FRESHMEN WIN INDOOR INTERCLASS TRACK MEET WITH TWENTY-TWO POINTS

Sophomores Second with Fifteen Points—Juniors Third and Seniors Last—Deciding Races to be Run Outdoors Today and Thursday

Last Friday night the annual indoor inter-class meet was held in the College Gymnasium. The events were a 15-yard dash, a high hurdle race, a potato race (75 yards), a shot put, pole vault and high jump. The Freshmen led all other classes by a comfortable margin. Although no particularly startling new material was brought to light, the showing that was made on the whole gives promise of a very good team when the outdoor practice begins. Baldwin, '19, did especially well in the sprints, winning the potato race and placing second in the 15-yard dash.

The indoor work held last Friday evening, however, does not complete the inter-class meet. Today, Tuesday, April 14, two outdoor events, the 440-yard run and the mile run, will be staged on Montgomery Field, and next Thursday the 880-yard run and two-mile run will be held at the same place at 4:30 o'clock on each date. These events will afford a better opportunity for the coach to judge what sort of material he has to work with, than the indoor work did.

If the Freshmen do as well in the outdoor events as they did in the indoor events, they will not have much trouble in carrying off first honors. As they stand now, they lead their nearest opponents, the Sophomores, by a seven-point margin. They have several promising men entered in the outdoor events.

For the Seniors, Melloy, Captain of the team, was the biggest point-getter, he having won the high-hurdles race and tied for first place in the high jump. Inasmuch as Fahr, '15, will be lacking in the hurdle races this year, McKay appears to have the best form, and will probably represent the team in that event in the inter-collegiate meets. He also showed excellent form in the high-jump, and although he did not equal his last year's indoor record. his form appeared to be much improved. Armstrong added three points to the Senior total by placing second in the shot-put.

For the Juniors, Powell and Drake each contributed four points, Powell by tieing with Hall, '19, for first place in the pole vault and Drake by winning third place in the 15-yard dash and the potato race. McKinney added three points by placing fourth in the high jump and third in the high hurdles. Tarr placed fourth in the pole vault.

For the Sophomores, Kinney showed the best form and produced the results. He won the 15-yard dash and placed second in the potato race. He showed his old-time form in getting off at the crack of the gun, and gives promise of being as valuable a man for the sprints as he was last year. He also won a point in the shot put by placing fourth. Coulsan handled the shot like a veteran and easily won in that event. His form is much improved over that of last year, and he is now expected to fill the shoes of the Dotterer brothers in the weights. Richey, a dark horse, came through with a point in the 15-yard dash.

Baldwin easily outshone all other members of his class in point-gathering. He breasted the tape first in the potato race and placed second in the 15-yard dash. He gives promise of giving Kinney and Drake a good race when the real trials come outdoors on the cinder track. Hall showed good form in the pole vault, and was able to tie for first place with Powell, '17. Hirst placed fourth in the potato race. Thomas took third place in the shot put and fourth in the pole vault.

The results were as follows:

15-yard dash—

First heat: First, Kinney, '18; second, Baldwin, '19; time, 2 2-5 seconds.

Plans are being formulated for a revision of the honor system at the engineering college of the University of Michigan.

Under the heading, "How Is the College Honor System Proving Itself?" the New York Evening Sun published an article expressing the views of prominent educators on the subject. Most of the men favor the Honor System.

Bishop Luccock Dead

FORMER ALLEGHENY PROFESSOR DIES IN WISCONSIN ON WAY TO NEW YORK CITY.

