Trustees Plan For Many Improvements.

CARNEGIE'S GIFT ACCEPTED

And Arrangements Made to Raise the $25,000 Necessary to Meet the Condition of the Gift—$17,000 of that Amount Pledged by Trustees.

The splendid gift of $25,000 made some time ago by Andrew Carnegie was formally accepted by the trustees of Allegheny College at a special meeting held for that purpose April 11. Plans were devised to meet the condition that $25,000 more should be raised and most of that sum was secured. Owing to the extraordinary nature of the meeting a large number of the trustees were in attendance.

Those who came from out of town to the meeting were: Rev. Dr. A. C. Ellis, of Erie; Rev. Dr. J. M. Bray, Ripley, N. Y.; Norman T. Arnold, Esq., Ridgway, Pa.; Rev. Dr. Joseph W. Miles, Wilkesburg, Pa.; Rev. Dr. Noble G. Miller, Pittsburg; John S. Craig, Esq., Allegheny, Pa.; Hon. Frank A. Arter, Cleveland, O.

The local members of the Board present at the meeting were: Dr. T. L. Flood; W. S. Smith, Esq.; Capt. Wesley Best; Geo. W. Haskins, Esq.; Dr. Jonathan Hammett, and J. P. Colter, Esq.

The gift with its conditions means much for Allegheny. New buildings will be erected, some of the older ones will be remodeled and additions will be built, new and better equipment will be procured, more opportunities will be offered the students for development and a larger life is assured. The trustees are enthusiastic for the future of the college.

The meeting was called to order at 9 o'clock in the oratory of Ford Memorial Chapel. President Durbin Horne had fully expected to be present but was detained in Pittsburg at the last moment. F. A. Arter, of Cleveland, was elected to fill the chair. Capt. Wesley B. Best acted as secretary pro tem.

The motion to accept the gift of Andrew Carnegie with the conditions as appended by him was carried unanimously and a committee was appointed to convey the thanks of the Board of Trustees to the philanthropist. President Crawford reported on subscriptions toward raising the remaining $25,000 that had already been obtained. His statement that $17,000 had been raised was received with applause. He stated that Durbin Horne headed the list with a two thousand dollar subscription.

The trustees expect that the remaining $8,000 will be provided for in a very short time. In fact they were so confident that they decided at once toward the erection of the new buildings. The chief one of these will be a large building for the accommodation of the preparatory students.

This structure will be so complete in its equipment as to allow the absolute segregation of the preparatory students, a condition of affairs that has long been hoped for by the energetic president of the college. An annex to Hulings Hall will also be constructed. This when completed will contain a gymnasium for the women students and also will furnish modern dormitory accommodations. Radical improvements are being planned for Bentley and Ruter Halls.

The remodeled Ruter Hall will accommodate in addition to the museum on first floor, the engineering department on second floor, and the department of Biology on third floor.

A building committee to have charge of all these operations was appointed. This committee consists of President William H. Crawford, chairman; Dr. T. L. Flood, Hon. John J. Henderson and W. S. Smith. It is expected that the buildings will all be ready for the fall opening of the college.

A committee consisting of Geo. W. Haskins and J. P. Colter was appointed to bear the greetings of the board to Hon. Frank P. Ray, a member of the body, who has been ill at the City hospital for some weeks. Mr. Ray was for many years secretary of the Board of Trustees. At 10 o'clock a short recess was taken to allow the board to attend the morning chapel service. At the close of the exercises several members of the body addressed a few words to the students.

W. & J. Debating Team Chosen.

Swanson, Sturtevant, and Jones Won Places as Result of the Preliminary Contest—Work of the Debaters Promises Well for Allegheny.

The annual debating contest for the purpose of selecting men to represent Allegheny on the inter-collegiate team was held in Ford Memorial Chapel Saturday, the fifteenth, at 3 p. m. Mr. J. E. Morrison, president of the Oratorical Association, presided. Professors Ross, Smith, Knudson and Lockwood and Mr. Brown acted as judges. Messrs. R. W. Scouten, L. W. Swanson and C. G. Farr supported the affirmative while Messrs. H. J. Wood, W. P. Sturtevant and H. M. Jones upheld the negative side of the question, "Assuming the adoption of adequate constitutional amendments, Resolved, That courts should be established in the United States for the compulsory arbitration of disputes between employer and employee."

On both sides the debate evidenced careful cooperation between colleagues. The divisions of the subject for the individual speakers were logically made; consequently there was little repetition or overlapping. Without exception the participants showed thorough knowledge and careful preparation of the subject, skill in arrangement of material according to the principles of logical sequence and force, and a clearness and vigor in presentation not often equaled in a debate of this nature. The debaters are to be commended for the simple, direct and effective way in which they spoke without manuscript.

