Dear Mr. Bryan:

How thoughtful of you to send me the copy of Simonds testimony at the Trial of the Conspirators. I had it, but not here, my notes being most of them in storage at the present time and was glad to have at this moment the information it gives.

I have had a notion that Simonds met Booth in some occupation that he had around the theater, but Simonds says in one of the photostat letters to Booth that you sent that what he is doing in Franklin is better than being in a bank. That possibly was where they met in Boston as he certainly had no time to be in a bank in Franklin.

Thanking you again for your courtesy and your trouble, believe me

Very sincerely yours,