Bishop Naphthali Luccock, aged 62, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, former Allegheny College professor, and who at one time was pastor of the Smithfield Street Methodist Episcopal Church and other churches in the Pittsburgh conference, died April 1st at La Crosse, Wis. He was elected to the episcopacy in 1912 at Minneapolis, Minn., and had supervision in Montana, Wyoming, and Idaho. Bishop Luccock joined the Pittsburgh conference in 1874 and his first charges were at Oakland and Elizabeth, Pa. In 1885 he came to Allegheny College, where he taught for three years, later going to the First Methodist Episcopal Church at Erie. In 1893 he went to Pittsburgh and was pastor of the Smithfield Street Methodist Episcopal Church for four years. He then went to St. Louis, Mo., where he remained until elected Bishop. He was born in Helena, Mont., and leaves a son, the Rev. Halford Luccock, of New Haven, Conn., and two daughters. His wife died after he left his charge in Pittsburgh. The only members of the Pittsburgh conference who were admitted at the same time as Bishop Luccock were the Rev. W. F. Conner, now District Superintendent and the Rev. J. B. Taylor of Bellevernon, Pa.

UNION MEETING OF Y. M. C. A. AND Y. W. C. A.

A union meeting of the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. was held on Wednesday evening in the Chapel. The program was unusually interesting and entertaining. Leo McKay, '16 rendered a violin solo, and Mrs. Akers gave the address of the evening.

Mrs. Akers spoke on the place and importance of individual service in God's plan for the salvation of the world. She took for a biblical reference the story of Christ rebuking the disciples after they disputed who should be greatest in the Kingdom of God, not for being ambitious but for having their ambitions turned the wrong way—for their own glorification. If we follow in the footsteps of Christ, she pointed out, we must take for our ambition service to others.

The importance of individual service, Mrs. Akers said, was brought home to her by an experience in London, in Westminster Abbey. She was obliged to sit in one of the side aisles as the nave of the church was filled. Detached words was all that could be heard of the sermon. This sentence came to her however, "God saves the world through you." It was a tremendous lesson that although we may not be so important, God has a task for each of us.

There is no man born, she said, but a work for him to do is born also. It is important then that we train well to do that work, that we lay the foundation well. We must feel the call to service. Then if we are ready to serve wherever opportunity offers and we will put into our service not only our powers and talents but ourselves; if we are honest and sincere our work will be a success and we will be happy. The essential things are to find our place in God's plan, and to do the thing next.

As a substitute for the famous "Tank" scrap at Purdue, a cap-burning feat is to be held. On a certain night the Freshmen will attempt to burn their green caps, which occasion the Sophomores will endeavor to prevent.

A subscription fund for sending tobacco to Belgian soldiers is being subscribed to by Yale students.

With an annual fund of more than $3,100,000, Harvard and Cornell lead the Universities of the United States as regards income.

Trophy Cup Won by Tau Delts

SIGS FAILING TO WIN THE NECESSARY THREE GAMES FROM CHI RHOS, LOSE CHANCES FOR TOURNAMENT.

The annual bowling tournament ended last Tuesday evening when the Chi Rhos won one game from the Sigs. Before the games started it was understood by the Sigs that it was necessary for them to win all of their games in order to tie the Tau Delts, who occupied first place with a three game lead. When they dropped the second game to the Chi Rhos, they virtually ended the tournament.

The Tau Delts, the winners of the trophy given by R. L. Rhoades, have bowled a very consistent game throughout the season. After two partially unsatisfactory matches at the beginning of the tournament they settled down, and lost only one of the last twelve games that they bowled, dropping that one to the strong Phi Delt team. Captain Ritchie is to be especially commended for his consistent work especially in the pinches. During the season he had the high tournament average of 118.

The Sig-Chi Rho match resulted as follows:

MISS PITT, '17, Y. W. C. A. PRESIDENT

Miss Ruth Pitt, '17, was elected president of the Allegheny Y. W. C. A. for the year 1916-17 at the annual election held in Hulings Hall last Monday evening. Miss Mildred Hazen, '17, was chosen as vice-president; Miss Virginia Lewis, '19, as secretary, and Miss Marie Olson, '18, as treasurer. Miss Louise Deens, '18, is annual member and the advisory board is composed of Mrs. C. R. Thoburn and Miss Edith Rowley, '05.

Miss Pitt has served for two years on Y. W. C. A. committees and is well equipped to lead the strong girls' organization for next year. She is a member of Quill Club and is one of the strongest contributors for The Campus.

