

THE EDITOR'S OFFICE
WOMAN'S HOME COMPANION
NEW YORK

June First,
Nineteen Hundred and Eighteen.

Dear Miss Tarbell:

I am enclosing three applications for positions which seemed to me possibilities for the Woman's Committee position. I have also taken the liberty of sending to you a young woman by the name of Bernice Brown. She came in to see me to-day from Every Week, which as you know is being discontinued. As she seemed anxious to go to Washington, and as I know she has given satisfaction on Every Week, it seemed to me that she might fill the bill with you.

If it is not too much trouble, may I ask you to return all the applications that I have sent you?

Very sincerely yours,

Miss Ida M. Tarbell,
132 East 19th Street,
New York City.

GBL-MB

P.S. I find that Miss Barker misunderstood my directions and did not send you the actual applications of the people whom I thought might fill your position acceptably. I am therefore sending to you more facts about the people whose names Miss Barker has already sent you. One of the young ladies whose name Miss Barker sent came in to see me and I failed to make a note of her special qualifications, but I remember being particularly impressed by her personality and the things she told me about her work. She is now working for Vogue. Her name is Miss Maude A. White.
