My dear Miss Tarbell:

I have read with great interest the paper you sent me of your forthcoming article on the tariff movement with which I had something to do. I return the material with this.

Of course I have done no more with that part of the article which deals with the work in which I have no part than to read it with admiration and in the belief that as usual you are historically correct, I have noted however what seems to be an error in print reading "88" instead of "84."

I do not remember the interview you mention with Oliver Carlisle and Fairchild at Oak Point; but I suppose you have derived your information as to that from some one who does remember the incident.

I have ventured to suggest a little taming down of your characterization of my style - thinking perhaps you would be willing to make an alteration to please me if for no other reason. You know we are all a little sensitive on such a point.

Your article has caused me to feel again the greatest sorrow and disappointment I have ever suffered in my public career - the failure of my party to discharge its most important duty and its ^{fatuous} departure from its appointed mission.

Yours very truly
Wm. Cleveland

Miss Ida Tarbell
