LOSING TO PITT, BUT VICTORIOUS OVER TECH, THE TEAM RETURNS FROM SOUTHERN TRIP

Score of 31-20 Registers Allegheny's First Loss to Pitt. 25-20 Victory Over Tech Shows Better Style of Playing

For the first time in the history of the college, Allegheny was forced to lower her colors before the University of Pittsburgh basket ball team last Friday in the Trees Gymnasium at Pittsburgh. Nine times have basket ball teams from the two institutions met and until this year the score had always been on the Allegheny side. The game was played before a crowd which taxed the capacity of the gymnasium to the limit,—a crowd composed largely of Allegheny alumni who always turn out in force for this game. This year they saw Pitt earn the victory for the final score was in favor of the side that played the better basket ball. Pitt deserved the victory, playing brilliant basket ball in both periods, doing most of their scoring in the first half and guarding rather closely in the second.

For Pitt the story of the game is largely concerned with but two men: Captain Hastings and foul-tosser Lubic. At center Hastings was opposed to Volk, who was shifted up from guard where he starred last year. Volk showed his lack of experience at the position in every minute of the game, while Hastings, playing a star game, took advantage of every error of his man. In the first half he made 5 baskets, most of them from difficult angles, and held Volk scoreless. In the second half Volk reverted more to his old guard habits and held Hastings even. Allegheny's defeat may be charged largely to this fact,—that no real 'varsity calibre center was available and that a good man shifted into a position for which his experience had not trained him was unable to hold down the star he had for an opponent. Lubic, for Pitt, tossed 14 out of 15 fouls, and it might be well to add that the one he missed rolled around the rim several times before it finally dropped over the side.

For Allegheny, Shaner was the individual star. He did not get started until the second half, but he then rang in four baskets in rapid succession. Not only in scoring did he lead, for his floor work and passing were of the highest order, and his work at the beginning of the second half seemed to put the life into Allegheny that enabled them to outscore Pitt in the second half. It seems that a Freshman must star for Allegheny in this game each year, for as Freshmen Bianchi and Volk played the stellar role in the last two games. Bianchi was especially effective on defense, was of the usual high order, and he scored two baskets, thus outscoring his man. Lane held the celebrated Lubic scoreless and also did good work in starting some of Allegheny's offensive plays. Kerr, while not appearing in the basket column, deserves much credit for the fight and spirit which he showed, being in the game every minute of play and constantly fighting for the ball.

The score:

Pitt—30.		Allegheny—21.
Carlson	F.	Shaner
Lubic	F.	Kerr
Hastings	C.	Volk
DeHart	G.	Bianchi
McNulty	G.	Lane

Score at end of first half: Pitt 21, Allegheny 7.

Baskets: Hastings 6, Carlson, McNulty; Shaner 4, Volk, Bianchi 2.

Fouls: Lubic 14 out of 15; Volk 0 out of 4, Kerr 7 out of 12.

Referee: Free Davis; Umpire, Slack.

In the second game of the trip with Carnegie Tech Saturday night, the team showed a complete reversal of form, brought about probably by the change in line-up. In the first half Stephens was at center and Volk was back at his old guard position. It was seen, however, that Stephens had not had the necessary experience to cope successfully with a man of Carey's stature, which measures almost six feet four inches in height, and at the beginning of the second period Lane was placed at center. While he has been at guard on the 'varsity squad, Lane in high school and in the interclass games in college played at center and his work there Saturday was of such a character that he will probably hold down that position in the games to come.

Tech ruling in regard to out-of-bounds play, confused the Allegheny team in the first half, but in the second the same rules governed this part of the game as have been used on our home floor and it brought immediate results in the Allegheny scoring column. Whereas the score at the end of the first half was Tech 12, Allegheny 7, with not a field goal on the Blue and Gold score, within a few minutes after the commencement of the second period the score was tied at 13. It was then that Volk earned his place as the star of the game. Beginning about the middle of the period, he caged six field goals in rapid succession from the center of the floor, and practically won the game by his individual work. In the entire second half it may be said that the Allegheny play was faster than in the Syracuse game at Meadville when the team seemed to be going at its best. The new line-up worked wonders for the team. While Lane was unable to get the tap, the team work was of the highest order and every man seemed to be in the right place at the right time. Volk, back at guard, and Bianchi effectively broke up any attempted team play of the Tech warriors and started the ball towards their own goal usually to Kerr,

Well Known Alumnus Dies

DEATH OF LIEUTENANT EVANS McKAY, '13, FOLLOWS ILLNESS CONTRACTED WHILE ON BORDER DUTY.

