Dear Mr. Blossom:

I am sending you some twenty five thousand words - more I think - the narrative I suggested in my letter of August 18th.

In reading it please remember that this has been written with the book in mind - that it is an unfinished manuscript - that it repeats certain episodes which in another form you have had in the articles submitted - that certain material such as his life in college is passed over here as it was of no use to you.

I shall be interested in talking over matters with you at your convenience. I shall be in town until Thursday of next week.

Very sincerely yours

Mr. Sumner Blossom
