Dear Miss Tarbell:

I have been calling you for several days but having had no answer I concluded that you must be out of New York. I am writing this letter in the hope that it will be forwarded to you.

Mr. Wallace, of Readers Digest, was so delighted with the story you did for him that he thought you might do some others in the same vein. He wanted me to talk over this possibility with you.

Can you let me know when you expect to be in New York and what would be the most convenient time to see you?

Sincerely,

F. S. Tisdale

I told him you would get in touch with him on your return