Word was received last Thursday of the death of Lieutenant Evans McKay, '13, at the Army and Navy Hospital at Hot Springs, Ark. The news was quite a shock to the college as well as the community, as only the day before it was reported that he was getting stronger. Pneumonia was the cause of McKay's death, which he contracted while on the Border with Company B of Meadville. He was first confined to the Base Hospital, but as his condition grew more serious, he was taken to Arkansas and his mother sent for. The news, however, arrived too late and Mrs. McKay was unable to arrive at his side before his death.

Mr. McKay was Principal of the Meadville High School and an Allegheny graduate of the Class of '13, as well as a summer school student. He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. T. McKay; two brothers, Paul and Winfield, ex.-'19; and a sister, Eleanor.

Trustees Hold Semi-Annual Meeting

MAKE GREAT PLANS FOR FUTURE AND FAVOR CAMPAIGN FOR ANOTHER HALF MILLION DOLLARS.

The regular semi-annual meeting of the Board of Trustees was held last Thursday at the Fort Pitt Hotel in Pittsburgh. There was a representative attendance of members of the Board. In the absence of President Frank A. Arter, Dr. Andrew C. Ellis, Assistant Editor of The Pittsburgh Christian Advocate, was elected to preside.

After prayer by Dr. James M. Thobern, the roll-call and reading of the minutes of the last meeting by the Secretary, reports were presented by the President, the Treasurer, the Executive Committee, the Financial Trustee and the Investment Committee. The reports from all investment funds were highly satisfactory. The boarding halls, in common with similar halls in other institutions, have been feeling the pressure of high prices, and the expenses for maintenance showed a considerable increase over previous years.

The Chairman of the Investment Committee, Harvey Henderson, Esq., made an interesting report concerning the Chicago property which was given to the college by Mr. John F. Eberhart. Mr. Henderson outlined certain plans which will considerably increase the income of the property in the near future.

With reference to the matter of increasing the capacity and facilities of the college, President Crawford recommended that in the near future, Allegheny College should enter upon a campaign for an additional half-million dollars. He stated that $200,000 of this amount would be needed for buildings and equipment. The buildings recommended included freshman dormitory for men, at a cost of $60,000; a dormitory for young women, at 50,000; an addition to the library stack room, to cost $20,000. Fifty thousand dollars was recommended for the enlargement of the gymnasium, to include swimming pool and other features; the remaining $20,000 to be used for increase of equipment in the library and laboratory. The President's recommendation also included $300,000 for endowment. This increase in resources, it was claimed, would make it possible for the college to admit, approximately, 100 additional students. This would mean a total attendance of 500 students instead of 400, to which the college is now limited by action of the Trustees. The matter was referred to a committee to report at the annual meeting in June.

The death of two Trustees was announced: Col. John J. Carter, of Titusville, who died in New York, Jan. 2, after a very short illness, and Rev. Joseph Horner, D. D., of Pittsburgh, which occurred at his home on the 13th inst. Appropriate resolutions were adopted in each case, copies of which were directed to be sent to the families.

Two new Trustees were elected, both on the nomination of the Alumni of the College, viz.; Miss Ida M. Tarbell, of New York, to be her own successor, and Dr. John A. Gibson, Superintendent of Public Instruction at Butler, each for a term of four years.

Prominent features of the meeting were gratifying reports from the several departments, earnest and favorable attention to plans for college upbuilding, and cordial co-operation by the Board in the suggestions for a larger and better Allegheny.

LAUNCHED $1000 CAMPAIGN HERE AMONG CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATIONS FOR PRISON CAMP RELIEF WORK.

The Y. M. C. A. was extremely fortunate last week in having as their guest Mr. William Miller, College Secretary of the Middle Atlantic States. The main purpose of Secretary Miller's visit was to launch the Prison Relief Campaign here as has been done in the leading colleges throughout the United States.

