

January 7, 1937

Dear Mrs. White:

I am returning the proofs for my little article. The editing you have done has been all to the good. As you will see I re-made a few lines in the next to the last paragraph. It is still seems awkward. If you see a way to give it more grace please do so.

With appreciation of your interest, believe me

Very sincerely yours

Mrs. K. S. White
The New Yorker
25 West 83rd Street
New York City