Ida M. Tarbell,

Dear Madam,

I have just read your interesting article, "A Lincoln Trail 300 Years Old" in the Sunday Edition of the New York Times.

A part of the article runs:—
"Tradition says that Mordecai put up a forge there. I once spent hours and hours hunting for that forge - etc."

This forge you're speaking of is very easy to find from Allentown. Perhaps if you'd asked someone interested in your subject you wouldn't me a line as to the appearance of the article or book.

Yours sincerely,

P.S. New Egypt is about 5 miles from Helmore. If you ever travel this country, ^{again} call on me.
