

What this amounts to is of course an effort to relieve businesses from the necessity of fighting over patents. Take the story over the fight over the bob wire - show the different elements that came into it, the honest experiment for personal abuses - the manufacturer - the promoter like patent was a speculative matter, a promoters gain . It was not business, it was speculation.

Like his mergers. His treatment of the steel stock - his reasons for throwing them out. Of course in connection with speculative tax use the Hookless Fastener story which has already been told.