The 1916 Register of Lehigh University, just published, shows that in this, the fiftieth anniversary year, the student registration is 775, considerably the largest in the University's history. There are 28 students more than last year, 70 more than 1914, and 71 more than in 1907, each of these having been record years. Counting in the students taking extension courses, which many colleges include in statistics, (there are 285 in Evening School and Saturday classes) Lehigh's total enrollment is 1060.

College spirit in England is at low ebb. The Freshman class at one of the English schools consists of one Englishman, one Indian and one American.

New Courses in Different Departments

A NUMBER OF IMPORTANT CHANGES IN COLLEGE CURRICULUM ADDS STRENGTH IN SEVERAL LINES.

As was mentioned in last week's issue of The Campus several changes have been made in the college catalogue. Besides a few minor changes in the faculty and board of trustees, several important courses have been added to the curriculum. The additions which have been made in the departments of Economics, English Bible, English Literature, Greek, Philosophy, Geology, Surveying, and Physics gives Allegheny College a standing which is second to no school of its size in the country.

In the Economic Department two courses have been added which strengthen the department to such a degree that a student is now permitted to specialize in that branch. A course in Socioligy and one in Labor Organizations and Problems have been added. The former will enable the students to make an inquiry into the thorough study of the principles of science and society, including a study of social control, organization, and psychology. The course in Labor Organization and Problems will take up the study of the development, aims, and practices of trade unions ,and an examination of the methods of industrial peace, employers' liability and allied questions.

Four new courses have been added to the English Bible Department, making it one of the most complete of its kind in the country. The first new course is one in Biblical Archaeology in which a study of the New Testament will be made from a standpoint of recent archaeological discoveries through excavations. The next additional course is Course V, giving a complete History of the Early Church during the first three centuries of its existence. Course VI will be somewhat analogous to that of Course IV except that it will treat with archaelogical discoveries that are conceived with the Old Testament instead of the New. The last new course that was added in this department was one on Jewish Life and Literature from the Fourth Century B. C. to the beginning of the Christian Era. It will make a thorough study of the political development wars and customs of the Hebrew people; also a study of several of the Books written during that time that are included in the Old Testament today.

One addition was made to the English Department. That department now has twelve courses covering all branches of English and American Literature. The latest addition has been a course in the History of the English Language which will take up such problems as the origin of the language, its relationship to other languages, and its vocabulary, inflections and syntax.

In the Geological Department a course in Paleonthology was added. It will include the study of invertebrate and vertebrate animal and plant fossils with reference to structure, classification, habitat, and geologic and geographic distribution. Representatives of the different groups will be studied in the laboratory and the field.

Social Psychology, Current Philosophical Tendencies, and Philosophic Basis of Christian Fundamentals are the three new courses which have been added to the Department of Philosophy. Social Psychology will treat with the social implications of mental development in the individual and the race. It will attempt to show the influence of social environment upon the development and organization of native tendencies, Current Philosophical Tendencies will be an inquiry into contemporary tendencies in philosophical thought. The course in the Philosophic Basis of Christian Fundamentals will attempt to show a relationship between such distinctive

The recent indoor interclass track meet brought out some startling things. The first is that Allegheny has been developing some fine material in the underclasses that with a year or two of training promises to break a few more Western Pennsylvania records. Another point is that in a few events we are weak, in the hurdles especially. The last point is that the college in general does not seem to realize the true importance of track and does not give it the support it ought to have.

Track Prospects.

Last year the agitation was commenced which ultimately did away with base ball as a college activity. This was done with the idea that track was to be especially featured in the spring. This year a few more men have come out than usual, but still there is a great opportunity for more men to develop chances for that track A. Allegheny has always had first class material and has been able to hold its own in this part of the State with any other college, but at that track was crowded out. Now the opportunity has come and the sooner everyone realizes of what we can really boast and turns out to support this activity, the sooner will track Join with foot ball and basket ball to keep Allegheny on the map.

