Allegheny Loses to Carnegie Tech by 27-0 Score in Stubborn Game

Gold and Blue Played Wonderful Game but Superior Weight of Plaid Machine Turned Tide of Victory

Although Allegheny was forced to taste defeat for the first time during the present season at the hands of Carnegie Tech last Saturday, the game by no means reflects dishonor on the Gold and Blue. On the other hand, Tech was forced to display her trump cards in order to turn the trick. The 27-0 score does not begin to do justice to the closeness of the team play. It was a fiendish struggle from beginning to end both sides bringing forth cheers from the rooters on several occasions through their good playing.

Allegheny held the Skiboos to a lone touchdown during the first half, overcoming Tech's big weight advantage by sheer fight. During this period, McConnell, the locals' only veteran guard, was forced to retire because of injuries sustained. Also Drake and Baldwin were hurt so that neither could play the game through, and Kerr and Cunningham were used as substitutes. Kerr was one of the stars of the game, his forward passes keeping the Techites on their toes throughout the remainder of the game. The only men on the local team who completely outplayed their men were Harbaugh, Cook and Miller. Harbaugh is deserving of special mention because of the manner in which he repeatedly broke through the Tech line and mugged up plays. Although Cook sustained a wrenched knee in the first quarter, he pluckily stuck the game out and outplayed his man.

The Pittsburgh papers were very enthusiastic over the manner in which Allegheny held their opponents. Dopesters from the Pittsburgh district were counting on having Tech run up a big score, but when the first half ended with only one touchdown scored against Allegheny, they realized that the new machine of the locals was under-rated.

Allegheny came back at the beginning of the second half and threatened to score. They opened up with an aerial attack and gained 50 yards on four forward passes, but Tech finally learned how to break them up and took the ball on downs on the 37-yard line. Finlay, Tech's star, then made a 63-yard run for a touchdown. This seemed to take the heart out of Allegheny and they were never dangerous after that.

Finlay was undoubtedly the shining light of the day. He scored three touchdowns, one by making a spectacular 63-yard run, and one by running through the entire Allegheny team after intercepting a forward pass. The entire Tech team, however, is deserving of credit for their brilliant and sportsmanlike team play.

The play by periods was as follows:

First Quarter.

Allegheny first showed its strength in the first quarter when, after short end runs and line smashes, the ball was placed on the Allegheny 15-yard line. On two tries, Brunwasser placed it on the 9-yard mark and then Kesner was thrown for a 6-yard loss. Kesner's forward pass to Wright placed the pigskin on the 5-yard mark, but a few inches short to register a first down, and the oval went to Allegheny. It was booted out of the danger zone, and Tech again started a steady march to the coveted chalk line.

On the dash around Allegheny's right end and a line smash, Marshall took the ball from the Allegheny 34-yard mark to the 10. Brunwasser fumbled after carrying the ball to within 7 yards of the goal. Scannell fell on it, and on the next play punted to Kesner on Allegheny's 30-yard line. Marshall made 8 yards at Allegheny's left end and Finlay carried the ball to the Allegheny 16-yard line. Marshall took it to the 12 and Brunwasser to the 10. Kesner then skirted right end, and placed the oval within three yards of the line. Marshall was thrown for a 3-yard loss, placing the pigskin 6 yards from the goal. On the next play, Finlay crashed through Allegheny's left tackle for the first tally, just a few moments before the end of the first quarter. Kesner failed to kick goal. Score, Tech 6, Allegheny 0.

Second Quarter.

Little scoring was done in the second quarter, but it was none the less interesting. Shortly after play was

Rules For Freshmen Appeared Last Friday

COLLEGE COUNCIL DREW UP ANNUAL RULES GOVERNING FRESHMAN CLASS—UPPER CLASSES TO BACK THEIR ENFORCEMENT.

Friday morning the Freshman Rules appeared. The following rules have been published by the College Council to govern the Freshman Class until Feb. 22. These rules apply not only to the young men but also to the young women of the class. The caps for the boys are bright green skull caps with a yellow ball of yarn on the crown, while the girls' caps are in the form of green tan o' shanters. The rules are as follows:

I. All Freshmen must wear green caps from 8 a. m. until 6 p. m., Sundays excepted, until the Washington Birthday banquet.

