Dear Faith Baldwin:

I would not be dictating a note to you if it were not that neuritis has temporarily (I Hope) put my right hand out of commission. However, the same neuritis has done me a good turn. It put me to bed yesterday with "American Family" which I read from end to end with admiration increasing as I travelled.

You have done a mighty good piece of work, my dear - sound sympathetic, understanding and so important, always keeping the interest. You have made a piece of serious work flow, a real achievement as I see it.

Always affectionately

Miss Faith Baldwin
