, and George Pawlinski will be strengthened with strong prospective freshmen Dave Bagley, John Grant, and Guy Williams.

Carter White

The Gators last year outswam their opening opponent Fenn, 50-34, and hope to repeat this year, December 10 at Montgomery Gym.

Subsidation . . . a big word on the Allegheny campus has not always been an absent feature. Surprising to some, it was a common practice during the 1920's for the alumni to support varsity athletics. This was when the athletic department had only two varsity sports, basketball and football. During the 1920's, Allegheny played such big-name schools as Pitt, Boston College, Cornell, West Virginia, Dartmouth, and New York University. It was generally considered that the Gators were even game for such schools, and the record proves the point. During the 1920's, the budget of the athletic department was considerably more than it is now. In 1930 the department spent about $40,000 as compared to $22,000 this year.

Prosperous 20's

With the passing of the economically prosperous 1920's, subsidation on the part of the alumni no longer continued. It died about 1930 and has not been aroused as an alumni activity since then.

As a matter of contrast in the athletic department, we now have seven varsity sports in comparison to the two of three decades ago. As if this were not enough, two more, cross country and wrestling are now being added to make a total of nine.

This is in itself an advantage. It certainly gives the average student greater opportunity to participate in varsity sports. He doesn't have the competition of subsidized athletes, and he has a wider field in which to demonstrate his abilities.

Player of the Week

This week's Campus salute goes to Don Barron, co-captain of this year's Gator eleven. Saturday Don took the field for the last time for the Blue and Gold, bringing to an end a noteworthy career.

The running of Don Barron and teammate Don Smith kept the Gator attack moving against Geneva in a fruitless 20-0 effort and came within scoring three times only to be turned back by the Geneva defense.

"Chico" lettered four years with the local gridiron entry, while taking signals at the halfback slot. Don, a graduating pre-dental student assumed the captaining duties after the injury of teammate co-captain Don McArdle, and led the team through seven of the eight games.

Survey Returns Show 9,000 Students From U.S. Study In Foreign Schools

According to preliminary returns of a survey taken by the Institute of International Education in New York City, over 9,000 United States students studied abroad during 1954-55 in 47 foreign countries and political areas.

The survey, which was limited to students having both United States citizenship and permanent residence in the United States, was first undertaken as a pilot project in 1953. It was conducted by means of a questionnaire sent to 1,000 institutions of higher education in 74 foreign countries and political areas. Of the 836 institutions whose replies have been received, 379 reported a total of 9,262 United States students enrolled while 457 reported none.

Almost 59% of those reported were enrolled in European schools, 15% were in Mexico, and 14.8% in Canada. Four countries reported over 1,000 United States students in their institutes of higher learning. United States students were enrolled in foreign schools on every continent.

Of the subjects that these students studied abroad, 74.2% pursued studies in one of six academic fields; liberal arts, medicine, theology, social sciences, creative arts, and natural and physical sciences.

It was possible to discover from the survey the countries where specific subjects were pursued. Of the 1,973 liberal arts students, there were 486 in the United Kingdom, 435 in Canada, 211 in Germany, 179 in Mexico, 163 in France, 118 in Spain, 67 in Switzerland, 62 in Japan. Of 1,718 students of medicine, there were 490 in Switzerland, 342 in Italy, 332 in Canada, 125 in the Netherlands, 103 in Belgium, 78 in Germany, 58 in the United Kingdom.

Of 764 theology students, there were 422 in Italy, 145 in Canada, 84 in the United Kingdom. Of the 753 students of the social sciences, 204 were in Mexico, 174 in the United Kingdom, 197 in Switzerland, 70 in France. Of 477 students in the creative arts, 399 were in Europe. There were 115 in Germany, 80 in the United Kingdom, 72 in Austria, 54 in Italy, 31 in France. Mexico received 58 creative art students. Of 415 students of the natural and physical sciences, there were 121 in Canada, 106 in the United Kingdom, 40 in Germany, 27 in Japan. Of 151 students of business administration, 84 were in Mexico, 38 in Canada, 18 in the Philippines. Of 105 engineering students, 55 were in Canada.

College Union

C.U. Staffed and furnished lounges and meeting rooms allowed the Union to become more and more a campus center for TV viewing, reading, meetings, seminars, and conversation.

Recognizing these accomplishments, the Union Board still feels that full potential of the Union has yet to be developed. This conclusion resulted from a comparison of the program as it now stands with the purposes, as outlined in the C.U. report, for which the Union exists, namely:

1. To serve as a community center for campus activities by providing facilities and activities which will bring together all members of the college family—students, faculty, administration, staff, alumni and friends.

2. To promote worthy use of leisure time among all members of the college community.

3. To supplement classroom training with experience in responsible, cooperative, democratic enterprises.

The board emphasizes that the success of the Union will depend upon the attitude of the students.

Circle K Club Gets Official Recognition

Circle K Club, a new service organization on campus, was officially recognized at the AUC meeting held last Sunday. This club, composed mainly of sophomore men, decorated for the Homecoming Dance, set up the Bloodmobile and hopes to engage in other service projects in the future.

The Council gave the executive committee power to set up a Public Relations Committee to take care of posters, newspaper articles, and a possible radio program dealing with college activities.

Financial procedures of the AUC were clarified. Classes and clubs may assess their members for dues or other costs, but they can not make use of college facilities or authority in their collection. It was also pointed out that it is legally permissible for AUC to make a special assessment for a dance or other function, although it is not in keeping with the moral commitments of the student activity fee chest.

A discussion on the USNSA Modern Education Practice Standards was held. Council members were asked to discuss this issue thoroughly with their groups and stimulate consideration of the problem.