The contestants were ranked unusually close. Mr. Swanson, Mr. Sturtevant and Mr. Jones were chosen to represent the college in the coming contest with Washington & Jefferson to be held at Allegheny College on May 5.

The place assigned each speaker by the different judges is given in the following table:

Y. W. C. A. INITIATION.

Five New Members Taken Into the Association.

At the regular Y. W. C. A. meeting of April 16th, the names of five new members were added to the roll. The initiates were greeted by the old members and the president in the Y. W. C. A. initiation service. The new members are Miss Mary McLaughlin, Miss Lupton, Miss Sturtevant, Miss Illingworth and Miss Hill. Three of the girls entered school this term.

The meeting was led by Miss Deane, her subject being, "A Convincing Argument for Missions." The lesson for the evening was in Romans 10, 11-15. In her talk, Miss Deane said that God's call may lead the missionary into the most unromantic and uncouth circumstances so that he may be tempted to allow the work to go on without him, but all the while his Lord is saying of him, "How beautiful are the feet of them that preach the gospel of peace."

One of the girls said that, in going to the mission field there were economic, as well as religious reasons to be considered; that the demand for teachers in the far east is greater than the supply, whereas in our own country the supply is far greater than the demand.

Miss Stolzenbach, appropriate to the day, sang "Palms."

The subject for next Sunday's meeting is "The Power of Personal Influence." Miss Rowley will lead.

Shakespeare Recital.

A Large Audience Listens With Delight to Miss Spalding's Interpretation of Scenes From Shakespeare.

Meadville lovers of the artistic have again been charmed and delighted by the appearance in public of Miss Spalding, head of the elocution department, who on Monday evening of this week gave a most successful and gratifying performance in Ford Memorial Chapel. It is seldom that either students or townspeople have an opportunity of hearing Miss Spalding on an occasion of this kind, and the audience hall was packed, in spite of the unfavorable condition of the weather.

Miss Spalding was presented to the audience by President Crawford, in a few complimentary words. The program then rendered was listened to with appreciative interest from start to finish. The speaker's wonderful voice control and moderate power, her ease of expression and aptness of interpretation, and at times her strong, irresistible renderance of a tragic passage, won for her the unrestricted admiration of her hearers. Applause was frequently and heartily given. The four numbers were all Shakespearean, taken from "As You Like It," "The Merchant of Venice," "Henry the Eighth," and "Henry the Fifth."

Miss Spalding was especially happy in mimicking the playful tone of the scenes between Orlando and Rosaline, and Henry the Fifth and Katherine of Aragon. Rosaline's naive and coquettish petulance at Orlando's delayed return, and Katherine's pretty attempt at expressing herself in her lord's tongue, were interpreted by the artist with beautiful and finished effect.

Wakefield Contest.

WON BY B. S. WRIGHT—A. W. ROBERTSON SECOND.

Important Event of College Year—Winner Represents Allegheny in Inter-Collegiate Contest—Orations All of Highest Order—Judges' Markings Very Close.

The Wakefield oratorical contest for a prize of $50.00 was held at Ford Memorial chapel on Thursday evening at 8 o'clock. This is the most important oratorical event of the year and is looked forward to with much interest.

The winner also represents the College in the annual inter-collegiate

GEN. MILLER LECTURED.

An Able Address by a Representative of the Great World of Business.

WAS HEARD BY STUDENTS.

The Speaker Told What the World Has a Right to Expect From the College Graduate.

General Charles Miller, of Franklin, a trustee of Allegheny College, gave an interesting and instructive lecture to the students on Saturday at the regular chapel hour. His subject was "What the Public has a Right to Expect of the College Graduate."

He began by expressing his gratification over the fact that Carnegie has discovered that the small colleges are of some importance. Allegheny is one of these small colleges, one where the practical side is winning out.

He then began his lecture proper. He said, "Few are opposed to education. A good education is approved by the general public. There is no place for ignorance today. The world demands educated men and women. But education is not to be regarded as a personal affair. Such a position is without foundation and common sense. No man while in college pays one-tenth the cost of his education. It is paid by others; by the trustees, by the endowment, by bequests, etc. We should use our education to benefit mankind in order that we may pay the debt we owe."

"We also owe much to the historians, artists and philosophers of the past. Can we imagine ourselves studying mathematics in ancient Egypt? Vast laboratories contain the stories of many men's lives. These men have a claim on the college man."