The Thursday chapel hour was given over to Mr. Miller, in which he gave a very earnest and interesting talk on "Prison Camps in Europe." He described graphically the existing conditions as related to him by his brother secretaries who have just come from the camps. He said in part:

"This great work undertaken by the Y. M. C. A. can partially be understood when you stop to consider that there are today six million young men of all classes huddled together in these camps which are to be found anywhere in Europe from the Isle of Mann to Siberia. The psychological effect is astonishing when these prisoners are taken from the most exacting of lives in a war trench and dropped down in an idle, melancholy and cheerless prison camp.

"These men must of necessity live in heatless camps, without proper clothing, ill nourished, and idle, with the themometer thirty degrees below zero in many instances.

"The Y. M. C. A. has felt it their duty to aleviate this pain and suffering and has been able to accomplish wonders under the able guidance of Thos. R. Mot with his forty-five secretaries. They first made a census of all the camps, and then proceeded immediately to organize faculties, bands, orchestras or schools to keep these men busy and fit them to be more able to take their places when the time for reconstruction comes.

"This is distinctly a college students' movement and it is the duty as well as the privilege of every American college student to support this worthy cause. One hundred twenty thousand dollars has already been raised by the college men and women, and Allegheny is now given her opportunity."

The local Y. M. C. A. has set their

SENIOR-SOPHOMORE BANQUET.

Last Thursday night the annual Senior-Sophomore banquet was held at the Lawrence Hotel in Erie. The members of these two classes, by taking a special car to Cambridge Springs, succeeded in getting out of town before the Juniors and Freshmen were able to stop them.

Upon arriving at Erie they at once proceeded to the Lawrence Hotel where a fine banquet was served. After the banquet, F. B. Doane, '17, acting as toastmaster, called upon several members of the two classes, who responded with toasts. After singing a number of Allegheny songs and giving a few cheers, the Seniors and Sophs started upon their return trip to Meadville.

Realizing that the members of the Juniors and Freshmen were waiting for them, the banqueting party approached the city with caution. Meanwhile, the Juniors and Freshmen were waiting in front of Cochran Hall for the return of the Seniors and Sophomores, who went to the Phi Gamma Delta house, where they barricaded themselves until daybreak, after which they returned to their several homes.

The only victim of this year's banquet was one Senior, who was caught while on his way to the car and given the customary free hair cut.

The success of the party was largely due to E. V. Askey, '17, the President of the Senior Class.

Colgate Game Will be Good Drawing Card

VISITING AGGREGATION WILL INCLUDE TWO ALL-AMERICAN ATHLETES AND SEVERAL WELL KNOWN STARS.

Aside from its interest as the first meeting of basket ball teams from the two institutions, the game between Allegheny and Colgate next Thursday will be worthy of note in that it brings to Meadville two All-American foot ball men. Anderson, an Erie High product, and West played quarterback and tackle respectively on Walter Camp's mythical foot ball eleven chosen from all the college players of the country. Not satisfied with this one great honor, which the athletic world has bestowed upon them, they are playing a star game on the basket ball five as well, and bid fair to earn national recognition in this branch also. Anderson is well known in basket ball circles in this region and has built up a great reputation for himself as a clean, aggressive player. That he is popular in his home city is shown by a request received by Manager Tarr that a considerable section of seats be put aside for a delegation which will be here from Erie to see their favorite in action. Anderson has been mentioned as one of the best players ever developed in this vicinity and it is significant of the general calibre of the Colgate team that this is his first year as a 'varsity man, last year seeing him warming the bench with the substitutes.

Colgate has one victory to its credit this year which alone serves to place their team high in the basket ball rating of colleges. In one of the early games of their schedule they defeated the fast Cornell team on the Ithaca floor by the score of 30 to 29. They meet the teams from practically all the eastern colleges and universities and in past years have registered a fair proportion of victories over such teams as Yale, Dartmouth, Amherst, Lehigh and Syracuse.

