MISS IDA M. TARBELL,
120 East 19th Street,
New York City.

Dear Miss Tarbell:

I think the title, "The American Delegation En Famille" is a very good selection. The truth of the matter is that this always happened at Mr. Young's breakfast table. He generally had breakfast fairly late and Mr. Robinson and General Dawes would come up and join us. The little fellow reading the paper is now dead. His name was Pichon. He spoke several languages and bought the various French and German papers early in the morning and then translated for Mr. Young the various articles and editorials concerning the work of the Committee.

Credit should be given to the famous
European cartoonist named DERSO. ✓

The name of the German you asked about ✓
is Herr Grasseman

Hastily, but with personal regards,

Sincerely yours,

S. M. Crocker
