My dear Miss Tarbell:

Although Mrs. Greenway sounds as if she were a most vital and interesting person, I do not believe we want an article about her from Mrs. McCormick. In fact, we don't want any articles from other people than those writing rather regularly for us. The only reason for this is we haven't the space in which to publish them.

I'm so sorry you've had the flu. But do take comfort in the thought that you'd probably had it worse if you'd stayed in New York. Everybody here, it would seem, has had the flu to a lesser or greater degree.

Looking forward to the article about Mrs. Roosevelt with the keenest pleasure and interest and with best regards from Miss Carroll and myself,

Very sincerely yours,

Oscar Graeve