II. Freshmen must use only sidewalks on the campus.

III. Freshmen must not loiter about the chapel or any of the college buildings, but must enter and take their seats at once.

IV. Freshmen must not hold any class functions or display their class colors before the Washington Birthday banquet.

V. Freshman men must not accompany co-eds on the campus.

VI. Freshman men must wear black socks and black shoes only.

VII. Freshman men must carry baggage of members of athletic teams to and from station throughout the year.

VIII. Freshmen must build college bonfires when so directed by the college cheer leader or by the Senior President.

IX. Freshmen must ring the college bell at the end of every athletic victory.

X. It shall be the duty of the Sophomore class, backed by the two upper classes, to enforce these rules.

XI. It shall be the duty of the two upper classes to call to the attention of the Sophomore class any infraction of these rules.

By order of the College Council.

Basket Ball Practice Started Last Week

PRE-SEASON PRACTICE IS BRINGING OUT SOME PROMISING MATERIAL AMONG UNDER-CLASSMEN—HARD SCHEDULE PLANNED.

The first week of pre-season basket ball practice found the usual large number of aspirants for 'varsity positions reporting for work under the direction of Captain Bianchi, '18. The three practice periods were devoted to shadow ball, shooting practice, and to generally becoming accustomed to handling the ball. After one week of such rudimentary drill it is of course impossible to make any real judgment of the new material, but of the 28 Freshmen reporting, a number show marked adeptness in handling the ball. Shaner, Goldman, Meredith, L. Smith, and Ontko especially attracted attention in this respect. Six men of last year's squad were in uniform and will make a strong bid for each of the three positions open. C. McKinney, '17, will try for center, with Kahl, '17; Lane, '18; A. W. McKinney, '19; Lavelly, '19, and Clothier, '19, trying for the two open forwards.

Coach Hammett and Captain Bianchi have described the basket ball situation as promising but are unwilling to express themselves as too optimistic, since they appreciate the difficulty of building a championship team with but two veterans as a foundation. Askey, '17, and Miller, '17, last year's substitutes, are counted the most likely men in the three upper classes for the positions of center and forward, respectively, and will make great efforts to fill the places of Cox, Bush, or McKay of last year's team. It must also be considered in this connection that Allegheny faces the hardest schedule ever worked out for a basket ball team from the college. Beginning Jan. 10 with Syracuse, the team meets in rapid succession Colgate, LaFayette, Pitt, Tech and the fast teams of the Ohio Conference. In addition, however, to the men of last year's squad and the Freshmen already mentioned, a number of Freshmen with good basket ball reputations are still out for foot ball and these must be considered as potential strengtheners of the team.

This week's three practice periods will be given over to a continuation of the work already started and to short scrimmages under the direction of the captain and Volk, '19, 'varsity guard from last year. In this way, the most promising candidates will be selected and the squad cut down so that at the end of the foot ball season all preliminary work will have been done and the actual work of building a winning team can be carried on.

MODERN PROBLEMS CLUB.

Modern Problems Club had its first regular meeting last Tuesday evening in the Library. Owing to the small attendance it was decided to postpone the evening's program until the first regular meeting. A short business meeting was held, during which motions were passed relative to a change in the constitution and by laws. The subject for study during the year was discussed and it seems to be the will of the members that this year is not to be limited to any one particular question but, instead, will be devoted to as many famous speakers as the club is able to procure. Committee appointments were made by Peckham, the President of the organization.

The resignation of the President of Northwestern University will not cause the school much inconvenience, it is said, because the Directors have decided to try to get along without a President in the future.

Y. M. C. A. Teams Are Taking Up Their Work

PRESIDENT DRAKE HAS STARTED PLAN WHICH WILL HELP ASSOCIATION IN OUTSIDE WORK.

A new idea is being developed in the Y. M. C. A. work which promises to be one of the greatest plans that has ever been attempted by this organization. For several years, the Y. M. C. A. has had charge of considerable outside work in this city along religious and educational lines. During the past two weeks, President Drake has been working on a new plan in which the committee system plays a big part.

