Dear Miss Tarbell:

In reviewing our correspondence in regard to your volume in the History of American Life I note that you cherished the hope a year ago that the first draft of your manuscript might be ready for Professor Fox and me about this time. If you have reached this point, we shall be very happy indeed, but, in any case, it might be well for us to know just what stage of progress you have arrived at.

You have doubtless received a copy of Professor Priestley's volume, which has been well received by the reviewers. The final volume, dealing with the contemporary period, is now going through the press, and within a month or six weeks I hope to send Volume XI to the printer. We seem to be on the home run and naturally shall be pleased to have your manuscript in hand at an early time.

With warm personal regards, I am

Sincerely yours,

A. M. Schlesinger
