Dear Mr. Schlesinger:

I am sending you today by registered mail the manuscript of our book as far as completed. The last chapter is unfinished and I am obliged to go away on a two weeks business trip. I am taking the notes and may be able to finish the work while gone.

I hesitated about sending an unfinished piece of work but Mr. Putnam thought it would expedite matters to put what I have ready in your hands.

I recognize and you will see that the work needs considerable correction, but that aside - here is something, a start at least.

If you wish to communicate with me before I return a letter here will be promptly forwarded.

Very sincerely yours

Mr. Arthur M. Schlesinger
