Dear Mr. Lewis:

I came in last night from a little holiday to find two answers to the letters I signed before Christmas - very nice letters indeed.- Mrs. Belmont and Myron Taylor, declaring they had given away all they had which I can quite believe of both of them. But they both seemed interested in the Service. And then this morning came a check from Mr. Taylor saying that he had re-read my letter and felt that he would like to participate even in a small way in the interesting work of the Foreign Language Information Service. And here it is - $50.00 enclosed.

I also have a letter from Mr. Thomas Watson whom I am to see this afternoon on a business matter, saying that he would be glad to discuss the Foreign Language Information Service with me. I hope I can interest him.

A happy New Year to you
