

120 BROADWAY NEW YORK
ROOM 2555

August 19, 1931

My dear Miss Tarbell:

Josephine and I will be moving into our new apartment within the next fortnight. In the meanwhile Mr. Young said he could see no reason why we should postpone that long the pleasure of having you to dinner, nor why we should not share the pleasure with him. Accordingly, you will hear more about this from Josephine. I mention it here only because I think that will afford an opportunity for you to discuss with Mr. Young the questions which you asked in your letter to me.

I showed Mr. Young what you said about his speech, and as a result an autographed copy goes forward to you. I thought the speech good, too, and incidentally exceedingly pertinent to the subject with which you are now dealing.

Very sincerely yours,

Errett Case
