

Jan. 28. 1909.

My dear Miss Tarbell: -

I have been giving my desk a thorough shake up today and I find your letter of two months ago marked "To be answered." On re-reading I find nothing which requires an answer except the question, "Will you not come to lunch with me some day, a little later, and convert me if you can?"

Of course it goes without saying that if ever we can both find a spare hour I will be happy to use it in lunching with you - but I won't try to "convert" you!

Perhaps I'll see you at Mrs. Mack's tomorrow. Sincerely,
Ida H. Harper.