Dear Ida Tarbell:

Thanks a lot for your November 9th letter. I am sending this line to you at Knox College, enclosing a statement about MARY, WIFE OF LINCOLN.

First of all, let me thank you for the extraordinary broad spirit of the letter. If you should change your mind, and wish to say nothing at all about the book, I will love you just as much. However, do look over the enclosed and see how you feel about it.

Won't you telephone me when you get back to town, for I am most eager to see you?

Cordially as always,

A handwritten signature in dark ink, appearing to read "W. H. Briggs". The signature is written in a cursive style and is located to the right of the typed name.