"The attributes of the college man should be morality, self-control, charity, courtesy, gentleness of spirit and willingness to accommodate himself to the short comings of all men."

The college graduate should always remain a student. He should constantly be enlarging his field of vision. He should select some field of investigation and make himself proficient in that field.

"He should be free from false pride and egotism. He should be humble, ready to mingle with men of no training or education. He should be optimistic and filled with hope for the future. Everything is not always pleasurable, but effort brings pleasure. The pessimist is useless."

"The college graduate should render public service, promote the cause of good government, aid in upbuilding the church and assist in political and educational lines. Bad legislation is dangerous to the public conscience. Press on, be courageous and you will win."

Opportunity waits for no man, but I have seen cases when it seemed to me that she winked mightily encouragingly at some man before she gathered up her skirts and went on.

Entered as Second-Class matter October 30, 1904, at the Postoffice at Meadville, Pa., under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

The coming summer promises to be a busy one on College Hill. With the building of the new preparatory school and the addition to Huling's Hall, the remodeling of Bentley and Ruter Halls, and the grading of the new athletic field there ought to be enough doing for Allegheny to satisfy even the most ambitious.

Five years ago, the most optimistic would hardly have dared dream of the Allegheny of today. What then may we look for five years hence? Verily we believe the good things have just commenced for our college.

A study of the table of judges' markings rendered in an oratorical or debating contest might lead to the hasty conclusion that the outcome of these contents is a mere lottery. In fact there is much to warrant such a conclusion. Hardly a table is published which does not rate the same contestant all the way from highest to lowest. One which appears in this issue shows that a man who received first in thought and composition from two judges was rated last by the third judge. Indeed it almost always happens that the winner of a contest is rated very low by some one of the judges, while the opinions expressed by the audience are as varied and conflicting as are the decisions of the judges.

From this it appears that so long as we must appeal to mere men as judges, so long we must look for more or less variation in the decisions rendered, and so long must we expect more or less dissatisfaction with the outcome of any contest. And yet while we believe that there are cases of gross injustice, due probably more to a lack of a proper anointing on the part of the judges than to any personal prejudice, we do not believe that these cases are sufficiently common to warrant the conclusion that the outcome of such contests is a mere lottery.

Neither do we believe they are sufficiently common to warrant us in condemning the system. The trouble is not so much with the system, as with the men who carry out the system. Our efforts toward insuring just decisions must be directed more toward securing the broadest and most liberal minded men to act as judges than toward perfecting the system.

And yet it has always seemed to some that the separation of the judging of the thought and composition from the judging the delivery is a mistake. The oration that reads best is not always most effective when delivered. It is a well known fact that, while the orations of Edmund Burke are read today as models of English oratory, nevertheless, when delivered by Burke in Parliament, they were effective only in clearing the benches. On the other hand, while the legal addresses of Rufus Choate can hardly be found in print today yet when delivered by the great barrister, they bore most eloquent conviction to the hearts of juries and assemblies. The oration is not a mere matter of Rhetoric, and, when separated from the personality of the speaker, it loses much of its effectiveness of composition.

Fifty men tried for the inter-collegiate debating team at Wooster College. At Allegheny there were eight candidates. Wooster ascribes the great interest shown there in debating to the activities of the debating clubs. What percentage of students at Allegheny are doing anything to cultivate their ability to write and speak clear and forceful English? There are a limited number in the Quill Club, a few more are trying in a way to keep the spark of life burning in the literary societies. But these are only a small part of the whole student-body, and yet we are all striving for a liberal education. It would seem that some people put a very narrow construction on the phrase, liberal education.

It will not be out of place to add here that Wooster has already won two inter-collegiate debates.

Pan-Hellenic Banquet.

The Great Annual Fraternity Event Held at Kepler House April 12—Good Fellowship and College Spirit Marked the Affair.

Last Wednesday was the annual Pan-Hellenic day, and was observed by the fraternity men of the college in the usual way. At 9 o'clock in the evening the Greeks assembled on the campus and, after bombarding Huling's Hall, the line of march was formed and the procession proceeded to visit the homes of the members of the faculty, where their demonstrations were responded to by speeches.

At the corner of Water and Chestnut streets the traditional Indian war-dance was given, whence the revelers went to the Kepler hotel, where an elaborate banquet was prepared. It was here that the merry-making reached its height, and it should have been witnessed to fully appreciate it. The banqueters numbered over 100 and the efforts of the entire body were expended in creating excitement and amusement. After a fine banquet and highly entertaining toast list had been completed the men disbanded at about 1 o'clock and sought their rooms, with another eventful college day added to their already lengthy list of the year. Following is the toast list:

Toastmaster—Frederic C. Reynolds.
The Thoroughbred—Paul Mitchell.
Song—Sigma Alpha Epsilon.
The Mighty Conflict—Harry E. Stone.
Song—Phi Delta Theta.
The College Warrior—J. Claude Aiken.
Song—Delta Tau Delta.