All committees of the Association have begun active work and in conjunction with these, three teams have been organized which are to take charge of religious services in this vicinity. The plan has been in operation for the past week and has shown surprisingly good results. The first was at the Old Ladies' Home and at the Poor Farm. One week ago last Sunday two of the teams conducted very successful services at these two places, and later in the week, the third team took charge of the Wednesday evening evangelistic services at the Vallonia chapel.

This work is being taken under the charge of the neighborhood committee and the gospel team committee of the association. It is the work of the neighborhood committee, under Don Longanecker to find places where these meetings are needed and to notify M. B. Clendenien, who assigns the work.

The idea of having five men in a team who work regularly together is also bringing good results. These same men become used to each other's ways and work together for one result. They mould their talks and shape their remarks so that they all lead up to one main point, much as the groups of men do who are in charge of revivalistic campaigns.

Last Sunday, one group held religious services in the county jail. From time to time this will be repeated as will the meeting at the Poor Farm every two weeks. It has also been arranged that the Wednesday evening meetings will be taken charge of as long as the revival is held in Vallonia.

President Drake and his assistants are making every effort possible to make the Y. M. C. A. the powerful institution in this community that it deserves to be, and from the present indications the right kind of a start has been made.

The University of Michigan has passed a rule that no "posters" can be stuck on suit-cases or other luggage.

At a class rally of this year's graduating class at Princeton, it was agreed that each member of the class should take out an insurance policy in favor of the college. The total amount which the university will realize from these policies will approximate $60,000.

Provisions have been made by the Class of 1913, Arts and Science, Columbia University, whereby each year, the member of her foot ball team who attains the highest scholastic standard will be awarded a silver cup.

That Grove City Affair to be Settled

'VARSITY ELEVEN IS PREPARING TO EVEN UP NEXT SATURDAY FOR LAST YEAR'S DEFEAT.

Next Saturday the annual duel between Allegheny and Grove City will be staged on Montgomery Field. Indications are that Allegheny will have no trouble in beating their former rivals although the contest will probably be an interesting one from the spectators' standpoint. It is the desire of all followers of the Gold and Blue that Allegheny make the defeat as decisive as possible in order to wipe out the sad memories of last year's fracas.

The Tech aggregation did not cripple the local men so much that any one of them will be forced to remain idle next week. Baldwin's cut over the eye, Cook's bunged knee and McConnell's slight injuries it is hoped are not serious enough to prevent their being in uniforms when the whistle blows next Saturday. Drake is also on the hospital list, having been knocked senseless in the first quarter of Saturday's encounter, but he is now also fully recovered.

A comparison of the scores made by the two teams against Carnegie Tech leaves no doubt in the minds of Allegheny fans that we will be able to add another victory to our string. On Oct. 14, Tech humbled Grove City to the tune of 68-0. Tech had no difficulty in making large gains through Grove City's line, around the ends or even by an aerial attack. Such was not the case, however, when Tech lined up against the locals last Saturday. During the first half, Tech was able to score only one touchdown and a safety. During the second half three more touchdowns were scored, but Allegheny had four of her second string men in her lineup due to the fact that the regulars were forced to retire through injuries.

However, we should "knock on wood" when we say that Allegheny will have an easy time disposing of the Grove Cityites because history proves that teams have been too certain of victory only to finish the game with a minority of the points chalked up beside their name. There is no doubt of the fact that last year Allegheny had a team far superior to Grove City, but when the final count was made Allegheny was on the short side of the score. The same was true three years ago when a team went down to Grove City expecting to return home with a big score to its credit, and was forced to bow to their intended victims. Although dope seems to indicate that we will have no trouble in disposing of the old jinx, the local men have learned enough by the experiences of the teams that have gone before them that they cannot claim victory until the game is over.

The return of Askey to the game will be a big addition to the team. Although Cook has been playing an excellent game at fullback, his services are needed too much in other places to have him fill the shoes of "Zip." It may be that Cook will be shifted up to fill the hole that was so noticeable in the right side of the line last Saturday after McConnell was forced to retire. The team that starts the game will be essentially the same as the one of last Saturday with one or two slight changes.

