DWIGHT W. MORROW
ENGLEWOOD
NEW JERSEY

February 29, 1932.

My dear Miss Tarbell:

Mrs. Morrow is out of town. I hope, therefore, you will permit me to express her thanks for your letter of February 25th.

I personally do not know the answer to the question you put to her. Mr. Morrow and Mr. Coffin were for many years very close friends. Do you, however, consider it very important to state in a biography of anyone that he took a certain position after another man had declined it? Would that not be a bit irrevelant, the important fact being that the subject did take the position?

Very sincerely yours,

A. H. Springer
