Emery, Jr. Bradford ordered a copy of Standard Oil, said they had one, but she could not locate it. An old oil man, Mr. Tracy of Bradford ordered the second copy. Mrs. Emery said she would like to have you autograph her copy - am ordering tomorrow, and if the books come in before you leave Meadville, Mina will take them over.

I hope you are getting some rest, Miss Barr and Mina think you look so much better that when you came.

I wrote MacMillan about following up the oil book orders with Dr. Giddens review of your new book. I have not had a chance to read it yet -- just a page or two here and there - it will be delightful. Evenings I am pretty tired and cannot read for long.

I sincerely hope that I may sell as many copies of your book as I did the oil book. Of course the Christmas season was on then, and a great many copies were used for Christmas gifts. I am trying to sell your book for Commencement gifts, and may.

With the kindest wishes, I remain

Very cordially,

Rona Barrett
