

December 17, 1930

Dear Mr. Brunyate:

Pardon my delay in acknowledging your note of December 3rd and the receipt of the copyrighted Lincoln picture. It is of course the copy which I should show in talking to an editor.

I am having some little difficulty in finding a satisfactory publisher because of the resemblance, or rather the identity of this picture with the Schneider photograph that I have published in my early Life of Lincoln. But I have it now in the hands of my agent and I am hoping in a few days he will find somebody who will be willing to give it a good reproduction and of course for that I should write a proper note. Whatever I write I shall submit to you before it is published.

Cordially yours

Will
