

March 2, 1932

Dear Mr. Titterton:

I have just received the permission to publish as an Appendix to the Young book the introduction to and the catalogue of the, "O. D. Y. Fundamental Library of English Literature," As it stands in the pamphlet I am sending you. I hope you and Mr. Latham will agree with me that this will make a valuable item. I am interested to see in how many cases the editions chosen in the catalogue are from your own house.

Very sincerely yours

P. S. What would you think of publishing the full text of Mr. Young's speech to the Graduating Class of St. Lawrence University - the speech from which I quote in the chapter of, "O. D. Y. as an Educator?" It is a great speech and would make a fine item in the Appendix.

I am sending over my autographed copy of the speech. If you want to use it I shall try to get you something else for the printer.

Mr. L. H. Titterton
Macmillan Company
60 Fifth Avenue
New York City