Miss Ida M. Tarbell,

New York City,

Dear Madam,

I should like to have permission to reprint in a book of selections for English composition classes your introduction to a volume of Lincoln selections prepared for Ginn & Company. I am enlarging in scope a book of mine called "Expository Writing" published by Macmillan, and would like to present your introduction under a more definite title as a good specimen of character exposition. I shall, of course, ask Ginn & Company for their permission, but I thought it well to ask your first.

Yours truly,

Morris G. Fulton