OCTOBER 24, 1916.

In this issue of the Campus mention is made of the new work which the Y. M. C. A. is taking up. For several years this organization has made small efforts to help out in the surrounding community, but has always been handicapped by a lack of support from the entire association. This year the prospects are a little more encouraging and the work has been enlarged. The attempts are still small, however, in comparison with the work which a Y. M. C. A. in a college of this kind and size should be capable of accomplishing.

It is a most peculiar fact that nearly every student who is enrolled at Allegheny has been eager to have his name associated with some Christian denomination when his name has been placed in the college records, but when it comes to the support of the one big Christian organization of which Allegheny boasts, over fifty percent of these men fall by the wayside and can not be even forced to join. Even more strange is the fact that of the fifty percent who do belong, a most charitable estimate would say that half of these never attend meetings or take any active interest in the work. These are the nasty facts which the Y. M. C. A. president and cabinet are confronting, but they are bravely starting out and trusting that the support which they so much deserve will be forthcoming when needed.

Allegheny College has never refused to support a worthy cause when a direct appeal for help is made. Is it going to be necessary to ask each individual man for his individual help to keep the Association the live organ it is trying to be in college and community, or will the students of this college see their duty, put their shoulder to the wheel, and be as eager to have their names associated with the Young Men's Christian Association as they were to be affiliated with some church?

While we are forced to admit that the Tech score was somewhat lopsided and looks bad to the outsider who knows nothing about either team, there is no cause for any criticism upon our players. From all reports of the game, every man who defended the Gold and Blue put all the fight possible into his playing with the result that men who have never played in more than two or three games for Allegheny, when put to this test played like old veterans and starred in their own position. It did the hearts of the alumni good to see a practically green team hold an aggregation like Tech time and time again for downs when they were only a few yards from the goal. The game was certainly nothing to be ashamed of, but instead may be the basis of most favorable predictions for the team when these future stars have had a year's experience.

CLASSICAL CLUB.

The first meeting of the Classical Club was held on Tuesday evening in the club room in the library. The election of another member for the Executive Committee, delegate-at-large, to fill the vacancy made by the absence of Miss Mabel Walker, was held, and M. B. Clendenien, '17, was chosen for the position. An interesting program, consisting of papers descriptive of the different objects of art in the Classical Club room, was then presented.

A number of excellent casts are owned by the club; and the description of them proved very interesting and instructive. Among the articles are casts of the head of Zeus, the Mourning Athena, a tablet representing the story of Orpheus, Psyche of Patmos, the Nike of Samathres, Venus de Milo, a relief of a Nike from the Temple of Athena on the Acropolis, a Hera head, a grave stone from 400 B. C., a bust of Caesar, the Young Octavian, and portions of capitals and wall bands. There are also several pictures of classical subjects. Those who took part in the program were Miss Rowley, M. B. Clendenien, Miss Megirt, G. W. Mumford, Miss Ritchie, Dr. Elliott, and Professor Ross.

FORUM.

The Philo-Franklin Forum held its regular weekly meeting last Thursday afternoon in Philo-Franklin Hall. Unfortunately, none of the debaters were able to be present, and consequently the debate set for the day had to be indefinitely postponed. After some discussion concerning the method of procedure, it was decided not to attempt an extemporaneous debate. A short discussion of various points of parliamentary law followed, in which several new points were brought to light. This discussion was followed by a motion for adjournment.

It was decided that the debate scheduled for next Thursday should be treated on that date, and the skipped debate indefinitely postponed. The subject for next week is, "Resolved, That the commission form of government is a success."

GERMAN CLUB.

A meeting of the German Club was held in Bentley Hall Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock. It was open to all who were interested and a large number of the students were present. The meeting was opened with the singing of German songs. Miss Bessie Preston, '17, sang a solo, after which Professor Mulfinger read a paper on German Universities. Prof. Matthei gave several German readings and a debate was held upon the question, Beschlossen dasz Herr Hughes unter obwaltenden Verhältnissen eine bessere Era des Nationalen Gederlens herbei führen könnte als die Gegenwärtige, between Miss Esther Emery, '18, and Mr. John Castle, '18, (affirmative) and Miss Helen Kulp, '17, and Mr. John Weaver, '17, (negative.) It was won by the affirmative, and caused a great deal of interest. Light refreshments were then served.

