

December 18, 1930

Dear Mr. Graeve:

are/ I am "tickled to death" that you liked the new article. I was afraid it might sound a little old-fashioned to you, but I think it high time a few old-fashioned things were said and it is a deep satisfaction to have you agree.

Thank you for your kind and prompt letter.

As to trying my hand on Mrs. Franklin Roosevelt - I should be glad to do it. I know her and know about her interest in the girl's school where she talks every week. I will ask her for an appointment soon after New Year's. Of course it will be out of the question before. M

March will do for the copy, will it not?

I hope you are going to have a very happy holiday - I am off for the country the first of the week and feeling more snappy every hour that I get nearer my day of release.

Faithfully yours

Mr. Oscar Graeve
Butterick Building
New York City