

yes Tuesday Herald that she has advertised for a maids. for 4 weeks hope she will get one but I doubt it. So many wanting help - I know what Calada tells me about - that cows there must be some thing wrong about her feed or care. She ought to give from 12 to 15 lbs of milk per day if she is fresh (that is if she has a calf this spring) and is taking proper care of - The way to her milk, or may not like her milk. If they will give her a bran or chop mash, every night and morning when they milk her in eating the milk, she will forget her troubles and give down her milk. Some cows are very nervous about their milkers and hold up their milk. A gentle son and one that has been petted, will not give down their milk if they are spoken to sharply. The milk goes so fat. Of course I don't know the truth.
Clara thinks you do not get more than 3 or 4 lbs a day - that will not pay you - Have them give her a mess, when milking, of chop or bran, wet with lukewarm water and a small handful of salt - give her plenty of water. She will do better when she gets green feed. I would bring her home, pet her, and give her a clean home, and plenty of feed - Sara was better when she left - but looked very thin and pale. She was sleeping and eating better than she has been for some time. I wish she would write I am worried about her, but I can't help things, any way - I get Rather blue some times, but-what is the use of that, she will not allow me to do any thing for her any way so I just look on and keep silent.

Clara and I were out on the Board walk this forenoon. This afternoon I have had a long sleep. And she is out some where. I am waiting now for her to come in for dinner - I've got your bag done all but lining - what color would you prefer? I tried it over black but it did not look well. I've been learning to make roses and the jobs that have ribbon through them.

Great fun. I've a regular page an' a crochet. All the last winters anterie have gone; except the Brendons they will stay till June, but there is a little lady, a Miss Havope from Washington D.C. that can crochet with any of us. So I am all right.

Clara just in and brought a friend from N.Y. to stop here, next morning found her at the Chesler, came