ASSEMBLY MORNING IN INTEREST OF KALDRON.

The chapel period Friday morning was given over to the interests of the annual publication of the college, the Kaldron. After the singing of one of the college hymns, E. V. Askey, '17, president of the Senior class, took charge of the assembly and, after a short speech, introduced the first speaker, R. Yost, '17, Editor of the Kaldron.

In a few words he outlined the plans of this year's staff and announced the expectation of turning out a bigger and better book than ever before. The slogan, as adopted, is "Freedom of the Press and Truth." A request for material was followed by the announcement that a box would be placed in the hall of Bentley for the reception of articles for publication.

K. M. Woodard, '18, Manager of the Kaldron, followed with the statement that, on account of the increased price of paper and of the book in general, the price would have to be advanced. For the leather-bound book, the price will be $1.00 for the slip and $1.00 when the book is received, or $2.50 for the book without the slip; for the cloth-bound book, $.75 for the slip and $1.00 when the book is received, or $2.00 for the book without the slip.

President Crawford then gave a few remarks endorsing the manager's statements, and expressing the hope that the student body will stand back of this year's staff in the effort to produce a good Kaldron, both as to mechanical and literary features.

FOOT BALL FANS MADE ANNUAL ORE TRAIN TRIP.

As has been the custom in former years, a large number of college men, both Freshmen and upper classmen, journeyed to Pittsburgh the latter part of last week via the "side door Pullman" route, otherwise known as a Bessemer freight train, to see the Carnegie Tech-Allegheny game. Despite the sudden cold spell, which threatened cold seats on the freight, the men who had planned on the trip left Friday evening on the interurban car to Harmonsburg Station, where the required train was to be had. After a cold ride and a number of exciting experiences, including a change of trains in the Butler yards, the ore-besmeared crew arrived in Pittsburgh in plenty of time for the game. In spite of the fact that everyone declared the game well worth the trip, it was noticed that a number of the more cold-blooded men returned on the passenger train with the team. The majority, however, returned via the route they had come, arriving in Meadville Sunday morning with all the earmarks of genuine tramps.

First Issue of the Lit Appeared on Monday

MAGAZINE CONTAINS SEVERAL GOOD STORIES AND OTHER INTERESTING MATERIAL.

The first edition of the Literary Monthly has appeared and is a number which does credit to the manager and members of the staff who have contributed the material it contains. The magazine has appeared in a new and attractive cover design and contains almost fifty pages of matter.

The first article is an editorial by J. C. Weaver, the editor of the publication, who in a well thought out manner, under the head of "Is the Lit. Justifying Its Existence?" makes a strong plea for the magazine and outlines the policy of the publication as well as making suggestions for future contributors.

The next article is a story signed by H. J. S., '19. "The Supreme Test" is a gripping love story, handled with such a delicate touch that it brings out the noblest of thoughts in the crisis through which the two characters of the story pass before their true happiness comes. The author has made the most of the plot and brought out some splendid ideas along the line of English and rhetorical work.

"To the New Year" is a short poem by Miss Ernestine Sprong, '19, which is worthy of considerable praise.

"A Canadian Military School" is a series of extracts from a most interesting letter from Allen Hutcheon ex-'19, who is attending the Royal Military College at Kingston, Ontario.

"Adou," by Robert Howell, '19, is a story in blank verse which merits publication in any of the best current magazines.

"The Funny Side of College" is a complete department, dedicated to the humorous side of life. It contains three articles which are all bound to please; they are "Overheard at the Y. M.-Y. W. Reception," "A Drummer's Diary," and "Some Noted People."

With these splendid articles, the magazine is well balanced with good material and has made a good start toward a successful year.

MANDOLIN CLUB REORGANIZED.