Allegheny's team will be in better shape than ever to meet this aggregation of stars according to the coach and captain. It is thought that at last the logical combination has been worked out with Lane at center and Volk back at guard. In the second half of the Tech game this combination had more real teamwork and showed more confidence in itself as a team than at any time this year. The one great need of the team is now for a consistent foul shooter, but it is possible that one of the men now trying will, by constant practice, be able to correct this lack. With a man of Lane's size at center, the team must of necessity give up any hope of securing the tap, but the added confidence of the team will more than make up for this fault. With Shaner putting up such an exceptionally brilliant game at forward; with Kerr to play his usual floor game and get the ball out of scrimmages; with Lane to serve as connecting link between guards and forwards, and with Bianchi and Volk aided by Lane to stop the offensive work of the opponents, Allegheny should be able to at least limit the defeats on the home floor to one this season and be returned the victor in the coming game.

Don't think that Veiths' can't please you.

The 1917 graduating class of Northwestern is composed of 75.61 per cent. of the students who entered in 1913. Only 39.48 per cent. of the Freshmen at Beloit see college through from beginning to end. At Carleton the per cent. is 51.16 and at Amherst it is 48.90.

An anonymous benefactor has given to Columbia University $600,000 with which to erect and equip as far as possible a building for its new school of business.

JANUARY 23, 1917.

Again, the need for a student senate was most clearly shown last Thursday night when the annual Senior-Sophomore banquet was held, and through the usual misunderstandings and misinterpretations of the tradition the scrap did not occur. It is a very unfortunate thing that no definite rules were drawn up before the occurrence, especially when both sides held such conflicting views of the requirements for the successful fulfillment of this tradition.

The Banquet.

As for the banquet itself, there is no question of its success, and the participating classes are to be both commended and congratulated on the clever manner in which they carried out their plans and succeeded in getting to a place where they could not be followed by the enraged classes who were not invited.

The technicalities, however, arose as soon as the return trip was undertaken. The question of when the banquet was over and when the scalps of the participants were safe was evidently decided in two separate and opposite opinions. When this occurred, the question arose as to which class had the right to make or interpret traditions for the entire college, as well as the question of the legality of any one class establishing itself as a judge of such matters when this class was implicated in the affair. Both sides cited instances to back up their stand, but owing to the heated state of mind of the participants the time was not well chosen for a calm and peaceable settlement of difficulties.

Certainly the banquet was cleverly arranged and executed, but the feeling which resulted shows clearly the need of some such body as the proposed senate should be,—one which will give a fair representation for all sides and which will anticipate such an occurrence and provide for its disposal.

GERMAN CLUB.

The regular fortnightly meeting of the German Club was held last Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock in the club rooms. The program of the evening took the form of a discussion of the lives of German generals, past and present. Those who took part are as follows: John Weaver, on Armius; Murray Ellis, on Frederic the Great; John Castle, on Bluecher; William Brownell, on von Moltke; G. D. Patterson, on von Hindenburg; Stanley Eberlee, on Mackenson.

Miss Ruth Ellis rendered a German song and Prof. Matthaie showed the club a number of pictures of German generals. The program for the rest of the year was announced, which includes the presenting of two German plays, which if worthy, will be presented later in the year before the entire college.

DR. HENKE SPEAKS ON JAPAN.

Dr. Henke delivered the second of his series of lectures on Foreign Lands last Thursday evening in Alden Hall. This lecture, which was purely descriptive, took the form of a delightful stereopticon trip through this garden spot of the world. It was preceded by a short talk by Dr. Henke in which he depicted its size and advancement. The highly as well as well colored slides used were the compliments of the Keystone View Company of Meadville.

MODERN PROBLEMS CLUB.

The regular meeting of the Modern Problems Club was held last Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock in the Library. Several matters of importance were brought up, including amendments to the constitution regarding quorum and the election of committees.

The business session was followed by a very comprehensive speech of Prof. Hubbart, in which he compared and contrasted the older and newer Democracy, the whole being a survey of past and present political ideals.

CLASSICAL CLUB.

The Classical Club held its regular meeting on last Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock in the Classical Club room in the Library. The program was in charge of M. B. Clendenien, who presented an interesting paper on the subject of "Grecian Slavery". The sources of the slave supply, the treatment of the slaves among the Greeks, their rights and privileges, and the political and moral influence of the system were thoroughly treated. Following the paper an informal discussion was held in which instructive comparisons of the slave system of Greece with the systems of other countries, and the economic influence of slavery were introduced.

goal at $1,000 in response to Mr. Miller's appeal and already over half of that amount has been pledged by students. This work is still being carried on and should receive the support of every student and friend of the college. Subscriptions are payable to J. W. Harbaugh any time before Feb. 1. No effort will be made to go around and personally appeal or collect these subscriptions, it being left entirely up to the students as a free-will offering coming from the heart.

