

Jane Adams - My dear doublet All settlement is a "method" - in discussing of organization of settlement - at Hull House in Chicago - (Robert of Boston leading)

The patent of superiority of their misjudged and she speaking of the people who come to her at home where she believes to speak of her work now in charitable cause & their utter in-compassion) At this meeting she speaks of the misuse of mid settlement law she was led in attempt of a settlement which turned out to be a day-nursery & a gym of one who was a log's club.

Mr. Harcourt's son home from Kimberly mines where he has been a manager talks of the necessity of keeping "boys" - Kaffie Noline in company - explains conditions & restrictions & reasons for it all - It is plainly wrong in Miss A's eyes. The sweet service of her kind & wise as she questions & the pitiful misdeeds on the back of the human & in the management of it. There is infinitely working - she objects at every point with argument & half apology for her refusal.
She would do much rather sympathize.