Following the recent appointment of J. E. Isherwood, '18, to the position of leader of the Mandolin Club, the try-outs for positions on the club were held under his supervision. This year's club is considerably larger than that of last year, and several new men of considerable talent have been added. In addition to size, the club has increased as regards variety of instruments. Several violins, a cello, traps, and a eukalee are included in this year's list of instruments, as well as the customary mandolins and guitars.

In all, these should afford a touch of variety not hitherto attained.

The club, as chosen after the try-outs, is made up of the following men: Mandolins—J. E. Isherwood, '18; C. E. McKinney, '17; R. Yost, '17; F. C. Bolard, '19; first violin—O. Z. Beatty, '19; T. B. McCafferty, '20; second violin—R. H. Phillips, '19; guitars—F. B. Doane, '17; R. V. Sheldon, '19; cello—R. F. Brownell, '19; traps—J. S. Ogden, '18; G. G. Meredith, '20.

The manager, R. H. Phillips, '19, is very optimistic concerning the coming season and there is every reason to believe that the musical clubs of the college will maintain the successful records of former years. Thus far, but one trip has been scheduled, a ten-day trip in December to Buffalo. The combined clubs will probably leave about Dec. 12 and return the 23rd.

The regular Sunday evening Y. W. C. A. meeting was led by Miss Esther Averill, '19, and was given over to a Bible Study Rally. She told of the numerous reasons why people read and study the Bible; some read because they want to, to increase their faith, for teaching purposes, and others for their friends because they depend upon them. The need of a special time for Bible study and prayer was emphasized. The many benefits of such study were enumerated and classified. The leader then told of the courses in Bible study which have been arranged for and urged each one to take an active interest in them. The classes start next Wednesday evening and will be led by the girls. A special feature of the meeting was a solo by Miss Isabel Freer, '18.

Miss Charlotte Whipple, '16, of Oil City, spent the week-end in Meadville. The Sunday dinner guests at the Hall were Miss Lillian Fetzer, '17, the guest of Miss Agnes Robinson, '17; Miss Adelaide Singley, '18, the guest of Miss Gertrude Simpson, '18; Miss Dorothy Nichols, '18, the guest of Miss Mildred Richey, '17; Miss Agnes McMahon, '15, of Erie, the guest of Miss Mary Flahaven, '17.

Miss Mary Hamilton, '19, spent the week-end at her home in Butler.

Miss Bernice Thoburn, '16, who has been teaching in Harbor Creek, N. Y., spent the week-end at her home in Meadville.

Mrs. Albert Caldwell, formerly Miss Josephine Singley, '15, and Miss Agnes McMahan, '15, of Erie, were in Meadville for the week-end.

Miss Ethel Hatton, of Espyville, was the guest of Miss Mary Baker, '19, several days at the end of the week.

Miss Alice Little, of Espyville, was the week-end guest of Miss Hazel Linn, '18.

Closed Rushing Season Declared for One Month

INTERFRATERNITY CONFERENCE, FOR SAKE OF SCHOLARSHIP, PASSED RULE, AT REQUEST OF FACULTY.

Owing to a state of general dissatisfaction which seemed to exist among the faculty, owing to the poor marks of the Freshman class during the past few weeks, President Crawford asked that the present system of fraternity rushing be modified to some extent that the members of the beginning class may have a better chance to get started right in their classes. Owing to the spirited rivalry existing between the several fraternities represented in the college the Freshmen have had very little time to themselves. As a result of this, when President Crawford asked for a change of some kind, the inter-fraternity conference met and drew up new rules which are to govern the rushing from now until the end of the present season. These rules were approved by President Crawford and were immediately taken up by the several fraternities for consideration. After their approval, they went into force yesterday morning.

After much discussion, the following motion was passed unanimously by the inter-fraternity conference:—"That there be a closed rushing season, starting Monday, Oct. 23, and lasting until Nov. 23, (six days before bidding) allowing the one day before bidding to be absolutely closed." The closed rushing season comprised the following points:

1—No fraternity men shall be with Freshmen at any time, other than between bells on school days. By this it is understood that there is to be no talking to Freshmen after 4 p. m. and none on Saturday after 12:30 p. m. and none on Monday until 2:00. (The fraternity open houses are excepted.)