Allegheny's New Athletic Field.

Our new athletic field is now an assured thing. With the announcement of the fact, there should be great rejoicing on the part of the students. Those who have not played upon a foot ball or base ball team, or have not enlisted in the track team will not be able, adequately, to measure the value of an athletic field of our own on College Hill.

In the fall of the year, about thirty candidates appear for the foot ball team. They practise every night the whole season through, on a field that is long enough but not wide enough, neither sufficiently graded. In wet weather the ground is covered with water which makes good practise impossible for long periods of time. With a well graded field we shall be rid of these difficulties, which fact will be thankfully recognized by every man who chases the pig-skin.

In the case of base ball, this change will be more important in some respects than in foot ball. The team has been compelled to do all its practising at Athletic Park. Now the disadvantages of this may be stated as follows: The Athletic Park is not clean, either for players or spectators. Clouds of heavy black smoke blow across it almost continually from the Erie shops. The ground is not elastic enough for the ball to bound properly upon. The diamond is too low. After a rain the water remains in spots for a week at a time, and players slip, both in fielding and in running the bases. The grand-stand is unfit for use. It is very uninviting in its best condition. Open bleachers kept in good shape would be an improvement over the grand-stand at Athletic Park.

As for the track team, it doesn't need much thinking to discover that the athletic field at the college, well equipped with those things necessary to field work, will prove an immense advantage. The time saved from journeying to Vannonia or any other suitable place, is of sufficient importance to give weight to the advantages of our new field. It means perseverance, unthought of by most of us, for a body of young men to regularly, day in and day out, go to Vannonia and there train conscientiously for the honor of the college. We are thankful that we shall soon have them where we can turn out often and encourage them, as they are striving to acquire speed and endurance and skill for the purpose of sustaining the name of Allegheny among the institutions with which she has taken a stand. There is no line of athletics cleaner or more exciting than field work and it will receive a telling impulse by the construction of an athletic field on the college property.

Finally, it costs something to rent Athletic park from year to year. When we get our athletic field it will be less risk for the manager of a team financially. We shall have accommodations for visiting teams in the gymnasium. We shall have better accommodations for the spectators. We shall have greater advantages for our athletes in training. It will be an advantage to our college, for visiting teams and spectators will see our buildings and can tell what we look like up here when they meet a friend. All of these advantages we feel to be impossible under the conditions as they prevail here today. We feel that the president's successful efforts to secure us an up-to-date place for athletics should be publicly acknowledged, both through the Campus and by word of mouth of every loyal Alleghenian upon the old college hill.

Non-Fraternity Men Organize.

Resurrect and Revise an Old Constitution to Suit Present Needs—Officers Elected.

The non-fraternity men of the college after resurrecting and revising an old constitution to suit the present needs met on last Wednesday evening and adopted the same. They are now a definite organization and feel more capable of meeting the demands placed upon them. Following is the constitution as adopted:

Preamble.

We, the non-fraternity students of Allegheny College, recognizing the fact that without organization we are unable to follow any steady policy, nor act effectively in any undertaking and believing that we ought to be bound together by an organization whose object it shall be to place no student in a position of honor or trust except on account of personal fitness, do hereby ordain and enact the following constitution.

Article I.

Sec. 1. This organization shall be known as the Non-Fraternity Association of Allegheny College.

Sec. 2. The object of this Association is to insure just and liberal administration of all affairs in the hands of the student body.

Article II.

The non-fraternity students of Allegheny College and the unpledged students of the preparatory school are eligible to membership.

Article III.

The officers of this association shall be president, vice president, secretary and treasurer.

Article IV.

The officers of this association shall be elected at the first regularly called meeting in the spring term to serve for one year.

Article V.

The duty of these officers shall be such as are defined in Robert's Rule of Order.

Article VI.

Sec. 1. Regular business shall be transacted by delegates chosen from the various clubs.

Sec. 2. Members of the association, not members of any regular boarding club, shall be entitled to the same privileges of representation in all matters as the clubs.

Sec. 3. Each club shall be entitled to one delegate for every twenty or fraction thereof of non-fraternity members, and it shall be the duty of the commissaries of the various clubs to see that delegates are elected each term.

Article VII.

Any part of the constitution may be amended or altered at any regular meeting by a two-thirds vote provided the proposed alteration or amendment shall have been read at a meeting at least one week previous.