For some time past there has been an agitation for Allegheny to have a few new songs and yells. From time to time there have been contributions along this line, but for some reason they have lacked the requisites necessary to make them live. There have been practically no yells suggested, and the songs have, as a rule, been set to popular airs which were sung to death for a while and then were laid aside to be forgotten. Our real need is for contributions that are original in every respect and can be sung to stirring music that is not heard in every city to which one may go.

Need for New Songs and Cheers.

We do not mean to lay aside the present songs and yells by any means, —far from it. What we need is to have one true song and one true yell that is typical of the college and belongs to us only. The others may then be worked in with these. When we want to sing a real Allegheny song now, what must we do? Unable to produce one of our own, we sing "Near the Vale" to the tune of Cornell's "Far Above Cayuga's Waters" or for our Alma Mater we sing another to the music of the Austrian National Anthem. Is this right? Should a college more than a century old be compelled to steal from other institutions its traditional songs? When we boast of our century's existence, must we say also that we have sung a Cornell song for most of that time in lieu of one of our own. It is true that there is much sentiment and tradition connected with our old songs and for that reason we do not mean to lay them aside. We simply want a new one that is typical of Allegheny alone.

The songs are not the only things that need housecleaning. The old "Allegheru" while good enough for our fathers and apparently good enough for us, is still just as impossible for a large crowd to give as it ever was. It starts beautifully, but as the cheer leaders gradually work the crowd through it, it becomes at times little more than a wail. It rattles along like a prep-school cheer and is becoming rather hackneyed for the real worth there is in it. Yet we do not intend to lay it aside. It can still be used. But when Pitt can become famous with the short yell of PI-TT and other colleges have snappy short yells that can be given with spirit, it seems as if we could improve on the old ones.

For these reasons we call on every alumnus and undergraduate to help out in supplying Allegheny with a collection of real songs and yells. A few attempts have been made along the right line. Let the good work go on.

GERMAN CLUB MEETING.

The German Club met last Tuesday evening in Bentley Hall, where a splendid program was enjoyed. The first part of the evening was devoted to the business meeting which was in charge of W. J. Armstrong '16. A new amendment was passed which provided for retiring those members to an inactive list who are unable to attend the meetings. Two members were effected immediately by this ruling. Following this, four new members were voted into the club. They were Harold Smith '18, E. J. Kelley '18, and Misses Mary Clendenin, '17, and Helen Davison, '17.

The business meeting was followed by the German play "Einer Muss Heiraten" which was announced in the last issue of the Campus. The play went off without a hitch and every one of the actors gave their lines in a way which showed that they could interpret the part as it was meant to be.

Mr. Stevenson in the role of Jacob kept the audience in roars of laughter throughout the evening by his antics in trying to remain a bachelor. Mr. Leo McKay as Wilhelm took his part in such a way that it might well be thought he was the character himself. Miss Tillie Bitler rattled her lines off so characteristicly like the old aunt that the two old bachelors had no other choice but to try to marry the young girl Louise who was Gertrude's choice. The part of Louise taken by Miss Elizabeth Best was well done for soon after her entrance into the bachelor's home she became the whole show herself.

Another play is being prepared by the German Club which will be given after vacation and it is hoped that it will be as successful as this one so they may be given publicly a little later.

FORUM.

A regular meeting of the Forum was held on Thursday afternoon in Philo-Franklin Hall. The new plan of conducting the meetings was introduced. The Forum was resolved into the form of the United States Senate with each member as a senator. When the role was called each man reported what state he wished to represent and with what party he wished to be allied.

G. G. Witter, '17, as chairman of the committee appointed last week to make plans for the new scheme, offered several suggestions in behalf of that committee. The suggestions were: that the Forum keep in touch with the work of the National Senate and bring up in its meetings the business which is conducted there, that the dignity of the body be upheld, that all business be conducted in strict accordance with parliamentary law, and at the same time that each man feel perfectly free to support or oppose any bill introduced. Bills must be presented the week before they are to be discussed in order that all members may be prepared to speak upon them.

