Dear Miss Tarbell,

Under separate post I am forwarding you a copy of the first issue of THE FREEMAN. The magazine tells its own story much better than can I. You are undoubtedly aware of, and familiar with, the works of Henry George and it is with respect to the Henry George School of Social Science and the magazine that I am writing you.

Would it be possible to arrange an appointment with you, at your convenience, so that I might present the details of the School, its history and its work, and answer such questions as you would put to the end that you might accept a contributing editorship on the magazine? I shall look forward to your reply.

Very sincerely yours,
