

United States Steel Corporation.

71 Broadway, New York,

April 28, 1925.

Miss Ida M. Tarbell,
120 East 19th St.,
New York, N. Y.

My dear Miss Tarbell:

I think we showed you the manuscript written by Edgar Paul Hermann for the magazine "Personal Efficiency", entitled "Helping Others Find Success". I know one of the ladies at Mr. McClure's office saw the manuscript and liked it, and expressed the desire to print an extract from it, perhaps in a block insertion in the middle of a page. In any event, the article has now appeared in print, as you will see by the enclosed.

It contains a few additional particulars about men who have risen in the Steel Corporation.

Your request for data regarding men who have made inventions is receiving attention. I think Mr. Close will have some information for you on this subject in the near future.

Very truly yours,

Secretary to Judge Gary.

Enclosure.