By-Laws.

Sec. 1. Meetings shall be held at the call of the president.

Sec. 2. The making of nominations for athletic elections shall be considered as regular business of the association.

Sec. 3. It shall be the duty of the delegates to supervise the interests of the association in their respective clubs.

Sec. 4.—A majority of the whole number of delegates shall constitute a quorum.

Sec. 5. Officers of the association shall be considered delegates by virtue of their position but no club shall thereby obtain undue representation.

WAKEFIELD CONTEST.

contest which will be held this year at Muskingum College, and which takes place the 8th of May.

The winner of the contest Thursday evening was B. S. Wright, whose subject was "Heroism in the Commonplace." Mr. Wright's oration was exceptionally well written and masterfully delivered, and all adherents of old Allegheny expect to see him come back as an easy winner of the great inter-collegiate event.

The other orations were of the highest order and the marking of the judges was very close. The second and place was awarded to A. W. Robertson.

The evening was ably presided over by Dr. F. C. Lockwood and the following was the program:

"Progress"—H. M. Scott.

"Marshall Ney"—A. W. Robertson.

"Heroism in the Commonplace"—

B. S. Wright.

"America's Pioneers"—C. J. Scott.

"John Wesley"—C. A. Hartung.

The judges on thought and composition were Manley O. Brown, Hon. Arthur L. Bates and E. A. Hempstead. On delivery—J. P. Colter, A. M. Fuller and C. N. Doane.

Final Concert

Of the Series Given By the Pennsylvania College of Music.

A large audience of Meadville music lovers was delighted by the splendid work of Miss Anna Miller Wood at the Pennsylvania College of Music concert at the Academy of Music Friday evening. Miss Wood made a most favorable impression. She possesses a rich and clear contralto voice and sings with great feeling.

The chorus under the direction of Prof. Harry Walthe Manville sang their selections in an artistic manner. The ladies' chorus was also exceptionally good.

That's The Place Where College Boys

LIKE TO BUY THEIR

Clothing and Furnishings, and they do buy them there.

This place has been the college boy's store and it is more popular than ever this season — for many reasons. First, because they are used as they like to be used; because we make a specialty of Clothing and Furnishings for Young Men and College Men; because we have extra style if you want it.

Here is what we've done since college closed last term: We've taken the second floor of the block and remodeled it and now have as well a clothing place as you'll find in any city, and this improvement gives us four times the room that we had last term. We have four times the stock of clothing and fixings that we had ever seen in Meadville. Great purchases of Hart, Schaffner & Marx Clothing, and many other good makes.

There's no use of talking so much about it to you in the paper; come in and see what we're like.

Any of the fellows will tell you about us, and the kind of goods we have.

We'll be glad to meet you here.

Spalding's Official Athletic Almanac

For 1905

Edited by J. E. SULLIVAN

(Chief of Department of Physical Culture, Louisiana Purchase Exposition.)

Should be read by every college student, as it contains the records of all college athletes and amateur events in this country and abroad. It also contains a complete review of the Olympic Games from the official report of Director Sullivan and a resume of the two days devoted to sports in which savages were the only contestants, in which it is proved conclusively that savages are not the natural born athletes we have heretofore supposed them to be. This is the first time in which the athletic performances of savages have ever been systematically recorded.

This is the largest Athletic Almanac ever published, containing 300 pages. Numerous illustrations of prominent athletes and track teams.

Teutonic Banquet.

Held Last Night at the Saegertown Inn—Non-Fraternity Men Spend a Pleasant Evening.

A very enthusiastic gathering of non-fraternity students enjoyed the annual Teutonic banquet at the Saegertown Inn last evening. The banqueters went to Saegertown on the 7 and 8 o'clock cars.

They enjoyed one of the most sumptuous feasts ever spread before a body of students. It was exactly fifteen minutes before nine when the ninety-five banqueters took their places around the well decorated table where they sat until they had satisfied the inner man and quickened their spirits by lively toasts.

With Benjamin W. Van Riper as toastmaster and the splendid toast list offered, a very enjoyable evening was spent and it was early this morning when the Teutons returned to their rooms for rest.

The Toast List:

Toastmaster, Benjamin W. Van Riper, '05.

The athletic committee of Yale has decided that Rockwell, quarter back on the 'varsity team for the last three seasons, is ineligible for next season. Rockwell played in a game against Trinity four years ago before he knew how his entrance examinations had turned out. He spent a year more at Hotchkiss, but the committee decided that the playing against Trinity together with the other three years, made out his four seasons.