R. E. McCreary, '18, the gentleman from Oklahoma, then introduced a bill which had been presented a week earlier. The bill was in substance that the Indian reservations as conducted by the Government at present are not conducive to the uplift of the Indians and that consequently the Indians should be released from the reservations and given tracts of land for private cultivation. After Mr. McCreary made a short speech in introducing the bill it was referred to a committee which very promptly reported favorably upon it. The bill then came up for vote and was passed by an overwhelming majority.

Next Thursday a bill will be introduced to the effect that the Government should warn American citizens not to take passage on armed neutral merchant vessels. In taking their seats it is requested that the Republican senators occupy the left side of the room and the Democrats the right side.

CLASSICAL CLUB MEETING.

The Classical Club held its regular meeting on Tuesday evening in Wilcox Hall. Mr. McCay gave a very interesting illustrated lecture on the Parthenon. He spoke first of the important position of the temples in Greek architecture, because in the effort to please the gods everything was lavished on making the temples beautiful.

The Parthenon, the temple erected on the Acropolis to Athena the guardian of Athens, was the finest of all the temples. It was built at the height of the Greek architectural development—in the age of Pericles.

Phidias, the greatest of the Greek sculptors worked upon the Parthenon. In particular he made the gold and silver statue of Athena which was placed in it. So marvelous was the statute that it was classed as one of the seven wonders of the world. It was thirty feet in height and stood on an eight foot base. The nude surface was of ivory, the drapery was of gold, and the eyes were precious jewels.

The building itself was built almost entirely of finest marble and fashioned with remarkable skill and beauty. It combined the best points of Doric and Ionic architecture. All of the details of structure and decoration were brought out by Mr. McCay and were shown by means of slides.

PETIT SALON.

A meeting of the Petit Salon was held Monday afternoon at 4:45 in Carnegie Hall of Chemistry. Miss Katherine Carew, '17, was the speaker of the meeting and gave a splendid entertainment. She delivered a most interesting talk on the Louvre, the famous art gallery of France, and illustrated her descriptions with post cards and pictures thrown on the screen by the splendid new projectorscope that has been recently installed in the lecture room of the building. A large attendance was enjoyed and the meeting was one of the most interesting that has been held for some time.

NEW COURSES

Christian doctrines as the incarnation, atonement, miracles and faith, and modern philosophic theory and thought.

In Physics two courses have been added—Electrical Measurements, and Direct and Alternating Currents. These will be made up mostly of laboratory work. In Surveying and Graphics a course in Structural Mechanics has been added to include a study of the stresses and strains with the application of the principles of mechanics to the design of roof and bridge trusses, and the determination of the dimensions and details of the same.

The addition of these several new courses gives Allegheny College a curriculum not surpassed by any small college in the country.

College to Hear Morrison Walker

SPLENDID SERIES OF LECTURES TO BE GIVEN TODAY AND TOMORROW BY NOTED FINANCIER.

As has been previously announced, the college is going to have a rare privilege this week when Morrison Walker lectures today and tomorrow on the subject of "The Measure of Civilization."

Mr. Walker is one of the most widely known men of today in all financial circles and his lectures will contain a message that no student can afford to miss. During his life he has seen more of the world than most men of his age and the results are shown in the wonderful business career he has had.

The following is a short sketch of his achievements: He was born in Fort Wayne, Indiana, and received his education at DePauw University. He received his A. B. degree in that place in 1890 and followed this up with an L. L. B. the following year. In 1893 he received his M. A. in the same university. However, before this time, he was admitted to the Indiana bar and began his law practice. Since that time his business has carried him all over the United States. He has practiced in New York, Michigan, California, Tennessee, and Arkansas, and then went to China where for ten years he was before the public. Here he made a new reputation for himself as a writer when, during the Boxer Uprising, he did considerable writing for Leslie's Weekly, taking entire charge of the Chinese question. A few years later he was called to Washington for a consultation with President McKinley over complications that had arisen from the Chinese Empire. He was then offered a position in the United States Service which he declined. Since that time he has organized several trust companies and become an expert in organization of railways having held some important positions in this line. He was counsel for the Everett-Moore Railroad Syndicate and has reorganized many more trust companies and railroad systems. He has been a constant writer for several financial and transportation journals and is considered an authority on all financial and economic questions and Chinese matters. At present his home is in New York City where he is well known both as an attorney and a financial expert.

