Dear President Colligan:

I appreciate deeply your kindness in writing me a note of sympathy. I need it more for the humiliation I feel in breaking my engagement to speak to your graduates at their recent Commencement than I do for my illness. It was quite out of the question to go to you and I am afraid I am out of the running for some little time, that is my Doctor insists that I must take a rest.

When I do get my strength back again I shall be very glad indeed to have the privilege of visiting Hunter College.

With renewed thanks for your kindness, believe me

Very sincerely yours

Eugene A. Colligan