2—There is to be no walking or talking to Freshmen off the campus. This means no downtown appointments, or even walking up or down the hill with them, even though the meeting is purely accidental.

3—No fraternity men are to be allowed in any Freshman buildings; no pool playing nor bowling with Freshmen.

4—In case of infringement of rules, the inter-fraternity conference shall sit as a tribunal, and any fraternity which shall by a majority vote of the tribunal be judged guilty, shall have the privileges of all afternoon appointments for the last week taken from it, and at a second offense, the evening dates.

Y. M. C. A.

A rather small attendance and an unusually well constructed and inspiring talk marked the college Y. M. C. A. meeting which occurred in Cochran Hall. William Brownell, '17, was the leader and during the course of his talk he mentioned some of the "bushels" under which many college men hide their lights. His talk was most inspiring and helpful to all who were fortunate enough to be present. His treatment of these "bushels" was very good and it is to be hoped that the results of the meeting will be far reaching.

ALLEGHENY LOSES TO CARNEGIE

started in this period, Brunwasser made first down for Tech on Allegheny's 25-yard line. Marshall carried the ball to the Allegheny 18-yard mark and Finlay to the 12. Marshall then took the ball to within one yard of the goal line. Brunwasser was selected to carry it over and succeeded when an opening was made in the line, but just as he crossed the goal, he fumbled and Scannell fell on the ball. Scannell then attempted to punt, but his kick was blocked by McFeaters. An Allegheny player grabbed the oval, but he was pushed over his own goal line for a safety.

Near the end of the second quarter Gibson intercepted Cook's forward pass on Allegheny's 25-yard line. Finlay was forced out of bounds on the eight and Marshall added one yard at right end. Brunwasser took the ball to the 5-yard mark, and on the next play took it within a few inches of the goal line, but Tech lost the ball on downs.

Third Quarter.

The first touchdown in the third quarter was made after the most spectacular play of the game. With the ball in Allegheny's possession on Tech's 37-yard mark, Kerr fumbled. The ball was scooped up by Finlay while he was running full speed, and, with little interference, eluded all opposing tacklers and ran 63 yards for a touchdown. Kesner then kicked his only goal of the game. Score, Tech 15, Allegheny 0.

Brunwasser was responsible for the next touchdown. After he had brought it to the one-yard mark, Kesner was selected to carry the pigskin over the goal line. He did so, but fumbled as he crossed the goal. Brunwasser was on the job, and grabbed the oval. Kesner failed to kick goal. Score, Tech 21, Allegheny 0.

Fourth Quarter.

With final time fast approaching, and the ball on Allegheny's 43-yard line, Finlay plunged through right tackle and placed the ball on the 35. Kesner put it on the 20-yard mark after skirting left end. Brunwasser made 3 yards and Marshall 10, through the line. Allegheny's players were putting forth every effort at this stage of the game to avert another tally, but without success, as Kesner then took the ball to his opponents' 6-yard line and Marshall added another. With the oval on the 5-yard mark, Finlay carried it over by plunging through right tackle. Kesner again failed to kick goal.

Final score—Tech 27, Allegheny 0.

Y. W. C. A.

Dr. Henke was the leader of the meeting Wednesday evening. He spoke upon the subject of "Attitudes." He first explained them from a psychological standpoint. They are hidden away in our lives and cannot be readily seen. They are a spring from which our actions come and they may be divided into two groups: the genital or heredity group and the animal or human group. To the genital group belong the instinctive and impulsive attitudes and to the animal or human group, the higher attitudes of thought, reflection, reason, etc. It is the latter group which singles out the individual. The direction of progress has been from the animal attitude into the human attitude.

There are certain individuals who have a shrinking attitude toward life. They have not progressed far enough in the human attitudes and in the genuine quest of things worth while. If we shrink from problems confronting us in our college life, we shall probably never again have that opportunity. Other attitudes considered as belonging to the human group were: the quest for things and the quest for personality which is a search and striving for character. Students should not lose sight of those things which make for character building.

The speaker closed by saying that the attainment of character is life's greatest achievement.
