April 27, 1927.

H. C. McComas, Esq.,
410 North Charles St.,
Baltimore, Md.

My dear Professor McComas:

Thank you heartily for your prompt attention to my letter and thank you too for referring me to the Psycological Index.

I have on hand a brief popular survey of the present situation of her that we speak of as Woman in Industry. I am not confining my observations to those who are at the machine but including those who are making their way in the organizing, financing and creative factors of Industry. I have worked on the subject off and on for a good many years and have had a growing sense of the way in which woman's natural aptitude is shaping her industrial and business life. Her big business successes are almost invariably in her traditional pursuits; home utilities, food, clothing.

You are kind to say that I may come back for assistance. I may take you at your word but will promise not to trouble you unless I am really "stumped".

With renewed thanks for your courtesy, believe me,

Very sincerely,

IMT BWK.

Digital Images, 2010. The Ida M. Tarbell Collection, 1890-1944, Allegheny College Pelletier Library.