On Wednesday evening Mr. Miller spoke before the Y. M. C. A. concerning the need for prepared and trained men to help mould the plastic world after the Great War. He discussed the world conditions as they are now and as they will be when Europe lays down her arms. We are to decide this vital question as to the form Europe will be moulded into, whether it is to be patterned after Sin or the Christian Pattern.

The fundamental quality of the deciders of Europe's fate is that they have Christ-filled lives and are in absolute obedience to Christ. We must first yield our lives to Christ and then go out and serve Him and Him only. It means that some of us will have to pay the price for some must stay here and build up this word altar while others must go to Europe where they are pouring out their life's blood.

Who is to build up a new India, a new Africa, or a new China since Europe has laid down the work? Canada has sent 300,000 men into a foreign country to fight a foreign foe, while America has sent only 300 men to advance the cause of Jesus Christ. Should we not say as Isaiah, "Here Lord am I, send me"?

Eighty-nine schools, colleges and universities are represented among the two hundred and eight members of the teaching faculty of the University of Washington. Practically all the large American schools, as well as several foreign institutions, are represented.

Case is considering introducing military training. President Howe has stated that he will not take the initiative, but if enough students wish it, he will take steps to secure military training. The training will be no-compulsory.

Ten students of the University of Kansas were arrested as hoboes while trying to beat their way to see the Nebraska game.

The Case senate has been reorganized and improved. A new constitution has been drawn up and will be submitted to the student body. The senate will be composed of ten members, four of whom will be Seniors, three Juniors, two Sophomores and one Freshman.

LOSING TO PITT

then to Shaner or back to Volk, who had come down the floor for the shot. Lane covered his man well as evidenced by the fact that he did not score in the second half and still as center found time to act as pivot man for Allegheny's team-play.

The most notable weakness of the team, as shown in this game as well as in the Pitt contest, was in foul shooting. Kerr did well in the first half, getting six straight, but when the goals were changed he seemed unable to find the basket. Volk with one out of four was no better. It is to be hoped that this defect can be remedied by practice, as it came close to bringing defeat to the team in this game as it will in others in which the guarding is close.

As is usually the case in the Tech games, the play showed a tendency to become rough at times and some work which should have called for double fouls at the least or perhaps expulsion of the guilty player from the game, was allowed to go unpunished and to lead to even more serious infractions of the rules of the game as well as the rules of fair play.

The score:

Carnegie Tech—20.		Allegheny—25.
Greene	F.	Shaner
Abrams	F.	Kerr
Carey	C.	Stephens
Levy	G.	Bianchi
Finlay	G.	Volk

Substitutions: Lane for Stephens; Foxen for Greene.

Field Goals: Shaner 2, Bianchi, Volk 6, Carey 3, Finlay.

Foul Goals: Volk 1 out of 4; Kerr 6 out of 13, Abrams 12 out of 16.

Score at end of first half: Tech 12, Allegheny 7.

The leader emphasized the place honor holds in each person's life, not the honor that comes from glory and high position, but honor in the sense of right, just and true. Two of the biggest ways in which this honor is violated and we become thieves in college is by cheating and gossiping. The matter of cheating was passed over quickly, while the leader dwelt at length on the harm that comes from petty gossip. In summing up, the leader again emphasized the need of honor in all phases of our lives.

Vassar's senior class has returned to the old custom of having the daisy chain carried on class day by members of the sophomore class, chosen for their beauty. Last year the chain was carried by the entire class. All the sophomores will have an active part in the program so that the daisy chain bearers will not be so prominent as in previous commencements.

Brown is practically assured its new athletic field, which will be called "The Bears' Den." A stadium with a capacity of at least twenty thousand will be erected on the site of Andrew's Field.

At the suggestions by the officials of the State University, Carroll has slightly modified the honor credit system which was recently adopted to conform more to the system of the other colleges and universities of the State.