He will arrive here this morning and will give his first talk this afternoon at five o'clock. At six-thirty he will be the guest of honor at the University Club Banquet held in Cochran Hall. Tomorrow at Chapel time he will speak again and at five o'clock he will deliver his third and last lecture and will leave in the evening for his home in New York City.

The Quill Club will hold its regular monthly meeting tonight at the home of Dr. Lockwood on North Main Street. The business meeting will be called to order promptly at 6:15 and immediately after the meeting the members of the club will go to the Hotel Kepler where a banquet is to be served for them.

The Biology Club will hold a very important meeting tonight in Alden Hall. Initiation of members is to take place and a paper will be read by Sidney Burwell, '14. Mr. Burwell has been studying medicine for two years and is well informed on the subject he is going to handle tonight. A full attendance is expected.

Mr. Paul Kepner, of Hartford, O., was the week-end guest of his brother, Lee Kepner, '16, at the Phi Gamma Delta House.

Carl Mulfinger, '15, spent a few days of last week as a visitor at Bucknell. He represented the alumni speaker for State College at a Phi Gamma Delta convention.

A number of the alumni are returning for a few days to visit the college during their vacations from the graduate schools.

The lecture that was to have been given last Friday evening before the Modern Problems Club, had to be postponed indefinitely owing to the fact that Mr. Ossian E. Carr, '00, who was to have delivered it, was unable to come at the last minute.

Dr. Snavely attended the Sunday services this week at the Odd Fellows' Home, where he gave the children a short talk.

President Crawford spent Thursday on business in Pittsburgh and while there spoke before the Wilkinsburg High School. Later in the week he journeyed to Columbus, Ohio, where he preached Sunday.

The public speaking recital, which was to have been held Friday, was postponed indefinitely.

The Duzer Du play has been making splendid progress during the past week but the matter of choosing the cast has been an exceptionally hard one. Owing to the large number of people out for the cast, which this year comprises comparatively few characters, it has been no easy task to eliminate the poorer talent. In fact, at the present time there are nearly two distinct casts rehearsing regularly and the final characters will be picked from these. At the time this paper went to press it was not possible to definitely announce the final choice, but before vacation the names will be known and probably posted.

In last week's Campus there was an article concerning the new exhibits in the Biology Building. Since that time, the collection of bird pictures with their valuable data as to when they arrive here in Meadville, and relative to how common they are, has been completed for the month of April. The following are the dates when these birds are due:

On April 1st. the Flicker and the Cow Bird; April 2nd, the Swamp Sparrow; April 3rd. the Vesper Sparrow; the 5th. is the Field Sparrow; the 6th the Rusty Blackbird; the 7th. the Yellow Bellied Sap Sucker; the 8th the Towhee; the 13th Grinnell's Water Thrush; the 14th the Ruby Crowned Knight; 15th the Wilson's Thrush; the 16th the Goldfinch; and the 18th the House Wren.

Several bird trips have been made recently by some of the Biology students and it has been noticed that these birds are appearing very close to schedule.

H. C. Mitinger, of Wilkinsburg, a Penn State graduate in the class of 1908, accepted the position of base ball coach at W. & J. last Saturday and took charge of the team yesterday. He attended Allegheny prep school before entering Penn State and is remembered in Meadville as one of the best pitchers that was ever connected with Allegheny. His career as a pitcher at Penn State was very successful and after leaving college he played in the New York State league. Later he embarked in insurance business in Wilkinsburg where he is now engaged.
